Arabs Reject Partition Plan For Palestine

U. S., Britain Strike Back At Soviet Bloc

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 29. (AP)—Arabs of Palestine, through their official agency, declared today they would fight "with the last drop of our blood" against any scheme for the "dissection, segregation or partition" of the Holy Land.

In quiet tones, Jamal Husseini, vice-chairman of the Arab Higher Committee and nephew of the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem, rejected a proposal for partition of Palestine into Arab and Jewish states and an alternate plan for federalization.

It was Husseini's day—and the Arabs round—before the special 55-nation Committee on Palestine set up by the United Nations Assembly. The turn of the Jewish Agency for Palestine will come Wednesday afternoon.

Independent Arab State Asked

Husseini insisted that "the future government of Palestine cannot be imposed from without." He called for an independent democratic Arab state.

Other major developments in the Assembly were:

1. The United States and Britain struck back at Soviet bloc charges in the Political Committee that the western powers were trying to "enslave Greece." They said they wanted only to help the Greek people.

2. The Security Council argued for hours over membership applications from Italy, Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Finland—all ex-enemies seeking to join the United Nations.

The Council made no decisions and will tackle the problem again Wednesday.

Two key Assembly figures were absent as the delegates began their third week with a steady grind of committee work.

Marshall Due Back

Secretary of State Marshall was in Washington confering with President Truman on the European situation. He expected to return to New York tonight in time for two full sessions tomorrow at Flushing Meadow Park at which the delegates will increase the United Nations membership to 57 by admitting Yemen and Pakistan and vote to fill approaching vacancies in the Security and Economic and Social Councils.

Marshall's principal antagonist in the continuing Russian-United States battle here, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister and chief of the Soviet delegation, also was expected at the Assembly sessions tomorrow. He and Marshall leave the burden of the committee work to their deputies.

"Pound Baby" Still Has Slight Chance To Survive

OWATONNA, Minn., Sept. 29 (AP)—Baby Girl Sara Jane Gray, Owatonna's "pound baby" lost some strength today, her physician-uncle reported but added "she still has a slight chance to survive."

Born three months prematurely Friday to Mrs. Warren Gray, 33-year-old wife of a Waseca, Minn., athletic coach, the tiny infant has a head about the size of an orange.

Moscow Sharply Rejects U. S. Protest That Russian Writer "Insulted" Truman

Molotov Lashes Out At American Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 — (AP) — The United States has protested to Moscow that a Soviet writer libelled and insulted President Truman by comparing him to Hitler, and Moscow has rejected the protest, the State Department disclosed today.

The text of notes exchanged between United States Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov showed that Molotov not only rejected any responsibility for the offending article but also lashed out bitterly against "that American press which is so widely encouraged by the most reactionary circles."

Michael McDermott, State Department press officer, told reporters that the department has not had time to determine the next step in the latest incident of worsening relations between Washington and Moscow.

Censorship Hinted

McDermott said Smith had given copies of the American protest to American news correspondents in Moscow last Saturday.

"But nothing seems to have gotten through," he said, hinting that Moscow censored stories written by United States correspondents about the protest.

The Russian article in question said that Mr. Truman was "straining for the laurels of the corporal from Munich," and had undertaken a drive for "world mastery" on behalf of Wall Street financiers.

It called the President "the messenger boy, bank clerk and tool of the Pendergast machine."

Smith's protest was one of the most sharply worded notes ever exchanged between this country and Russia.

Coincidentally, it was disclosed that the latest edition of the Soviet Literary Gazette, in its No. 40 edition, carried an attack on Secretary of State Marshall under the heading "Shylock From Wall Street."

Smith "Thoroughly Shocked"

The article compared Marshall with Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice" who demanded a pound of flesh in payment for a loan when money was not forthcoming.

The Gazette is the organ of the Union of Soviet Writers and has been used as the major springboard for criticism of the United States, officials here said.

In his note to Molotov, Smith declared that an article by Boris Gorbatov, published in the Soviet Literary Gazette No. 39, was "wantonly libelous in its personal attack on the President of the United States."

"I cannot permit it to pass without the strongest protest. It has thoroughly shocked me."

Princess Turns Up Her Nose At Longer Skirts

LONDON, Sept. 29. (AP)—Princess Elizabeth turned up her royal nose at long skirts today.

She made her first public appearance here since the long skirt fashion took hold, and she chose a suit with a skirt just covering the knees.

"Coo! and it's fine she did," exclaimed a typist who shares a popular British view of the just-above-the-ankles trend.

The Princess, ending a seven-week stay at Balmoral Castle in Scotland, came home to get on with preparations for her wedding to Lt. Philip Mountbatten on November 20. The former Prince of Greece arrived at Buckingham Palace a few hours later from the Royal Naval Station at Corsham, where he is an instructor.

U. S. Destroyer Hits Mine; Three Dead, 12 Injured

Blast Off Trieste Damages Warship

TRIESTE, Sept. 29 (AP) — Three men died today when the 2,200-ton United States destroyer Douglas H. Fox struck a mine in the Upper Adristic Sea 18 miles off Trieste.

Twelve other men were injured, four of them critically, by the explosion which knocked out both of the destroyer's propellers and both rudders. All of the casualties were enlisted men. Names of the dead and injured were not released immediately.

Naval headquarters here said the Fox had about 200 men aboard when she struck the mine while en route to Trieste from Venice. The explosion occurred in waters which still contain war-laid mine-fields.

Sister Ship Goes To Rescue

A sister destroyer, the James C. Owen, went to the Fox' rescue. One man died on the Fox almost immediately. Two others succumbed aboard the Owen which took aboard the Fox' casualties.

Transfer of the casualties was carried out by tugs sent to the scene to tow the Fox to a Venice drydock. The Owen had been unable to go alongside because the Fox was listing.

Capt. R. N. McFarlane, Graham, Tex., commander of the Second Squadron of which the Fox is part, was aboard the Owen, his flagship. He said the Fox had a large hole aft below the waterline and that her lower after decks were awash.

Information available from the Fox indicated the casualties all were from the after crew room and among men off duty.

When the Owen arrived in Trieste, the dead were lying in their traditional place on the ship's fantail. Four United States Army ambulances rushed the wounded to a hospital.

Route Used Before

Although the Upper Adriatic still contains mines laid during the war, McFarlane said the accident occurred on a direct route from Venice to Trieste which had been used before and which had been swept clear. The Owen went to the scene and returned with double lookouts posted for mines.

In Washington a United States officer explained that mine sweeping in the Mediterranean area has been handled by the international sweeping and routing section of the British Admiralty. Although a channel was cleared long ago between Venice and Trieste, this does not eliminate the possibility of an old mine drifting into the course of a ship, he said.

Hoover Accepts Economic Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 — (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover, now 73, accepted as his "last public service" today the post of chairman of a 12-man commission designed to simplify and promote economy in the federal government.

After his selection at White House ceremonies attended by President Truman, Mr. Hoover pledged a searching inquiry into:

1. The "constant growth and complexity" of federal agencies.

2. The "great burden imposed upon the citizen by his routine relations with the government."

3. The "tremendous problems" of defining states' rights as against federal responsibilities.

4. The "enormous growth of the tax-advisory profession" and "the fact that practically every variety of business must now have professional advisers" to handle technical relations with the government.

5. The "vast volume of intolerable labor" imposed on the President by the multitude of independent federal establishments.

Mr. Hoover said in a statement that despite periodic efforts at reform, the expansion of federal government has continued "and naturally public anxiety constantly increases."

Ford Urges Production As Security Insurance

CLEVELAND, Sept. 29. (AP) — A bold approach to what he described as not simply a temporary "postwar" problem but the gigantic task of building an economic base for future peace, was urged by Henry Ford II here tonight.

In an address prepared for delivery before members of the Automotive and Aviation Parts Manufacturers, Inc., the president of the Ford Motor Company asserted that "the world is down in an immense hole, and the only way we can all get out is through production."

"The nub of today's problems, I think, is that people all over the world are starved for things that the world's present production cannot come close to meeting," Ford said. x x x x

12 Dead In Cloudburst

MURCIA, Spain, Sept. 29 (AP)—Twelve persons were known to have drowned and three others were missing in floods caused by a cloudburst Sunday which swept through a number of villages east of Murcia.

UNDERGROUND REVENGE—Ten persons were killed and 77 injured yesterday when a barrel of explosives rolled over a large wire barrier and blasted this district police headquarters in Haifa, Palestine, yesterday. The Jewish underground said it launched the attack to avenge the deportation of the "Exodus 1947" Jews to Hamburg, Germany. (AP Wirephoto by radio from London).

Bizarre Plot Is Smashed In Cuba; Men, Arms Seized

Dominican Republic Was To Be Invaded

HAVANA, Sept. 29 — (INS) — A feud in the Cuban security police force and the discovery of an arms cache on a government minister's estate were linked by a high Cuban officer tonight to a bizarre plot against the governments of both Cuba and the Dominican Republic.

Government Investigator Col. Oscar Hernandez said inquiry into a bloody battle between the police factions two weeks ago uncovered a conspiracy to overthrow the Cuban government after a planned invasion of the Dominican Republic had been thwarted.

He said the government has seized documents proving the fantastic design of the ill-assorted army, part of which now is imprisoned at Havana.

Arms, Ammunition Found

Some of the evidence, he said, was discovered in a raid on the estate of Jose Manuel Aleman, a government minister now "on leave," which also turned up 13 truckloads of arms and ammunition.

The missing details were filled in by a swoop on the hotel room of Manolo Castro, a Havana student leader and director-general of a nebulous organization named Sports Cuba.

Castro himself was reported arrested today by United States authorities in Miami, Fla.

700 Rebels Surrounded

Gen. Perez, who would not talk until he had conferred with President Raymon Grau San Martin, also revealed that government forces have surrounded about 700 other members of the rebel army near "Confits" Key, off Neuvitas.

It was from this point that the insurrectionists originally had planned to launch their amphibious attack against the Dominican dictatorship of Gen. Rafael Trujillo.

According to Col. Hernandez, the Caribbean hurricane two weeks ago enabled Cuban warships to commence operations against the revolutionaries under the pretense of searching for storm wrecked vessels.

10 Killed In Haifa Blast; Four Suspects Arrested

Jew Underground Calls It Revenge

JERUSALEM, Sept. 29 (AP) — A barrel of explosives ingeniously rolled over a large wire barrier hit a district police headquarters in Haifa today, killing 10 persons and injuring 77. The Jewish underground said it launched the attack to avenge the deportation of the "Exodus 1947" Jews to Hamburg, Germany.

The dead were Britons and Arabs, including a 16-year-old Arab girl. Fourteen of the injured were Jewish civilians.

British forces reacted immediately. Troops of the Sixth Airborne Division rushed into Haifa with Bren gun carriers, armored cars and tanks.

Four Suspects Arrested

Subsequently police said they had arrested four suspects in the Hadar Hacarmel Jewish quarter half-way up historic Mount Carmel which overlooks the port. Authorities also found an abandoned truck. It contained a "Y" shaped steel device which officials said might have been used to launch the barrel.

While the search for suspects was being pressed, Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, issued a pronouncement saying: "We have paid back for the shame of Hamburg and the shame of expulsion from the fatherland and for the bloodshed of our brothers."

The barrel of explosive, Irgun said, equalled the deadly force of a 2,000-pound bomb.

The blast occurred at 6 a. m.—four days after Britain announced a decision to surrender her old League of Nations mandate over Palestine. Windows within a radius of a quarter of a mile were shattered.

Policeman Decapitated

Parts of bodies were blown 50 yards across a wide avenue into buildings opposite the headquarters. A water main was broken and power and telephone lines were snarled.

Eyewitness report said that an Arab policeman on duty outside the headquarters, whose shout of warning was cut off by the blast, was decapitated and his head was left hanging in the barbed wire barrier 15 yards from his body.

Four British and four Arab policemen were killed as were the 16-year-old Arab girl and a Syrian coffee vendor. The coffee vendor's body was slashed almost to ribbons by flying debris.

Forty-three British policemen were injured, 13 of them seriously. Twenty Arab and 14 Jewish civilians also were hurt. Many of the civilians were passengers of an intercity bus which was passing the headquarters as the blast occurred.

Masked Men Loot Swank Club, Escape

PAINESVILLE, O., Sept. 29 (AP)—Masked men clad in GI fatigue clothes punctuated a daring holdup of the exclusive Mounds Club early today by firing shots into the ceiling and made off with an estimated $200,000.

Some 250 men and jewel-adorned women at the swank gambling club, witnesses related, watched a band of some 10 robbers break up the floor show at about 12:30 a. m. and proceed to loot patrons and the club's till of cash jewelry and furs. Most carried machine guns, they said.

The entire report was available only from patrons of the club and an unofficial estimate of the loot by Deputy Sheriffs Edward Cook and Clarence Arnn. This, said 83-year-old Lake County Sheriff James Moloney, was because an employe slammed the door in his face when he arrived to investigate late this morning.

But pieces of evidence given local police by patrons added up to this version:

Mary Healy, a pretty singer, was going through her floor show routine—an imitation—when one of the robbers came on stage from the kitchen.

Everyone in the audience considered this piece of business a part of the act and started laughing, but a patron, Mrs. Leona Siegal, said the gunman turned to Band Leader Val Ernie and said:

"That's all boys, this is a stick-up!"

Miss Healy walked over to the man—disguised in a black silk stocking—and said: "If you're going to misbehave, I'll have to ask you to leave."

The gunman retorted "I'm not fooling," and fired a burst into the ceiling.

Convinced, Miss Healy ran into the women's room and remained there during the 45-minute, smoothly-executed looting.

The actual robbery was supervised by a man who referred to his fellow bandits by numbers rather than names.

At one point, a drunk was slow in coming across with cash, witnesses said, whereupon one of the bandits led him off into another room.

A shot rang out, and the bandit returned alone. But this turned out to be a fake, patrons said, as the other man showed up later.

Martin Predicts Special Session Late In November

TOPEKA, Kas., Sept. 29—(AP)—Speaker of the House Joseph A. Martin said today he believed meetings of key congressional committees called by President Truman foreshadowed a special session of Congress late in November to consider stopgap aid to Europe.

The Massachusetts Republican, here to visit Kansas GOP leaders, told a press conference that he hoped in the meantime the President would "exert forthright leadership and present to the country a frank and complete statement on the spending needed both at home and abroad" to meet the domestic and foreign situation.

$5,000,000 Loss In N. York City's Worst Dock Fire

Pier Is Crumpled; 140 Firemen Hurt

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP) — The worst dock fire ever to strike the world's busiest port swept through a Hudson River pier today, injuring 140 firemen, crumpling the pier into the water and destroying $5,000,000 worth of property.

Eighty pieces of fire equipment fought the flames after their discovery last night at Pier 57 and brought them under control in the early morning. But the fire, its cause undetermined, continued to smoulder.

Huge sections of the pier, used to berth Grace liners plying to South America, fell into the water after being weakened by the fire and the tons of water poured on it.

400 Tons Of Cargo Lost

Only a 75-foot section adjacent to the shore remained of the 1,000-foot pier. Firemen were successful in checking spread of the flames to Piers 56 and 58.

None of the firemen was reported seriously hurt. At least two were thrown into the water and rescued. Most of the injured were overcome by billowing clouds of acrid smoke which hung over the waterfront.

Frank Murphy, fire department chief of staff and operations, estimated the damage at $5,000,000 and described the blaze as "the greatest of all the city's pier fires." Lost with the pier, owned by the Grace Line, were 400 tons of cargo including 700 bales of cotton.

Six Fireboats Called Out

Six fireboats aided in battling the flames.

No vessels were berthed at Pier 57 when the flames were discovered in their pier's underpinning at 7:30 p. m. (EST) last night.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, said 1,000 dock workers would be made idle several days by the fire.

The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined. Fire Commissioner Frank Quayle said he was investigating a report that hot ashes from tugs might have ignited oil on the water under the pier. All persons who worked on the pier Saturday or Sunday were summoned for questioning.

Handyman Admits He Killed 16-Year-Old Girl

MARION, O., Sept. 28 (AP)—A 32-year-old, slightly built handyman admitted today he killed 16-year-old Roxie Ann Green with a claw hammer, then threw the missing Prospect, O., high school sophomore's body into bushes along a lonely country road, Sheriff Leroy Retterer reported.

The sheriff said Ray Sheppard, neighbor of the Green family, signed a statement and led authorities to the girl's body.

Prosecutor James Reed said he would charge Sheppard with first degree murder tomorrow.

The sheriff said Sheppard, married and the father of one child, denied making improper advances to the girl after he picked her up in his model-A Ford as she walked the three miles from here to her country home after missing the last bus following a football game September 20.

Truman Asks Speedy Action On Europe Aid

President Requests Committee Sessions

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP) — President Truman called on congressional leaders today to start the machinery for emergency aid to Europe but said the question of a special session of Congress remains to be decided.

In an extraordinary news conference, called on short notice after a meeting with Congress leaders, Mr. Truman disclosed:

1. He is asking the Senate and House Committees on Appropriations and Foreign Affairs to meet as soon as possible "to consider the urgent need for aid to Western Europe."

2. If the committees agree wholeheartedly on the need of a special session, then there will be no question about his calling one. In any event, he stands where he has stood: He will call one if he is convinced it is needed.

3. Sums available now to help Europe are enough to carry to December on a starvation basis—he couldn't be specific as to when in December—and then the pipeline of aid would be empty.

4. He figures that $580,000,000 additional will be needed to carry France, Italy and Austria through until March 31, 1948, likewise, on a starvation basis. He cannot provide any of this by executive action, he said.

Committees To Be Called

5. England does not seem to be in a serious situation at this time as compared to the three countries named. Belgium and the Low Countries, Mr. Truman told a questioner, have been able to pay for their needs and appear to be still able to do so.

It was learned that Sen. Vandenberg, (R-Mich), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, plans to issue a call to his committee tomorrow. Chairman Bridges (R-NH) announced he would summon the Senate Appropriations Committee to meet in mid-November.

Chairman Eaton (R-NJ), of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, announced that it will meet in early November. Rep. Taber(R-NY), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, is currently in Europe on an inspection trip.

As the hurriedly called newsmen piled into the presidential office, Mr. Truman stood behind his desk and said the congressional and Cabinet leaders with whom he met this morning had asked him to read a statement on the European aid situation.

He said it was a very harmonious and a very good conference he had had with the lawmakers, that everybody who wanted to say anything had had a chance to get it off his chest. He added he thought it was a very constructive meeting.

Then he read from a mimeographed statement:

"The question of the calling of a special session of the Congress was discussed at length x x xWhatever decision may be reached on this subject at a later date, it was the opinion of all that the committees should begin to consider the present emergency at the earliest possible moment that the members are avail-

"Some Progress" Made On Printing Contract

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29 — (AP) — A union spokesman reported "some progress" had been made during a day-long session of negotiations working on a new contract between Loca. 12 of the International Typographical Union and a group of Baltimore print shops, but an employer representative said he could not confirm it.

Earlier in the day, spokesmen of opposing sides were in disagreement as to whether some of the union's proposals were legal under the Taft-Hartley law.

Officials of both camps said they couldn't hazard a guess as to whether ITU employes of the print shops would continue working after tomorrow midnight unless a new agreement is reached in the interim. The present contract expires then.

Sir Stafford Cripps Is Appointed Virtual Czar Over British Economy

LONDON, Sept. 29—(AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps tonight was named Minister of Economic Affairs—a new post created to centralize in one man broad powers for dealing with Britain's economic crisis.

He will be succeeded as president of the Board of Trade by James Harold Wilson, 31-year-old "Boy Wonder" of the Labor government. Wilson, as Secretary for Overseas Trade, has been Cripps' principal aide.

Prime Minister Attlee, who announced the Cabinet changes, will head temporarily a new ministerial committee on economic planning, "in view of the gravity" of the situation which has forced Britain to suspend convertibility of sterling and curtail purchases of necessities abroad.

Arthur Greenwood, veteran Labor politician now minister without portfolio, is leaving the government as the first of the "older men" who Attlee said previously must make way for younger members of the party.

In explaining the designation of Cripps as virtual czar over the British economy, Attlee said the present situation called for "a much closer integration of internal and external economic policy," and that the Prime Minister needed "the assistance of a senior colleague, who can give his undivided attention to our economic problems at home and abroad."

Attle said the changes were only the first of a series.

Judge Orders Donlevy's Divorce Decree Set Aside

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29 (INS)—Singer Marjorie Lane today won her fight to vacate the divorce obtained by her husband, Actor Brian Donlevy, last February.

The Superior Court set aside Donlevy's interlocutory decree and gave the singer five days in which to file an answer and a cross-complaint to his original suit.

Judge Allen Ashburn ruled that Miss Lane, or Mrs. Donlevy, had been so frightened over having been caught in an act of adultry that she in effect was deprived of her day in court when the divorce was granted to Donlevy.

Attorney S. S. Hahn, speaking for Donlevy, said the actor was prepared, in any new trial of the divorce action, to prove not merely the one act of adultry already admitted by Mrs. Donlevy, but six others, four in New York and two in Hollywood.

Mrs. Donlevy opened her fight on the divorce some time ago on the ground that she had been pressured into accepting an unfair property and custody settlement.

She received a total settlement of what was termed $100,000, although she disputes this, claiming that part of the property given her already was hers. She was given custody of her four-year-old daughter, Judith, for only two months of the year, with Donlevy having custody the rest of the time.

In an affidavit filed last week she admitted an affair with New York Socialite James Hannan, but she claimed that Donlevy had connived with Hannan to promote the incident and that she had been entrapped for the purposes of divorce evidence.

Mrs. Durant Seeks To Escape New Trial

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 29 (AP)—Former WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash Durant asked Federal Judge Ben Moore today to deny the government's motion for a re-hearing of her habeas corpus writ case on the grounds that a new trial is not justified by additional evidence offered by federal attorneys.

The woman, sentenced by an Army court-martial to serve five years in the Alderson, W. Va., women's prison for complicity in the theft of the Hesse crown jewels in Germany, now is free under $5,000 bond pending the outcome of the government appeal from Judge Moore's ruling that the court-martial conviction was void.

Judge Moore found that Mrs. Durant was a civilian at the time of her trial, and that therefore the Army court lacked jurisdiction.

College Presidents Should "Stay Out Of Politics," Taft Declares

MOSCOW, Idaho, Sept. 29 (AP)—College presidents, Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said today, should "stay out of politics."

The Ohio Senator, stumping the Far West to sound out his political chances for the 1948 GOP presidential nomination, denied later that the utterance—made facetiously before a luncheon audience—was directed at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who will assume the presidency of Columbia University the first of next year.

Questioned by reporters, Taft laughed. "I never even thought of Eisenhower," he said.

Pressed to say whether he would apply his advice to "all college presidents," Taft repeated: "I think it's a wise policy for college presidents to stay out of politics."

The college president incident popped up at a luncheon this noon in Pullman, Wash., where Republican leaders have acknowledged the political potency of the Eisenhower name—now heard not infrequently through the Pacific northwest in connection with Republican "dark horse" comment.

Dr. Wilson Compton, president of Washingto nState College at Pullman, had introduced Harlan I. Peyton, Republican national committeeman, as Washington "state chairman."

Taft then arose to correct Compton, remarking, "Dr. Compton is a college president and college presidents should not know anything about politics—quite properly so, I think."

U. S. Destroyer Hits Mine; Three Dead, 12 Injured

Blast Off Trieste Damages Warship

TRIESTE, Sept. 29 (AP) — Three men died today when the 2,200-ton United States destroyer Douglas H. Fox struck a mine in the Upper Adriatic Sea 18 miles off Trieste.

Twelve other men were injured, four of them critically, by the explosion which knocked out both of the destroyer's propellers and both rudders. All of the casualties were enlisted men. Names of the dead and injured were not released immediately.

Naval headquarters here said the Fox had about 200 men aboard when she struck the mine while en route to Trieste from Venice. The explosion occurred in waters which still contain war-laid mine-fields.

Sister Ship Goes To Rescue

A sister destroyer, the James C. Owen, went to the Fox' rescue. One man died on the Fox almost immediately. Two others succumbed aboard the Owen which took aboard the Fox' casualties.

Transfer of the casualties was carried out by tugs sent to the scene to tow the Fox to a Venice drydock. The Owen had been unable to go alongside because the Fox was listing.

Capt. R. N. McFarlane, Graham, Tex., commander of the Second Squadron of which the Fox is part, was aboard the Owen, his flagship. He said the Fox had a large hole aft below the waterline and that her lower after decks were awash.

Information available from the Fox indicated the casualties all were from the after crew room and among men off duty.

When the Owen arrived in Trieste, the dead were lying in their traditional place on the ship's fantail. Four United States Army ambulances rushed the wounded to a hospital.

Route Used Before

Although the Upper Adriatic still contains mines laid during the war, McFarlane said the accident occurred on a direct route from Venice to Trieste which had been used before and which had been swept clear. The Owen went to the scene and returned with double lookouts posted for mines.

In Washington a United States officer explained that mine sweeping in the Mediterranean area has been handled by the international sweeping and routing section of the British Admiralty. Although a channel was cleared long ago between Venice and Trieste, this does not eliminate the possibility of an old mine drifting into the course of a ship, he said.

Hoover Accepts Economic Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 — (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover, now 73, accepted as his "last public service" today the post of chairman of a 12-man commission designed to simplify and promote economy in the federal government.

After his selection at White House ceremonies attended by President Truman, Mr. Hoover pledged a searching inquiry into:

1. The "constant growth and complexity" of federal agencies.

2. The "great burden imposed upon the citizen by his routine relations with the government."

3. The "tremendous problems" of defining states' rights as against federal responsibilities.

4. The "enormous growth of the tax-advisory profession" and "the fact that practically every variety of business must now have professional advisers" to handle technical relations with the government.

5. The "vast volume of intolerable labor" imposed on the President by the multitude of independent federal establishments.

Mr. Hoover said in a statement that despite periodic efforts at reform, the expansion of federal government has continued "and naturally public anxiety constantly increases."

Ford Urges Production As Security Insurance

CLEVELAND, Sept. 29. (AP) — A bold approach to what he described as not simply a temporary "postwar" problem but the gigantic task of building an economic base for future peace, was urged by Henry Ford II here tonight.

In an address prepared for delivery before members of the Automotive and Aviation Parts Manufacturers, Inc., the president of the Ford Motor Company asserted that "the world is down in an immense hole, and the only way we can all get out is through production."

"The nub of today's problems, I think, is that people all over the world are starved for things that the world's present production cannot come close to meeting," Ford said. x x x x

12 Dead In Cloudburst

MURCIA, Spain, Sept. 29 (AP)—Twelve persons were known to have drowned and three others were missing in floods caused by a cloudburst Sunday which swept through a number of villages east of Murcia.

UNDERGROUND REVENGE—Ten persons were killed and 77 injured yesterday when a barrel of explosives rolled over a large wire barrier and blasted this district police headquarters in Haifa, Palestine, yesterday. The Jewish underground said it launched the attack to avenge the deportation of the "Exodus 1947" Jews to Hamburg, Germany. (AP Wirephoto by radio from London).

Bizarre Plot Is Smashed In Cuba; Men, Arms Seized

Dominican Republic Was To Be Invaded

HAVANA, Sept. 29 — (INS) — A feud in the Cuban security police force and the discovery of an arms cache on a government minister's estate were linked by a high Cuban officer tonight to a bizarre plot against the governments of both Cuba and the Dominican Republic.

Government Investigator Col. Oscar Hernandez said inquiry into a bloody battle between the police factions two weeks ago uncovered a conspiracy to overthrow the Cuban government after a planned invasion of the Dominican Republic had been thwarted.

He said the government has seized documents proving the fantastic design of the ill-assorted army, part of which now is imprisoned at Havana.

Arms, Ammunition Found

Some of the evidence, he said, was discovered in a raid on the estate of Jose Manuel Aleman, a government minister now "on leave," which also turned up 13 truckloads of arms and ammunition.

The missing details were filled in by a swoop on the hotel room of Manolo Castro, a Havana student leader and director-general of a nebulous organization named Sports Cuba.

Castro himself was reported arrested today by United States authorities in Miami, Fla.

700 Rebels Surrounded

Gen. Perez, who would not talk until he had conferred with President Raymon Grau San Martin, also revealed that government forces have surrounded about 700 other members of the rebel army near "Confits" Key, off Neuvitas.

It was from this point that the insurrectionists originally had planned to launch their amphibious attack against the Dominican dictatorship of Gen. Rafael Trujillo.

According to Col. Hernandez, the Caribbean hurricane two weeks ago enabled Cuban warships to commence operations against the revolutionaries under the pretense of searching for storm wrecked vessels.

10 Killed In Haifa Blast; Four Suspects Arrested

Jew Underground Calls It Revenge

JERUSALEM, Sept. 29 (AP) — A barrel of explosives ingeniously rolled over a large wire barrier hit a district police headquarters in Haifa today, killing 10 persons and injuring 77. The Jewish underground said it launched the attack to avenge the deportation of the "Exodus 1947" Jews to Hamburg, Germany.

The dead were Britons and Arabs, including a 16-year-old Arab girl. Fourteen of the injured were Jewish civilians.

British forces reacted immediately. Troops of the Sixth Airborne Division rushed into Haifa with Bren gun carriers, armored cars and tanks.

Four Suspects Arrested

Subsequently police said they had arrested four suspects in the Hadar Hacarmel Jewish quarter half-way up historic Mount Carmel which overlooks the port. Authorities also found an abandoned truck. It contained a "Y" shaped steel device which officials said might have been used to launch the barrel.

While the search for suspects was being pressed, Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, issued a pronouncement saying: "We have paid back for the shame of Hamburg and the shame of expulsion from the fatherland and for the bloodshed of our brothers."

The barrel of explosive, Irgun said, equalled the deadly force of a 2,000-pound bomb.

The blast occurred at 6 a. m.—four days after Britain announced a decision to surrender her old League of Nations mandate over Palestine. Windows within a radius of a quarter of a mile were shattered.

Policeman Decapitated

Parts of bodies were blown 50 yards across a wide avenue into buildings opposite the headquarters. A water main was broken and power and telephone lines were snarled.

Eyewitness report said that an Arab policeman on duty outside the headquarters, whose shout of warning was cut off by the blast, was decapitated and his head was left hanging in the barbed wire barrier 15 yards from his body.

Four British and four Arab policemen were killed as were the 16-year-old Arab girl and a Syrian coffee vendor. The coffee vendor's body was slashed almost to ribbons by flying debris.

Forty-three British policemen were injured, 13 of them seriously. Twenty Arab and 14 Jewish civilians also were hurt. Many of the civilians were passengers of an intercity bus which was passing the headquarters as the blast occurred.

Masked Men Loot Swank Club, Escape

PAINESVILLE, O., Sept. 29 (AP)—Masked men clad in GI fatigue clothes punctuated a daring holdup of the exclusive Mounds Club early today by firing shots into the ceiling and made off with an estimated $200,000.

Some 250 men and jewel-adorned women at the swank gambling club, witnesses related, watched a band of some 10 robbers break up the floor show at about 12:30 a. m. and proceed to loot patrons and the club's till of cash jewelry and furs. Most carried machine guns, they said.

The entire report was available only from patrons of the club and an unofficial estimate of the loot by Deputy Sheriffs Edward Cook and Clarence Arnn. This, said 83-year-old Lake County Sheriff James Moloney, was because an employe slammed the door in his face when he arrived to investigate late this morning.

But pieces of evidence given local police by patrons added up to this version:

Mary Healy, a pretty singer, was going through her floor show routine—an imitation—when one of the robbers came on stage from the kitchen.

Everyone in the audience considered this piece of business a part of the act and started laughing, but a patron, Mrs. Leona Siegal, said the gunman turned to Band Leader Val Ernie and said:

"That's all boys, this is a stick-up!"

Miss Healy walked over to the man—disguised in a black silk stocking—and said: "If you're going to misbehave, I'll have to ask you to leave."

The gunman retorted "I'm not fooling," and fired a burst into the ceiling.

Convinced, Miss Healy ran into the women's room and remained there during the 45-minute, smoothly-executed looting.

The actual robbery was supervised by a man who referred to his fellow bandits by numbers rather than names.

At one point, a drunk was slow in coming across with cash, witnesses said, whereupon one of the bandits led him off into another room.

A shot rang out, and the bandit returned alone. But this turned out to be a fake, patrons said, as the other man showed up later.

Martin Predicts Special Session Late In November

TOPEKA, Kas., Sept. 29—(AP)—Speaker of the House Joseph A. Martin said today he believed meetings of key congressional committees called by President Truman foreshadowed a special session of Congress late in November to consider stopgap aid to Europe.

The Massachusetts Republican, here to visit Kansas GOP leaders, told a press conference that he hoped in the meantime the President would "exert forthright leadership and present to the country a frank and complete statement on the spending needed both at home and abroad" to meet the domestic and foreign situation.

$5,000,000 Loss In N. York City's Worst Dock Fire

Pier Is Crumpled; 140 Firemen Hurt

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP) — The worst dock fire ever to strike the world's busiest port swept through a Hudson River pier today, injuring 140 firemen, crumpling the pier into the water and destroying $5,000,000 worth of property.

Eighty pieces of fire equipment fought the flames after their discovery last night at Pier 57 and brought them under control in the early morning. But the fire, its cause undetermined, continued to smoulder.

Huge sections of the pier, used to berth Grace liners plying to South America, fell into the water after being weakened by the fire and the tons of water poured on it.

400 Tons Of Cargo Lost

Only a 75-foot section adjacent to the shore remained of the 1,000-foot pier. Firemen were successful in checking spread of the flames to Piers 56 and 58.

None of the firemen was reported seriously hurt. At least two were thrown into the water and rescued. Most of the injured were overcome by billowing clouds of acrid smoke which hung over the waterfront.

Frank Murphy, fire department chief of staff and operations, estimated the damage at $5,000,000 and described the blaze as "the greatest of all the city's pier fires." Lost with the pier, owned by the Grace Line, were 400 tons of cargo including 700 bales of cotton.

Six Fireboats Called Out

Six fireboats aided in battling the flames.

No vessels were berthed at Pier 57 when the flames were discovered in their pier's underpinning at 7:30 p. m. (EST) last night.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association, said 1,000 dock workers would be made idle several days by the fire.

The cause of the blaze was not immediately determined. Fire Commissioner Frank Quayle said he was investigating a report that hot ashes from tugs might have ignited oil on the water under the pier. All persons who worked on the pier Saturday or Sunday were summoned for questioning.

Handyman Admits He Killed 16-Year-Old Girl

MARION, O., Sept. 28 (AP)—A 32-year-old, slightly built handyman admitted today he killed 16-year-old Roxie Ann Green with a claw hammer, then threw the missing Prospect, O., high school sophomore's body into bushes along a lonely country road, Sheriff Leroy Retterer reported.

The sheriff said Ray Sheppard, neighbor of the Green family, signed a statement and led authorities to the girl's body.

Prosecutor James Reed said he would charge Sheppard with first degree murder tomorrow.

The sheriff said Sheppard, married and the father of one child, denied making improper advances to the girl after he picked her up in his model-A Ford as she walked the three miles from here to her country home after missing the last bus following a football game September 20.

Truman Asks Speedy Action On Europe Aid

President Requests Committee Sessions

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP) — President Truman called on congressional leaders today to start the machinery for emergency aid to Europe but said the question of a special session of Congress remains to be decided.

In an extraordinary news conference, called on short notice after a meeting with Congress leaders, Mr. Truman disclosed:

1. He is asking the Senate and House Committees on Appropriations and Foreign Affairs to meet as soon as possible "to consider the urgent need for aid to Western Europe."

2. If the committees agree wholeheartedly on the need of a special session, then there will be no question about his calling one. In any event, he stands where he has stood: He will call one if he is convinced it is needed.

3. Sums available now to help Europe are enough to carry to December on a starvation basis—he couldn't be specific as to when in December—and then the pipeline of aid would be empty.

4. He figures that $580,000,000 additional will be needed to carry France, Italy and Austria through until March 31, 1948, likewise, on a starvation basis. He cannot provide any of this by executive action, he said.

Committees To Be Called

5. England does not seem to be in a serious situation at this time as compared to the three countries named. Belgium and the Low Countries, Mr. Truman told a questioner, have been able to pay for their needs and appear to be still able to do so.

It was learned that Sen. Vandenberg, (R-Mich), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, plans to issue a call to his committee tomorrow. Chairman Bridges (R-NH) announced he would summon the Senate Appropriations Committee to meet in mid-November.

Chairman Eaton (R-NJ), of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, announced that it will meet in early November. Rep. Taber (R-NY), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, is currently in Europe on an inspection trip.

As the hurriedly called newsmen piled into the presidential office, Mr. Truman stood behind his desk and said the congressional and Cabinet leaders with whom he met this morning had asked him to read a statement on the European aid situation.

He said it was a very harmonious and a very good conference he had had with the lawmakers, that everybody who wanted to say anything had had a chance to get it off his chest. He added he thought it was a very constructive meeting.

Then he read from a mimeographed statement:

"The question of the calling of a special session of the Congress was discussed at length x x xWhatever decision may be reached on this subject at a later date, it was the opinion of all that the committees should begin to consider the present emergency at the earliest possible moment that the members are avail-

"Some Progress" Made On Printing Contract

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29 — (AP) — A union spokesman reported "some progress" had been made during a day-long session of negotiations working on a new contract between Local 12 of the International Typographical Union and a group of Baltimore print shops, but an employer representative said he could not confirm it.

Earlier in the day, spokesmen of opposing sides were in disagreement as to whether some of the union's proposals were legal under the Taft-Hartley law.

Officials of both camps said they couldn't hazard a guess as to whether ITU employes of the print shops would continue working after tomorrow midnight unless a new agreement is reached in the interim. The present contract expires then.

Sir Stafford Cripps Is Appointed Virtual Czar Over British Economy

LONDON, Sept. 29—(AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps tonight was named Minister of Economic Affairs—a new post created to centralize in one man broad powers for dealing with Britain's economic crisis.

He will be succeeded as president of the Board of Trade by James Harold Wilson, 31-year-old "Boy Wonder" of the Labor government. Wilson, as Secretary for Overseas Trade, has been Cripps' principal aide.

Prime Minister Attlee, who announced the Cabinet changes, will head temporarily a new ministerial committee on economic planning, "in view of the gravity" of the situation which has forced Britain to suspend convertibility of sterling and curtail purchases of necessities abroad.

Arthur Greenwood, veteran Labor politician now minister without portfolio, is leaving the government as the first of the "older men" who Attlee said previously must make way for younger members of the party.

In explaining the designation of Cripps as virtual czar over the British economy, Attlee said the present situation called for "a much closer integration of internal and external economic policy," and that the Prime Minister needed "the assistance of a senior colleague, who can give his undivided attention to our economic problems at home and abroad."

Attle said the changes were only the first of a series.

Judge Orders Donlevy's Divorce Decree Set Aside

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29 (INS)—Singer Marjorie Lane today won her fight to vacate the divorce obtained by her husband, Actor Brian Donlevy, last February.

The Superior Court set aside Donlevy's interlocutory decree and gave the singer five days in which to file an answer and a cross-complaint to his original suit.

Judge Allen Ashburn ruled that Miss Lane, or Mrs. Donlevy, had been so frightened over having been caught in an act of adultry that she in effect was deprived of her day in court when the divorce was granted to Donlevy.

Attorney S. S. Hahn, speaking for Donlevy, said the actor was prepared, in any new trial of the divorce action, to prove not merely the one act of adultry already admitted by Mrs. Donlevy, but six others, four in New York and two in Hollywood.

Mrs. Donlevy opened her fight on the divorce some time ago on the ground that she had been pressured into accepting an unfair property and custody settlement.

She received a total settlement of what was termed $100,000, although she disputes this, claiming that part of the property given her already was hers. She was given custody of her four-year-old daughter, Judith, for only two months of the year, with Donlevy having custody the rest of the time.

In an affidavit filed last week she admitted an affair with New York Socialite James Hannan, but she claimed that Donlevy had connived with Hannan to promote the incident and that she had been entrapped for the purposes of divorce evidence.

Mrs. Durant Seeks To Escape New Trial

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 29 (AP)—Former WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash Durant asked Federal Judge Ben Moore today to deny the government's motion for a re-hearing of her habeas corpus writ case on the grounds that a new trial is not justified by additional evidence offered by federal attorneys.

The woman, sentenced by an Army court-martial to serve five years in the Alderson, W. Va., women's prison for complicity in the theft of the Hesse crown jewels in Germany, now is free under $5,000 bond pending the outcome of the government appeal from Judge Moore's ruling that the court-martial conviction was void.

Judge Moore found that Mrs. Durant was a civilian at the time of her trial, and that therefore the Army court lacked jurisdiction.

Not Aimed At "Ike"

College Presidents Should "Stay Out Of Politics," Taft Declares

MOSCOW, Idaho, Sept. 29 (AP)—College presidents, Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said today, should "stay out of politics."

The Ohio Senator, stumping the Far West to sound out his political chances for the 1948 GOP presidential nomination, denied later that the utterance—made facetiously before a luncheon audience—was directed at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who will assume the presidency of Columbia University the first of next year.

Questioned by reporters, Taft laughed. "I never even thought of Eisenhower," he said.

Pressed to say whether he would apply his advice to "all college presidents," Taft repeated: "I think it's a wise policy for college presidents to stay out of politics."

The college president incident popped up at a luncheon this noon in Pullman, Wash., where Republican leaders have acknowledged the political potency of the Eisenhower name—now heard not infrequently through the Pacific northwest in connection with Republican "dark horse" comment.

Dr. Wilson Compton, president of Washington State College at Pullman, had introduced Harlan I. Peyton, Republican national committeeman, as Washington "state chairman."

Taft then arose to correct Compton, remarking, "Dr. Compton is a college president and college presidents should not know anything about politics—quite properly so, I think."

State Sums Up In Overell Trial; Heiress Weeps

Stresses Slaying Of Mrs. Overell

SANTA ANA, Calif., Sept. 29—(AP)—While Heiress Louise Overell fought—often unsuccessfully—to hold back her tears the state charged today that she and her lover, husky George (Bud) Gollum, beat her parents to death, then dynamited the palatial family yacht.

Deputy Attorney General Henry A. Dietz, quietly and methodically summarizing the state's case, paid particular attention to the socially prominent Mrs. Beulah Overell, slain with her husband, Financier Walter E. Overell.

Mrs. Overell has been the "forgotten woman" of most of the trial. The defense virtually ignored her as it attempted to show that Overell was alive at the time of the blast—a time when Louise, 18, and Gollum, 21, were ashore buying hamburgers.

Mrs. Overell's Hands Fractured

But Dietz made much of prosecution testimony that Mrs. Overell's hands were fractured.

"And," he said, "they were fractured from the back. She got those fractures when she put her hands behind her head to protect herself. Then she toppled over and Bud or Louise continued to rain blows on her."

Dietz said Overell was killed when he came aboard after rowing two mechanics ashore.

"He was on deck and starting down the companionway," the young prosecutor declared, "when he was struck from behind by a stanchion or some other circular, hard, blunt instrument with a sharp cutting edge. It was wielded as a bayonet would be.

"Greed And Lust" Motive

"The state has proved beyond a reasonable doubt that Mrs. Overell was killed first; that Overell died within an hour afterwards; that both were dead before Bud and Louise dynamited the boat; that the injuries to the Overells were not self-inflicted; that the medical testimony and testimony of explosives experts all bear out the state in this contention."

Louise sat, staring with red-rimmed eyes at an American flag during much of Dietz' address. Frequently she chewed a knuckle on her right hand. Gollum, impassive, rocked gently in his swivel chair and stroked his chin.

Dietz charged that the state had thoroughly proved a motive, the couple's "greed and lust."

Arguments On Women's Jury Law Postponed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29 — (AP) — Arguments on the constitutionality of Maryland's jury service law for women were postponed today until October 8 by Judge J. Abner Sayler in Criminal Court.

The question was raised by counsel for Irvin D. Limper, accused of holding up two Sunpapers carriers last July. Paul B. Mules, attorney for Limper, contended the law governing jury service for women is not uniform, in that 12 counties are exempted from its provisions.

Mine Fire Burns On

MT. CARMEL, Pa., Sept. 29 (AP)—A fire has been burning for seven months in a coal mine on the outskirts of this Eastern Pennsylvania town of 18,000 and there are no state funds to squelch it.

The blaze started in an abandoned strip mine last February. Since then it has burned deep into the earth, spreading along a coal vein. Northumberland County officials spent $50,000 in a futile effort to extinguish the blaze.

Recovery Plans Upset

"Recent events have brought about increasingly critical economic conditions in some of the countries of Western Europe.

"Unusually bad European harvests, together with rising costs and lessened supplies of American food, have upset recovery plans and endangered the progress already made. In particular, France and Italy are without adequate food and fuel supplies for the fall and winter, and do not have the resources with which to buy them.

"The prospect of a general recovery program for Western Europe, aided by the United States, has raised their hopes for eventual recovery and have strengthened democratic forces."

(This was a reference to the Marshall plan, calling for European self-help plus United States assistance.)

"But, if this recovery program is to have a chance of success," Mr. Truman continued, "means must be found for aiding France and Italy to survive this critical winter as free and independent nations. x x x

"Action by various agencies of the executive branch under existing authority may meet the most urgent needs of the next few weeks, but funds from executive sources are inadequate to provide assistance beyond December.

"Assistance this winter, in sums much larger than the executive branch can provide with funds now at its disposal, is essential. That assistance can come only from the Congress.

"The early convening of the congressional committees referred to is the necessary first step in meeting the problems that confront us."

Conservation 'Workshop' Opens; 30 Women Attend

SOLOMONS ISLAND, Md., Sept. 29 (AP)—Thirty women representing organizations interested in Maryland conservation problems gathered here today for a two-day "workshop" at the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory.

Mrs. R. V. Truitt, conservation chairman of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs and wife of the director of the Department of Research and Education, said the meeting was called to coordinate conservation activity of various women's groups.

Representatives of the federation, the recently-formed Committee of Maryland Women on the Conservation of Natural Resources, the state cranch of the American Association of University Women and the Maryland Federation of Garden Clubs registered for the workshop.

Baltimoreans Facing Sharp Tax Rate Boost

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro expressed the hope today for an early special session of the Maryland Legislature, after receiving a report that the city faces a $3.50 per $100 property tax rate unless new revenue sources are found.

Gov. Lane has said he would call a special session to consider Baltimore City's financial situation but has set no date.

Budget Director Herbert Fallin forecast the possible $3.50 tax rate—50 to 55 cents above what it is now—in saying the city needs new sources of revenue totaling $7,000,000 if budgetary requirements are to be met.

Five Who Made 4,300-Mile Raft Trip Reach U. S.

Ethnologist Says His Theory Proved

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29 (AP)—Five months after he sailed from Callao, Peru, on a homemade raft, Thor Heyerdahl, 32, Norwegian ethnologist, and his Non-Tiki expedition reached the United States today, convinced he had proved his theory of early migration from the Americas to Oceania.

Heyerdahl and his five companions—four Norwegians and a Swede—and their 18 by 45 foot raft of balsa wood and bamboo were brought from Tahiti to San Francisco by the Norwegian motorship Thor No. 1.

Behind them lay 101 days of life on their little raft, driven ever westward by wind and ocean currents. They figured their total drift at 4,300 miles. Their journey ended when they were driven onto a long reef near Raroia island in the Melanesian group.

Heyerdahl's Theory

On Raroia they were taken in by natives and two weeks later were picked up by a French government schooner which took them to Tahiti.

Heyerdahl conceived the theory that the Polynesians were a mixture of American and Peruvian Indians when he spent his honeymoon in Tahiti 10 years ago. But how did they reach the South Central Pacific? Years of study convinced Heyerdahl they voyaged there on rafts, driven by wind and ocean currents.

He wrote a lengthy thesis setting forth his ideas. Authorities scoffed at it. Such rafts couldn't make the journey, they said.

Heyerdahl set about proving his theory. He aroused the interest of Herman Watzinger, 31, civil engineer; Knut Haugland, 30, Norwegian army officer and radio expert; Torstein Raaby, 27, a student; and Erik Hesselberg, 33, artist and navigator, all Norwegians; and Bengt Danielsson, 26, Swedish sociologist who holds a fellowship at the University of Washington.

Logs Lashed Together

They built the raft, lashing the logs together with rope. No nails were used. Atop the raft they built a small shelter of bamboo, roofed with banana leaves.

"I wanted to prove the feasibility of a raft of this type being seaworthy enough to carry human beings safely to Oceania and to prove the line of drift from South America to the South Central Pacific islands," Heyerdahl said.

"I think we have proved it. Now I can publish my thesis."

"Rainy Day" Has Arrived Miners' Journal Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP)—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Journal said today that labor unions should use funds "put aside for a rainy day" to fight the Taft-Hartley Act.

"American unions are now at a peak point in membership and finances and if ever they expect to halt the tide of reaction then the time is now," the Journal said.

"Funds have been put aside for a rainy day, and this is the rainy day. Unless labor does not put up an all out struggle now it will become the victim of a long war of attrition which would deplete its funds in court battles and dishearten its membership by endless delays and regimentation of their organizing and negotiating activities."

Green Spring Man Is Shot By Hunter

Authorities Term Injuries Accidental

Hampshire County Sheriff Heber Parsons and State Trooper Frank H. Tribbett have termed accidental the shooting of Chester Twigg, 56-year-old farmer of the Green Spring area, by his squirrel hunting companion, Charles Whetzel, 54-year-old farmer of the same section.

Twigg was admitted to Allegany Hospital here yesterday morning about 8:30 o'clock for treatment of facial injuries suffered in the nunting accident.

He was reported in a fair condition yesterday afternoon and was suffering considerable from the shot which pierced both eyes and other parts of the face.

Hampshire authorities said the accident occurred in the old Satterfield orchard, about four miles east of Green Spring, yesterday about 7:30 a. m.

Whetzel told authorities he and Twigg had separated and later he shot at what he though was a groundhog moving at a distance below him.

No charges have been placed, authorities said, pending the outcome of Twigg's injuries.

Molinari Forfeits $200 Bond In Bookie Case

Arrested by City Police last week on a gaming charge, Harry Molinari, proprietor of the Vets' Pool Room, North Mechanic Street, forfeited $200 bond yesterday morning in Police Court. He was accused of operating a bookmaking establishment for horse racing.

A ticker machine, which furnished information from several tracks, was confiscated along with other paraphernalia used in the bookmaking business, police said. Disposition of the ticker machine is still pending.

"Experience is the best teacher... in playing table tennis or choosing a cigarette,"

says Mary Reilly

INTERNATIONAL TABLE-TENNIS STAR

A table-tennis enthusiast since childhood, Mary Reilly plays a fast, brilliant game—gave exhibitions for thousands of GI's on USO tours.

I SMOKED MANY DIFFERENT BRANDS DURING THE WARTIME CIGARETTE SHORTAGE. CAMELS SUIT ME BEST!

MORE PEOPLE ARE SMOKING CAMELS THAN EVER BEFORE!

AS A TABLE-TENNIS STAR, Mary Reilly has had years of experience—in tournaments and in exhibitions. As a smoker, she had an enlightening experience during the wartime cigarette shortage.

Like so many other smokers, she smoked—and compared—several different brands of cigarettes. That's when she found that cool, mild, flavorful Camels suit her best!

Smoker after smoker had that same experience. They tried and compared...found Camels the "choice of experience."

YOUR "T-ZONE" WILL TELL YOU... T for Taste... T for Throat... That's your proving ground for any cigarette. See if Camels don't suit your "T-Zone" to a "T."

According to a Nationwide survey:

MORE DOCTORS SMOKE CAMELS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE

Three nationally known independent research organizations asked 113,597 doctors—in every branch of medicine—to name the cigarette they smoked. More doctors named Camel than any other brand.

State Sums Up In Overell Trial; Heiress Weeps

Stresses Slaying Of Mrs. Overell

SANTA ANA, Calif., Sept. 29—(AP)—While Heiress Louise Overell fought—often unsuccessfully—to hold back her tears the state charged today that she and her lover, husky George (Bud) Gollum, beat her parents to death, then dynamited the palatial family yacht.

Deputy Attorney General Henry A. Dietz, quietly and methodically summarizing the state's case, paid particular attention to the socially prominent Mrs. Beulah Overell, slain with her husband, Financier Walter E. Overell.

Mrs. Overell has been the "forgotten woman" of most of the trial. The defense virtually ignored her as it attempted to show that Overell was alive at the time of the blast—a time when Louise, 18, and Gollum, 21, were ashore buying hamburgers.

Mrs. Overell's Hands Fractured

But Dietz made much of prosecution testimony that Mrs. Overell's hands were fractured.

"And," he said, "they were fractured from the back. She got those fractures when she put her hands behind her head to protect herself. Then she toppled over and Bud or Louise continued to rain blows on her."

Dietz said Overell was killed when he came aboard after rowing two mechanics ashore.

"He was on deck and starting down the companionway," the young prosecutor declared, "when he was struck from behind by a stanchion or some other circular, hard, blunt instrument with a sharp cutting edge. It was wielded as a bayonet would be.

"Greed And Lust" Motive

"The state has proved beyond a reasonable doubt that Mrs. Overell was killed first; that Overell died within an hour afterwards; that both were dead before Bud and Louise dynamited the boat; that the injuries to the Overells were not self-inflicted; that the medical testimony and testimony of explosives experts all bear out the state in this contention."

Louise sat, staring with red-rimmed eyes at an American flag during much of Dietz' address. Frequently she chewed a knuckle on her right hand. Gollum, impassive, rocked gently in his swivel chair and stroked his chin.

Dietz charged that the state had thoroughly proved a motive, the couple's "greed and lust."

Arguments On Women's Jury Law Postponed

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29 — (AP) — Arguments on the constitutionality of Maryland's jury service law for women were postponed today until October 8 by Judge J. Abner Sayler in Criminal Court.

The question was raised by counsel for Irvin D. Limper, accused of holding up two Sunpapers carriers last July. Paul B. Mules, attorney for Limper, contended the law governing jury service for women is not uniform, in that 12 counties are exempted from its provisions.

Mine Fire Burns On

MT. CARMEL, Pa., Sept. 29 (AP)—A fire has been burning for seven months in a coal mine on the outskirts of this Eastern Pennsylvania town of 18,000 and there are no state funds to squelch it.

The blaze started in an abandoned strip mine last February. Since then it has burned deep into the earth, spreading along a coal vein. Northumberland County officials spent $50,000 in a futile effort to extinguish the blaze.

Recovery Plans Upset

"Recent events have brought about increasingly critical economic conditions in some of the countries of Western Europe.

"Unusually bad European harvests, together with rising costs and lessened supplies of American food, have upset recovery plans and endangered the progress already made. In particular, France and Italy are without adequate food and fuel supplies for the fall and winter, and do not have the resources with which to buy them.

"The prospect of a general recovery program for Western Europe, aided by the United States, has raised their hopes for eventual recovery and have strengthened democratic forces."

(This was a reference to the Marshall plan, calling for European self-help plus United States assistance.)

"But, if this recovery program is to have a chance of success," Mr. Truman continued, "means must be found for aiding France and Italy to survive this critical winter as free and independent nations. x x x

"Action by various agencies of the executive branch under existing authority may meet the most urgent needs of the next few weeks, but funds from executive sources are inadequate to provide assistance beyond December

"Assistance this winter, in sums much larger than the executive branch can provide with funds now at its disposal, is essential. That assistance can come only from the Congress.

"The early convening of the congressional committees referred to is the necessary first step in meeting the problems that confront us."

College Presidents

The remark, he later told reporters, was meant only as a joke.

In Spokane Taft charged the administration with what he said was the apparent intention of stabilizing the national budget at a level of $37,000,000,000.

He declared the only way the country could expect tax relief was by election of a Republican president.

Conservation 'Workshop' Opens; 30 Women Attend

SOLOMONS ISLAND, Md., Sept. 29 (AP)—Thirty women representing organizations interested in Maryland conservation problems gathered here today for a two-day "workshop" at the Chesapeake Biological Laboratory.

Mrs. R. V. Truitt, conservation chairman of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs and wife of the director of the Department of Research and Education, said the meeting was called to coordinate conservation activity of various women's groups.

Representatives of the federation, the recently-formed Committee of Maryland Women on the Conservation of Natural Resources, the state cranch of the American Association of University Women and the Maryland Federation of Garden Clubs registered for the workshop.

Baltimoreans Facing Sharp Tax Rate Boost

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro expressed the hope today for an early special session of the Maryland Legislature, after receiving a report that the city faces a $3.50 per $100 property tax rate unless new revenue sources are found.

Gov. Lane has said he would call a special session to consider Baltimore City's financial situation but has set no date.

Budget Director Herbert Fallin forecast the possible $3.50 tax rate—50 to 55 cents above what it is now—in saying the city needs new sources of revenue totaling $7,000,000 if budgetary requirements are to be met.

Five Who Made 4,300-Mile Raft Trip Reach U. S.

Ethnologist Says His Theory Proved

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29 (AP)—Five months after he sailed from Callao, Peru, on a homemade raft, Thor Heyerdahl, 32, Norwegian ethnologist, and his Non-Tiki expedition reached the United States today, convinced he had proved his theory of early migration from the Americas to Oceania.

Heyerdahl and his five companions—four Norwegians and a Swede—and their 18 by 45 foot raft of balsa wood and bamboo were brought from Tahiti to San Francisco by the Norwegian motorship Thor No. 1.

Behind them lay 101 days of life on their little raft, driven ever westward by wind and ocean currents. They figured their total drift at 4,300 miles. Their journey ended when they were driven onto a long reef near Raroia island in the Melanesian group.

Heyerdahl's Theory

On Raroia they were taken in by natives and two weeks later were picked up by a French government schooner which took them to Tahiti.

Heyerdahl conceived the theory that the Polynesians were a mixture of American and Peruvian Indians when he spent his honeymoon in Tahiti 10 years ago. But how did they reach the South Central Pacific? Years of study convinced Heyerdahl they voyaged there on rafts, driven by wind and ocean currents.

He wrote a lengthy thesis setting forth his ideas. Authorities scoffed at it. Such rafts couldn't make the journey, they said.

Heyerdahl set about proving his theory. He aroused the interest of Herman Watzinger, 31, civil engineer; Knut Haugland, 30, Norwegian army officer and radio expert; Torstein Raaby, 27, a student; and Erik Hesselberg, 33, artist and navigator, all Norwegians; and Bengt Danielsson, 26, Swedish sociologist who holds a fellowship at the University of Washington.

Logs Lashed Together

They built the raft, lashing the logs together with rope. No nails were used. Atop the raft they built a small shelter of bamboo, roofed with banana leaves.

"I wanted to prove the feasibility of a raft of this type being seaworthy enough to carry human beings safely to Oceania and to prove the line of drift from South America to the South Central Pacific islands," Heyerdahl said.

"I think we have proved it. Now I can publish my thesis."

"Rainy Day" Has Arrived Miners' Journal Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 (AP) — John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Journal said today that labor unions should use funds "put aside for a rainy day" to fight the Taft-Hartley Act.

"American unions are now at a peak point in membership and finances and if ever they expect to halt the tide of reaction then the time is now," the Journal said

"Funds have been put aside for a rainy day, and this is the rainy day. Unless labor does not put up an all out struggle now it will become the victim of a long war of attrition which would deplete its funds in court battles and dishearten its membership by endless delays and regimentation of their organizing and negotiating activities."

Edwards Named Acting Mayor, Effective Today

By order of the Major and Council yesterday, Water Commissioner William J. Edwards was appointed "actin gmayor" for 1[illegible] days, beginning today.

Mayor and Mrs. Thomas S. Post, accompanied by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James White, Ellerslie, will leave early today on a motor trip to Hastings, Neb., where they will visit Thomas S. Post, Jr., who is attending college there.

The council also adopted a subsection on porches in the form of an ordinance adding to the Cumberland Building Code.

Allows Enclosures

The sub-section ordinance allowed owners of property to enclose rear porches or parts thereof using frame or protected frame construction with the provision that the porch is not larger than 96 square feet in area. It was pointed out that the new subsection was not applicable to the Fireproof Limit Zone definitely set forth in the code.

Council approval of the month-end payroll was postponed until a special meeting this afternoon at 1:15, upon motion of Finance Commission Clifton E. Fuller.

Several bills were ordered paid. A check for $5.33 was made payable to Lawrence J. Day, refunding a city tax payment; Charles F. Burke, Jr., was ordered paid $179.48 for excess postage costs for water billings during the past three months; Daisy Reuschel, 116 Oldtown Road, will receive $44.41 for taxes paid twice; and a check for $43.75 was ordered drawn for Robert Jackson, clerk of the Circuit Court, for court costs in releasing liens on Roberts Street properties sold by the city to F. R. Garland and filed in the name of the William E. Fazenbaker estate.

The city tax collector was allowed insolvencies totalling $390.65 on lots purchased or sold recently by the city.

Apply For Call Box

An application for the installation of a telephone call box by Johnny's Cabs on Paca Street was given to Commissioner of Police and Fire William V. Keegan for investigation. Julius F. Schonter made the application and pointed out the box would be in front of a vacant lot.

Council also approved the transfer of a license to VanMetre's Auto Mart, 50 Thomas Street, from South End Motors, to buy and sell second hand goods.

Committee To Be Named To Study Ray Report

Before leaving on a 10-day vacation trip to Nebraska today, Mayor Thomas S. Post said he expects to name a committee, upon his return, to study recommendations made by Dr. Joseph M. Ray of the University of Maryland for improving city government here.

The mayor said he has about 10 possible nominations under consideration. The Ray report, submitted last spring, advocated establishment of home rule and a council-manager form of government.

Police Exams Asked

William V. Keegan, commissioner of police and fire, said yesterday he will ask the Civil Service Board to conduct examinations for a lieutenant in the traffic bureau and a lieutenant in the detective bureau.

Two Men Convicted Of Drunk Driving

Two drivers convicted in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday of drunken driving were committed to the county jail for 30 days each in default of $10[illegible] fines, but one of the offenders was released later when he paid the sum.

George W. Wilson, Route 2, was arrested Sunday night on Baltimore Street by Officers J. W. Snyder and L. D. Downey, and police said he was driving in a "hazardous manner."

Wilson was fined $100 and costs of $1.45 on the drunken driving count by Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., who dismissed a reckless driving charge. Wilson was still in jail last night.

William Milton Duckworth, Cresaptown, found guilty of drunken driving, was fined $101.45 as well as an additional $11.45 on a reckless driving charge after he was tried before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew. Duckworth at first was committed to jail in default of the fines but he later paid up and was released.

State Trooper William F. Baker arrested him Sunday on Route 40 in LaVale.

George F. Cunningham, 607 Maryland Avenue, was found guilty of exceeding 30 miles an hour on Route 220 at Bowling Green Saturday and was fined $3 and costs of $1.45 by Magistrate Perdew.

D. C. Goodfellow, LaVale, forfeited bond of $6.45 on a charge of exceeding 30 miles an hour on Route 40, LaVale, Saturday. Cunningham and Goodfellow were arrested by Trooper Thomas Barton.

Oldtown Road Man Gets Suspended Sentence

Accused of acting in a drunk and disorderly manner on a public highway Saturday night, George F. Riggs, Oldtown Road, received a suspended sentence of 30 days yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court and Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., said the suspension was on condition that Riggs refrain from excessive use of alcohol and further disorders.

Riggs' wife, Mrs. Elsie May Riggs, was the prosecuting witness. Testimony disclosed that he and his wife were in a tavern on Oldtown Road and became engaged in an argument.

Truman's Appeal To "Eat Less" And "Waste Less" Is Too Late

It will take more than the President's statement to make the American people save any appreciable amount of food. It will take a high quality of leadership, and this Mr. Truman does not seem able to supply.

Perhaps the citizens' committee which the President has appointed will find a way to dramatize the situation, to impress upon the people the need for conservation, and to convince Americans that voluntary rationing is in their own interest. Unless it succeeds in doing that, nothing will be accomplished.

What Mr. Truman now says is substantially what Senator Taft said more than a fortnight ago, and for which he was berated by Mr. Truman's followers as well as by communists and fellow-travelers. No matter how it is phrased, the appeal to the Americans is "to eat less" and it will have to be heeded if further inflation is to be avoided.

Many government officials are doubtful whether any proposed voluntary rationing system could be made to work successfully enough to ease the present food price situation. These officials point out that the government's last attempt to conduct a voluntary rationing program turned out miserably when public opinion refused to support the idea.

They refer to the appeal issued nearly two years ago by President Truman's Emergency Famine Relief Committee, calling upon Americans to eat less bread. The committee headed by Chester Davis, with Herbert Hoover as honorary chairman, made little headway toward convincing the American people that they should eat less, to make more food available for famine areas.

In fact, after a whirlwind start amid a flood of publicity, the "eat less" program finally died out with few accomplishments to its credit. The public just didn't take to the idea. Mr. Truman suggests that we waste less food. The American housewife has retorted to that admonishment with the well-pointed declaration that there can be no waste because food is too expensive.

The President's plea is good enough as a statement of facts. But it is another case of "too little, too late." It should not only have been issued some time ago, but it should have been accomplished by curtailment of relief shipments to Europe which have been going ahead at a crazy pace.

Great Britain's Ultimatum On Question Of Palestine

The British government, which has so often found itself on the wrong end of ultimaums, has laid one of its own before the United Nations Assembly: If UN cannot find a satisfactory settlement for Palestine, Britain will drop her 25-year mandate and wtihdraw her troops from the Holy Land. Since the prospect of an agreement satisfactory to both Arabs and Jews is now exceedingly dim, the danger of unlimited civil war looms over the unhappy country.

What has happened in India since the British authority was removed is a foretaste of what might occur in a divided Palestine left to shift for itself. The Jewish underground armies, whose war against the British has been financed and equipped from outside—largely from the United States—would turn their weapons against the Arabs. The Arabs, who have recently been bystanders in the Jewish-British struggle, would direct their fury against the Jews—and would undoubtedly be aided by the surrounding Moslem nations. The Holy Land, birthplace of two of the world's greatest religions, might easily be turned into a seething battleground of religious frenzy.

The British decision on Palestine is made reluctantly. Even the doctrinaire Socialists in the Attlee cabinet appreciate the strategic value of Palestine to what remains of the British Empire. If the UN can agree on some form of trusteeship to replace the mandate, the British would willingly go along. But they have made clear that they would do so only if other UN powers, especially the United States, shared the responsibility for carrying out any agreement.

Up to now, Americans in and out of the Government have been very liberal with advice to the British on how to manage Palestine, but extremely chary of taking on any responsibilities. Perhaps the critics of British policy would be willing to have Americans take over part of the management of Palestine. The question is whether Congress would vote to expose American young men to the terrorism which British troops have suffered at the hands of the Jewish underground—to say nothing of the frenzy of an Arab holy war.

Money For Nothing

There should not be too much surprise over the Navy's disclosure that thousands of Navy personnel collected an extra $100 in mustering out pay simply because they happened to travel through Canada or Mexico or equally distant or perilous areas. Most of these people were civilians before the war; they're civilians again now, and the public conscience has been drastically diluted when it comes to taking money from the government.

Undoubtedly, the wording of the mustering-out pay bill passed by Congress early in 1944 permitted such an interpretation of service "outside the continental limits." And probably there is nothing that can be done about it now anyway. Perhaps those who took $100 for a sleeper trip through Toronto will recall occasionally that others earned it on the shores of Tarawa or the decks of a flaming carrier.

Opportunity Knocks

In opening the way to appointment of members of the National Guard to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, the War Department is recognizing the ability of the state military organizations to produce qualified material from which to build the ranks of regular Army officers.

This is an opportunity worth considering by all members of the guard who can meet the requirements. The field is wide open. Every enlisted man who can qualify will be given an opportunity to take the requisite examination.

The only conditions are that each must be a citizen of the United States, between 19 and 22 years of age, unmarried, and a high school graduate.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

DIVERTING THE MIND

MOST nervous individuals [psychoneurotics] have a tendency to be self-centered and spend too much time worrying about their present and future well being. In this respect they are selfish because their thoughts and activities revolve about themselves.

The average man and woman lives happily and is able to cope with any environment. Thus energy is not wasted on useless brooding but is turned to something useful. The psychoneurotic, however, has lost [or never had] this ability and as a result, his emotions and moods take the upper hand. Anxiety, worry, depression, and disappointment leave no room for constructive ideas.

All too often these tendencies are repressed and consequently are shortcircuited in the brain to another part of the body. Thus fears are not expressed as such but as indigestion or palpitation of the heart. During the war—if it were not for law, public opinion, and moral belief the man who found military life too strenuous or not to his liking would have gone AWOL. Instead, his mind solved the problem by producing pain in the chest, feet, or upper abdomen. The same can be said about the woman who finds housework too dull or idleness boresome or the man with a job that holds too many responsibilities.

Few psychos have an insight into what is going on behind the scenes. They are likely to blame the heart or stomach, especially if at one time or another, a physician was uncertain whether or not an abnormality existed or if some operation has been performed. It is easy to understand how many become more incapacitated by their anxieties than if they were victims of cornary thrombosis, stomach ulcer, or arthritis of the spine.

Today there are a large number of such persons. In severe cases, psychiatry is the only hope but many can help themselves if they are willing to make adjustments and learn to direct their thoughts away from themselves and into more wholesome channels. Hobbies are valuable and book or stamp collecing, scrapbooks on various subjects, history, travel, and astronomy are suggested. Photography, painting, music, cooking, housekeeping, sewing, dress-designing, millinery, landscaping, gardening, farming, and sports are just a few more of the thousands of choices. Many men and women are aided by participating in group activities in clubs, lodges, or churches. If the right avocation can be found and pursued, it is frequently possible to make it a business and in this way, happiness and security are combined.

Lockwood believes that relaxation must be the keynote for the relief of nervousness, tenseness, and anxiety. This is not always easy but he makes the following recommendations: Life should not be taken too seriously; idealism and the desire to excel are contraindicated; anger, hurry, worry and fatigue should be avoided; the development of a sense of humor will work wonders; mild symptoms should be disregarded.

TWO REMEDIES

K. L. writes: Is there any cure for gynecomastia ?

REPLY

Enlarged breasts in males are sometimes reduced thru the use of glandular extracts. In other cases, surgery is required.

PIGMENTS IN FOOD

V. R. writes: What is carotinemia?

REPLY

The presence of carotone, a yellow pigment, in the blood. When the percentage is high, the skin exhibits a yellowish toint. The substance is found not only in carrots but leaves, sweet potatoes, pumpkin, spinach, egg yolks, milk and other foodstuffs. Excess ingestion of such edibles or the inability of the body to utilize carotene may be responsible.

I rushed down as soon as the store opened, but I was too late . . . all the phone booths were rented.

Just to give you an idea, this drug store is so large it's got a used car lot adjoining the soda fountain.

And for the people with stomachaches who get lost in its vastness, they've got St. Bernards roaming around carrying kegs of bicarbonate.

And it would really be difficult shopping there if they didn't have helicopters to take you from counter to counter. If you want to speak to the floorwalker, you have to flag him down.

The store is so large it's really tough on the clerks. . . . When they have a two-week vacation it takes them ten days to get to the door.

It's not unusual to see someone carrying a knapsack in the store. . . . Every week the local Boy Scout troops go on overnight hikes from the prescription department to the magazine rack.

Everything in the store is king size.

The sodas they serve are so big. . . . Instead of a straw they give you a bathing suit.

This afternoon the soda jerk asked me if I wanted one scoop or two, and before I could answer the derrick started unloading.

HOW TO ACHIEVE UNITY IN OUR INTERNATIONAL COUNCILS

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Hawk-eyed Henry Morgenthau casually meandered into the office of his ex-Cabinet colleague, Henry Wallace, the other day for an informal chat which may have been their last for a long time.

As the chat ended, Wallace stood up from behind his small, dust-cluttered editor's desk and said:

"Henry, why don't you and Mrs. Morgenthau come over to our farm tonight and have some supper with us?"

Morgenthau said that he couldn't accept the invitation because Mrs. Morgenthau wasn't well.

"I'm sorrier than I can tell you that we can't accept," Morgenthau added, with a nervous twang in his voice like the ticking of a bomb about to explode.

"You see, in a few days I don't think you're going to be talking to me anymore, Henry."

Wallace was shocked, asked why. Morgenthau then told how he had turned his famous 900-volume diary over to Collier's to be published in a series of articles. He added that the first article would be on the newsstands in a short time.

"I'm afraid you won't like it very much, Henry," explained the doleful ex-Secretary of the Treasury, who with good reason FDR nicknamed "Henry the Morgue." "It seems that in my early days in the administration I thought you were quite a spender and said so. Collier's picked that out. They're using it in my first story."

When Wallace heard this, he didn't quite realize just how devastating the Collier's attack under Morgenthau's name would be, and merely laughed at Morgenthau's comment. Now that he has seen the articles, the close-lipped ex-Vice President hasn't even permitted his close friends to learn his real reaction.

Note—When Morgenthau signed up with Collier's, the magazine agreed to permit him to cut out any objectionable portions of the diary. Morgenthau sent the section on Mrs. Roosevelt to the former First Lady for her approval. He did the same with the part on Harry Hopkins, referring it to Hopkins' Boswell, famed playwright Robert E. Sherwood. Somehow, Morgenthau forgot to clear with Wallace.

Predictions Which Didn't Come True

Here are more statements which certain statement-makers would like to forget—this time from some of the barons of business who descended upon Washington to demand that price controls be lifted:

Arthur Bruce, President, National Lumber Manufacturers Association: "I am personally of the opinion that we would be better off if the Office of Price Administration were to die a natural death June 30th." (One year later, lumber had swept upward 73.4 per cent over the 1945 Price Control Average.)

Wesley Hardenberg, President, the American Meat Institute:

"What is needed is for Congress to do away entirely with all OPA meat and livestock price regulations of every description so that consumers again may get the kind of meat they want, when they want it, at a fair competitive market."

John E. Jaeger, President, National Association of Retail Grocers told the American Wholesale Grocers Association:

"We (retail grocers) feel that the time has arrived when . . . . actions must be taken . . . . to prevent renewal of the Price Control Act. Competition will benefit the consumer by making available ample food at reasonable prices."

Merry-Go-Round

Worse political break General MacArthur has received so far: Gerald L. K. Smith has launched a campaign for "MacArthur for President." . . . Western politicos say Taft's tour through California was a flop—until his wife Martha jumped into the breach . . . . Ed Pauley, the big Democratic finance man, has moved his family from California to Washington. Despite this, he contends that his job in the War Department is only "temporary". . . . Senator Taft and Harold Stassen have agreed to speak on the same platform for an Iowa State bankers convention in Des Moines, October 8, but it took some deft maneuvering to arrange it. Taft was willing to appear with Stassen but Stassen's advisers were scared. Finally Stassen overruled them. However it's been agreed backstage that the two men will not clash. . . . (The Stassen people would be quite happy to go along on a Taft-Stassen ticket) . . . . John L. Lewis has already engaged three suites, three double-rooms, and three single-rooms at San Francisco's Palace Hotel for the forthcoming AF of L convention. The suites run from $14 a day up to $30.

Unsecret Service

The brawny tight-lipped men charged by Congress with protecting the President of the United States are flashing mental daggers at one of their ex-colleagues.

Object of Secret Service wrath is ex-chief of the White House detail, Mike Reilly, who has just written the inside story of how to guard the president. Reilly's book has been privately characterized by Secret Service Chief James Maloney, as "a handbook of assassination" — a primer for anyone who wants to kill the President of the United States.

In his book, Reilly gives away all the signals used by Secret Service men while conducting the President on the road, and exact measures taken to protect him from crowds.

Result: Maloney is drafting legislation to be introduced in Congress next year making it illegal for a Secret Service man to reveal secrets of the trade following his retirement.

Note—One man who went to his grave with priceless secrets on his lips was Secret Service man Jim Sloan who was given the job of protecting one lady friend of President Harding. Sloan was offered big money by several publishers but his reply was: "Those secrets will die with me." They did.

Lack Of Full Comprehension Of Crisis By Truman Is Puzzling

By MARK SULLIVAN

The present week in Washington seems likely to be the dawning of realization of crisis, the actuality of crisis is already mid-forenoon. In Washington there is some feeling of puzzlement about the Administration's seeming lack of full comprehension and apparent reluctance to act adequately.

For this there could be a political reason, conscious or unconscious. Each of the two aspects of the crisis, domestic and foreign, entails discussion of a special session of Congress. President Truman seems reluctant to call one, and at this writing one seems not probable. The situation may change after Mr. Truman's Monday meeting with Congressional leaders of both parties, chiefly those connected with the committees on Appropriations and Foreign Relations.

What brings to the proportions of crisis a condition that was already bad, is unexpected decrease of food in Europe, accompanied by shortage of grain crops in America. Last year, the second crop year following the war, production of food in war-torn European countries increased, and it was possible for them to get by, with aid that we were able to contribute. It was anticipated, reasonably, that this year, the third crop year following the war, would see still further increase of food production in Europe, thus reducing the amount needed from us. Actually, however, there has been a crop shortage in Europe and, added to that, shortage of grain crops in America.

Food Condition Doubly Worsened

With shortage of food as one crisis goes price of it as another. The grants our government makes to Europe are in the form of dollars. But Europe does not eat dollars, it eats food—and with the dollars we grant to Europe food is bought in America. As the price of food goes up, the quantity that can be bought for Europe goes down.

This condition was already bad enough. Now it is doubly worsened. Europe must have yet more food, and the price is yet higher. Europe is doubly beset—by scarcity and high price. And we are doubly beset—by high prices and, while not scarcity, nevertheless the necessity for consuming less in order that Europe may get some of what we have.

As a further bedevilling complexity, the estimates heretofore made about the amounts of our grants to Europe, in terms of dollars, must be revised upward. A year or so ago a grant of a million dollars meant some half a million bushels of wheat. Today it means only some 400 thousand bushels. This makes calculations cock-eyed.

A year ago last July was made a loan of 3¾ billion dollars to Britain, and it was expected to last that country for 5 years. But in little over a year, by last August, about 20 cents out of every dollar of the loan had evaporated, through increase of prices Britain had to pay for what she bought in America. When the loan was made, wheat was $1.87 a bushel. During the year following, the price when as high as $2.44 a bushel. Due to this and other costs, our loan was nearly exhausted in little over a year, and Britain was in critical need.

Whole Program In Europe Threaten

The condition threatens to throw out of gear our whole program of aid to Europe, as expressed in the Marshall plan. Last June Secretary of State Marshall suggested that the European nations get together for a plan of mutual self-help; and suggested that, if and after this was done, America would give help. Sixteen European nations got together in Paris, and made acceptable plans for self-help. Then they got out their pencils to calculate the help they would need from us. They arrived at a figure of something over 16 billion dollars. But, in making their calculation, they used prices as they were in July. Since July prices have gone up some 10 per cent, and to that extent the estimate of need from us is out of date, it will need to be increased.

All this makes for Washington a double crisis. The foreign one goes to the heart of our whole program for aid to Europe, which in turn goes to the heart of our whole world problem, including our conflict with Russia. For a purpose of our aid to European countries is to save them from collapse which would make them subject to threat of domination by Russia.

The domestic crisis is one of rising prices, especially of food, threat of inflation. The Administration proposes that America, by voluntary action, reduce consumption of food, expressed as a slogan, "Waste Less." This is sound, as a means of increasing the quantity of food we can spare for Europe. But few competent judges think that this will be enough to cure, or even seriously affect, the problem of rising prices and threat of inflation.

Politicians Not Surprised By Eisenhower's Popularity Poll

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 — The general public may be surprised, but politicians will not be by the Gallup Poll which shows a military hero more popular than a civilian who happens to be President at the time.

But this does not mean that, after a campaign in which all the customary factors of politics are thoroughly exposed to the likes and dislikes of the electorate, the military man would win.

The poll just announced merely asked voters whether they would prefer General Eisenhower or President Truman. It is really a question related more closely to popularity than to political fitness or capacity to hold office.

The fallacy of popularity tests is best illustrated by the various Gallup Polls which from time to time have shown President Truman to be running ahead of his party strength or below it. What this really means is that when the interviewer asks the question, "Do you think President Truman is handling his job well" The answer can be made in the affirmative or negative regardless of which party the person interviewed happens to favor.

Thus, many Republicans might say Mr. Truman was handling the job well at the time and many Democrats, dissatisfied with his bias in favor of the labor union bosses, might be irritated and answer a poll interviewer in the negative. But both these groups will contain "lifelong" Republicans or Democrats, who would vote the straight party ticket and hold their noses, no matter what the head of the party did.

Characteristic Of U. S. Politics

This has been one of the characteristics of American politics for a long, long time. The polls show it when the definite question is asked without regard to the names of candidates: "Which party would you vote for if the presidential election were held today?"

Examination of polls taken in the last two years shows that there have been times when Mr. Truman in personal popularity has been below the percentage attained by his own party and there have been times when he has been above it.

As between Truman and Eisenhower—both well-publicized names—the popularity comparison has no real political meaning, though it can conceivably be significant of a trend. It could turn the thoughts of Republican leaders to a temporary consideration of the availability of General Eisenhower and away from Messrs. Taft, Dewey, Vandenberg and Stassen. But since nominating conventions are run by practical politicians, it cannot turn their minds away very long from the men experienced in public life and government affairs.

The practical side will assert itself as the Republican leaders weigh the chances of winning an election with a military man. Already there are murmurs against the Truman administration coming from many elements which are sincere and patriotic and peace-loving throughout our country. They are worried about the domination of our foreign policy by military minds and military conceptions of fear and preperation against hypothetical contingencies.

Diplomacy, with all its defects, has always assumed the equality of sovereign states, and when it loses faith in the integrity or trustworthiness of the other government or governments, it usually gives up the task of negotiation and turns the job over to the military forces to prepare a military defense and resist attack. For in that stage of affairs, anthing can happen.

Eisenhower's Views Are Not Known

Generad Eisenhower is not the ordinary military man. He is broad-gauged and objective. But where does he stand, for instance, on the matter of buying the labor union influence by urging the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law? Where does he stand with respect to taxation, bureaucratic expenditures, and a host of other questions that the Republicans in Congress want tackled by their national leader? Union labor does not like military men in power. Will this cost the Republicans any more votes than they would lose anyhow?

All these questions will have to be asked and answered and something more than is known now about General Eisenhower's views will have to be disclosed to the Republican voters of the country before they will be ready to put aside the other candidates—two leading Republican United States senators, a former governor of Minnesota and the governor of the state of New York, who has twice gone before the people and won a majority of the votes cast by the Republican and Democratic voters in the state which has 47 votes in the eletoral college.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

The Score at UN

Ostensibly it looks as though the United States is winning all the tactical victories at the United Nations. Actually, a position of neutrality is developing there which may be of tremendous importance to this country. The questions arise: Does the United States have any allies? Has our "diplomacy of the pay-off" left us realistically isolated? In the event of a war, who in Europe or Asia would support us as we have twice in this generation supported and saved nations in Europe and Asia?

Take, for instance, China. This country has been saving China from partition and destruction since John Hay was Secretary of State. Beginning with the "Open Door Policy" in 1899, through our protection of China during the Boxer Rebellion, through the imposition of the Twenty-One Demands by Japan in 1915, through our rejection of the Paris Peace Treaty because of the Shantung Clauses, through the Washington Conference and the Nine-Power Treaty, through the Stimson Doctrine in 1931 to our actual engagement in war with Japan, this country has consistently supported whatever government in China possessed authority. Besides, we spent huge sums for the welfare of the Chinese people in educational, health and religious missionary work. We have been consistent and loyal friends of China for a century.

In fact, I am sure that it can be substantiated that except for the racial issue on the Pacific Coast, this country never had a quarrel with Japan that did not originate over China.

So now there is talk among the Chinese about being neutral between the United States and Soviet Russia. Sun Fo, who is always a weathercock, publicly states that unless the United States comes across with money — more, more money—China might find it advisable to tie in with Soviet Russia. Sun Fo is not the brightest of men and he usually says what someone wants him to say. But who is the someone in this case?

For instance, why did China abstain from voting on the question of discussing the Italian Treaty? That is a fundamental question of American policy.

Now, what about the Arabs? They never would have amounted to anything were it not that Mr. Roosevelt supported the Arab League, made cash gifts to Ibn Saud, financed a vast oil enterprise with American dollars that made the Arabs richer than they were in the days of Haroun al-Raschid in the glamorous court at Baghdad. So the Arabs are neutral between the United States and Soviet Russia. They are, of course, bargaining over Palestine, or are we bargaining over oil?

The Arabs also abstained from voting on the basic issues in the United Nations.

It would be unsound to jump to conclusions from these abstentions and I am not jumping to conclusions. In fact, I am going slowly but suspiciously—very suspiciously. I would like to know—and every American should know—where we stand. Who are our friends? Do we have allies? What has been the value of the "Good Neighbor Policy?" What has been the value of Lend-Lease, of UNRRA, of all the help we have given nations in winning friendships? Do we only have friends as long as we pay for friendship?

These are questions that require analysis and understanding. Shall it come to be that the only people in all the world that will stand by America are the Japanese whom MacArthur won for us, and perhaps some of the countries of the American continent who are sentimental over the traditions of the Monroe Doctrine?

Is this too gloomy a picture of our diplomatic defeat? Perhaps. I do not claim for it more than an hypothesis, but the decencies have disappeared and the proletarian statesmen who govern the world seem capable of unimaginable vulgarities, such as the Vishinsky speech, Tito's threats, or even Bevin's suggestion about distributing the "Fort Knox Gold." Too many of them have been reared in the street-fighting and back-stabbing of revolutionary movements.

We are not doing business with nice people—and eternal vigilance is the price of national existence.

Mind On The Wing

My friend Prof. Herbert Faulkner West of Dartmouth College has written a most interesting book, which he has called "The Mind On the Wing." A very good title, I would say, for when the mind is on the wing it sails over much, visits much,, and learns much.

Professor West calls this new book of his "a book for readers and collectors." It's a fine book for anyone to own and read who is at all interested in books, for it gives a vast amount of information, introduces the reader to many a new or unknown writer, and one chapter is devoted to a brief description of one hundred books that are selected favorites of the author. When I got the book safely home, after purchase, I checked the books listed that are favorites of mine, most of which I have in my library, and I counted 42.

In this book is an interesting chapter on reading and collecting, one on the literature of mountaineering, one on travel and exploration, one on nature writers, and an excellent one on the finest books of the late war.

A beautiful bird in flight has always fascinated me. Especially the eagle, the sea gull, or one of the varieties of hawks. For long periods I have watched them soar and glide. With their sharp eyes centered upon the earth below, they sail and sail, undoubtedly in most cases watching for an opportunity to secure food. As I noted the title of my friend's book, I couldn't help but think of these birds, and how like their soaring is the mind on the wing, it, too, traveling to the farthermost parts of the earth, for information and new knowledge.

How important it is that we should keep this mind of ours always on the wing—never idle, never wasting its substance upon trivial things, but swiftly speeding here and there, like the rapid wings of the humming bird, tasting and hoarding the honey, wherever discovered, then to some new adventure, and new revelation. Ever and always, though—the mind on the wing!

Truman's Appeal To "Eat Less" And "Waste Less" Is Too Late

It will take more than the President's statement to make the American people save any appreciable amount of food. It will take a high quality of leadership, and this Mr. Truman does not seem able to supply.

Perhaps the citizens' committee which the President has appointed will find a way to dramatize the situation, to impress upon the people the need for conservation, and to convince Americans that voluntary rationing is in their own interest. Unless it succeeds in doing that, nothing will be accomplished.

What Mr. Truman now says is substantially what Senator Taft said more than a fortnight ago, and for which he was berated by Mr. Truman's followers as well as by communists and fellow-travelers. No matter how it is phrased, the appeal to the Americans is "to eat less" and it will have to be heeded if further inflation is to be avoided.

Many government officials are doubtful whether any proposed voluntary rationing system could be made to work successfully enough to ease the present food price situation. These officials point out that the government's last attempt to conduct a voluntary rationing program turned out miserably when public opinion refused to support the idea.

They refer to the appeal issued nearly two years ago by President Truman's Emergency Famine Relief Committee, calling upon Americans to eat less bread. The committee headed by Chester Davis, with Herbert Hoover as honorary chairman, made little headway toward convincing the American people that they should eat less, to make more food available for famine areas.

In fact, after a whirlwind start amid a flood of publicity, the "eat less" program finally died out with few accomplishments to its credit. The public just didn't take to the idea. Mr. Truman suggests that we waste less food. The American housewife has retorted to that admonishment with the well-pointed declaration that there can be no waste because food is too expensive.

The President's plea is good enough as a statement of facts. But it is another case of "too little, too late." It should not only have been issued some time ago, but it should have been accomplished by curtailment of relief shipments to Europe which have been going ahead at a crazy pace.

Great Britain's Ultimatum On Question Of Palestine

The British government, which has so often found itself on the wrong end of ultimaums, has laid one of its own before the United Nations Assembly: If UN cannot find a satisfactory settlement for Palestine, Britain will drop her 25-year mandate and wtihdraw her troops from the Holy Land. Since the prospect of an agreement satisfactory to both Arabs and Jews is now exceedingly dim, the danger of unlimited civil war looms over the unhappy country.

What has happened in India since the British authority was removed is a foretaste of what might occur in a divided Palestine left to shift for itself. The Jewish underground armies, whose war against the British has been financed and equipped from outside—largely from the United States—would turn their weapons against the Arabs. The Arabs, who have recently been bystanders in the Jewish-British struggle, would direct their fury against the Jews—and would undoubtedly be aided by the surrounding Moslem nations. The Holy Land, birthplace of two of the world's greatest religions, might easily be turned into a seething battleground of religious frenzy.

The British decision on Palestine is made reluctantly. Even the doctrinaire Socialists in the Attlee cabinet appreciate the strategic value of Palestine to what remains of the British Empire. If the UN can agree on some form of trusteeship to replace the mandate, the British would willingly go along. But they have made clear that they would do so only if other UN powers, especially the United States, shared the responsibility for carrying out any agreement.

Up to now, Americans in and out of the Government have been very liberal with advice to the British on how to manage Palestine, but extremely chary of taking on any responsibilities. Perhaps the critics of British policy would be willing to have Americans take over part of the management of Palestine. The question is whether Congress would vote to expose American young men to the terrorism which British troops have suffered at the hands of the Jewish underground—to say nothing of the frenzy of an Arab holy war.

Money For Nothing

There should not be too much surprise over the Navy's disclosure that thousands of Navy personnel collected an extra $100 in mustering out pay simply because they happened to travel through Canada or Mexico or equally distant or perilous areas. Most of these people were civilians before the war; they're civilians again now, and the public conscience has been drastically diluted when it comes to taking money from the government.

Undoubtedly, the wording of the mustering-out pay bill passed by Congress early in 1944 permitted such an interpretation of service "outside the continental limits." And probably there is nothing that can be done about it now anyway. Perhaps those who took $100 for a sleeper trip through Toronto will recall occasionally that others earned it on the shores of Tarawa or the decks of a flaming carrier.

Opportunity Knocks

In opening the way to appointment of members of the National Guard to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, the War Department is recognizing the ability of the state military organizations to produce qualified material from which to build the ranks of regular Army officers.

This is an opportunity worth considering by all members of the guard who can meet the requirements. The field is wide open. Every enlisted man who can qualify will be given an opportunity to take the requisite examination.

The only conditions are that each must be a citizen of the United States, between 19 and 22 years of age, unmarried, and a high school graduate.

DIVERTING THE MIND

MOST nervous individuals [psychoneurotics] have a tendency to be self-centered and spend too much time worrying about their present and future well being. In this respect they are selfish because their thoughts and activities revolve about themselves.

The average man and woman lives happily and is able to cope with any environment. Thus energy is not wasted on useless brooding but is turned to something useful. The psychoneurotic, however, has lost [or never had] this ability and as a result, his emotions and moods take the upper hand. Anxiety, worry, depression, and disappointment leave no room for constructive ideas.

All too often these tendencies are repressed and consequently are shortcircuited in the brain to another part of the body. Thus fears are not expressed as such but as indigestion or palpitation of the heart. During the war—if it were not for law, public opinion, and moral belief the man who found military life too strenuous or not to his liking would have gone AWOL. Instead, his mind solved the problem by producing pain in the chest, feet, or upper abdomen. The same can be said about the woman who finds housework too dull or idleness boresome or the man with a job that holds too many responsibilities.

Few psychos have an insight into what is going on behind the scenes. They are likely to blame the heart or stomach, especially if at one time or another, a physician was uncertain whether or not an abnormality existed or if some operation has been performed. It is easy to understand how many become more incapacitated by their anxieties than if they were victims of cornary thrombosis, stomach ulcer, or arthritis of the spine.

Today there are a large number of such persons. In severe cases, psychiatry is the only hope but many can help themselves if they are willing to make adjustments and learn to direct their thoughts away from themselves and into more wholesome channels. Hobbies are valuable and book or stamp collecting, scrapbooks on various subjects, history, travel, and astronomy are suggested. Photography, painting, music, cooking, housekeeping, sewing, dress-designing, millinery, landscaping, gardening, farming, and sports are just a few more of the thousands of choices. Many men and women are aided by participating in group activities in clubs, lodges, or churches. If the right avocation can be found and pursued, it is frequently possible to make it a business and in this way, happiness and security are combined.

Lockwood believes that relaxation must be the keynote for the relief of nervousness, tenseness, and anxiety. This is not always easy but he makes the following recommendatons: Life should not be taken too seriously; idealism and the desire to excel are contraindicated; anger, hurry, worry and fatigue should be avoided; the development of a sense of humor will work wonders; mild symptoms should be disregarded.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Hawk-eyed Henry Morgenthau casually meandered into the office of his ex-Cabinet colleague, Henry Wallace, the other day for an informal chat which may have been their last for a long time.

As the chat ended, Wallace stood up from behind his small,dust-cluttered editor's desk and said:

"Henry, why don't you and Mrs. Morgenthau come over to our farm tonight and have some supper with us?"

Morgenthau said that he couldn't accept the invitation because Mrs. Morgenthau wasn't well.

"I'm sorrier than I can tell you that we can't accept," Morgenthau added, with a nervous twang in his voice like the ticking of a bomb about to explode.

"You see, in a few days I don't think you're going to be talking to me anymore, Henry."

Wallace was shocked, asked why. Morgenthau then told how he had turned his famous 900-volume diary over to Collier's to be published in a series of articles. He added that the first article would be on the newsstands in a short time.

"I'm afraid you won't like it very much, Henry," explained the doleful ex-Secretary of the Treasury, who with good reason FDR nicknamed "Henry the Morgue." "It seems that in my early days in the administration I thought you were quite a spender and said so. Collier's picked that out. They're using it in my first story."

When Wallace heard this, he didn't quite realize just how devastating the Collier's attack under Morgenthau's name would be, and merely laughed at Morgenthau's comment. Now that he has seen the articles, the close-lipped ex-Vice President hasn't even permitted his close friends to learn his real reaction.

Note—When Morgenthau signed up with Collier's, the magazine agreed to permit him to cut out any objectionable portions of the diary. Morgenthau sent the section on Mrs. Roosevelt to the former First Lady for her approval. He did the same with the part on Harry Hopkins, referring it to Hopkins' Boswell, famed playwright Robert E. Sherwood. Somehow, Morgenthau forgot to clear with Wallace.

Predictions Which Didn't Come True

Here are more statements which certain statement-makers would like to forget—this time from some of the barons of business who descended upon Washington to demand that price controls be lifted:

Arthur Bruce, President, National Lumber Manufacturers Association: "I am personally of the opinion that we would be better off if the Office of Price Administration were to die a natural death June 30th." (One year later, lumber had swept upward 73.4 per cent over the 1945 Price Control Average.)

Wesley Hardenberg, President, the American Meat Institute: "What is needed is for Congress to do away entirely with all OPA meat and livestock price regulations of every description so that consumers again may get the kind of meat they want, when they want it, at a fair competitive market."

John E. Jaeger, President, National Association of Retail Grocers told the American Wholesale Grocers Association: "We (retail grocers) feel that the time has arrived when . . . . actions must be taken . . . . to prevent renewal of the Price Control Act. Competition will benefit the consumer by making available ample food at reasonable prices."

Merry-Go-Round

Worse political break General MacArthur has received so far: Gerald L. K. Smith has launched a campaign for "MacArthur for President." . . . Western politicos say Taft's tour through California was a flop—until his wife Martha jumped into the breach . . . . Ed Pauley, the big Democratic finance man, has moved his family from California to Washington. Despite this, he contends that his job in the War Department is only "temporary" . . . . Senator Taft and Harold Stassen have agreed to speak on the same platform for an Iowa State bankers convention in Des Moines, October 8, but it took some deft maneuvering to arrange it. Taft was willing to appear with Stassen but Stassen's advisers were scared. Finally Stassen overruled them. However it's been agreed backstage that the two men will not clash. . . . (The Stassen people would be quite happy to go along on a Taft-Stassen ticket) . . . . John L. Lewis has already engaged three suites, three double-rooms, and three single-rooms at San Francisco's Palace Hotel for the forthcoming AF of L convention. The suites run from $14 a day up to $30.

Unsecret Service

The brawny tight-lipped men charged by Congress with protecting the President of the United States are flashing mental daggers at one of their ex-colleagues.

Object of Secret Service wrath is ex-chief of the White House detail, Mike Reilly, who has just written the inside story of how to guard the president. Reilly's book has been privately characterized by Secret Service Chief James Maloney, as "a handbook of assassination" — a primer for anyone who wants to kill the President of the United States.

In his book, Reilly gives away all the signals used by Secret Service men while conducting the President on the road, and exact measures taken to protect him from crowds.

Result: Maloney is drafting legislation to be introduced in Congress next year making it illegal for a Secret Service man to reveal secrets of the trade following his retirement.

Note—One man who went to his grave with priceless secrets on his lips was Secret Service man Jim Sloan who was given the job of protecting one lady friend of President Harding. Sloan was offered big money by several publishers but his reply was: "Those secrets will die with me." They did.

Lack Of Full Comprehension Of Crisis By Truman Is Puzzling

By MARK SULLIVAN

The present week in Washington seems likely to be the dawning of realization of crisis, the actuality of crisis is already mid-forenoon. In Washington there is some feeling of puzzlement about the Administration's seeming lack of full comprehension and apparent reluctance to act adequately.

For this there could be a political reason, conscious or unconscious. Each of the two aspects of the crisis, domestic and foreign, entails discussion of a special session of Congress. President Truman seems reluctant to call one, and at this writing one seems not probable. The situation may change after Mr. Truman's Monday meeting with Congressional leaders of both parties, chiefly those connected with the committees on Appropriations and Foreign Relations.

What brings to the proportions of crisis a condition that was already bad, is unexpected decrease of food in Europe, accompanied by shortage of grain crops in America. Last year, the second crop year following the war, production of food in war-torn European countries increased, and it was possible for them to get by, with aid that we were able to contribute. It was anticipated, reasonably, that this year, the third crop year following the war, would see still further increase of food production in Europe, thus reducing the amount needed from us. Actually, however, there has been a crop shortage in Europe and, added to that, shortage of grain crops in America.

Food Condition Doubly Worsened

With shortage of food as one crisis goes price of it as another. The grants our government makes to Europe are in the form of dollars. But Europe does not eat dollars, it eats food—and with the dollars we grant to Europe food is bought in America. As the price of food goes up, the quantity that can be bought for Europe goes down.

This condition was already bad enough. Now it is doubly worsened. Europe must have yet more food, and the price is yet higher. Europe is doubly beset—by scarcity and high price. And we are doubly beset—by high prices and, while not scarcity, nevertheless the necessity for consuming less in order that Europe may get some of what we have.

As a further bedevilling complexity, the estimates heretofore made about the amounts of our grants to Europe, in terms of dollars, must be revised upward. A year or so ago a grant of a million dollars meant some half a million bushels of wheat. Today it means only some 400 thousand bushels. This makes calculations cock-eyed.

A year ago last July was made a loan of 3¾ billion dollars to Britain, and it was expected to last that country for 5 years. But in little over a year, by last August, about 20 cents out of every dollar of the loan had evaporated, through increase of prices Britain had to pay for what she bought in America. When the loan was made, wheat was $1.87 a bushel. During the year following, the price when as high as $2.44 a bushel. Due to this and other costs, our loan was nearly exhausted in little over a year, and Britain was in critical need.

Whole Program In Europe Threaten

The condition threatens to throw out of gear our whole program of aid to Europe, as expressed in the Marshall plan. Last June Secretary of State Marshall suggested that the European nations get together for a plan of mutual self-help; and suggested that, if and after this was done, America would give help. Sixteen European nations got together in Paris, and made acceptable plans for self-help. Then they got out their pencils to calculate the help they would need from us. They arrived at a figure of something over 16 billion dollars. But, in making their calculation, they used prices as they were in July. Since July prices have gone up some 10 per cent, and to that extent the estimate of need from us is out of date, it will need to be increased.

All this makes for Washington a double crisis. The foreign one goes to the heart of our whole program for aid to Europe, which in turn goes to the heart of our whole world problem, including our conflict with Russia. For a purpose of our aid to European countries is to save them from collapse which would make them subject to threat of domination by Russia.

The domestic crisis is one of rising prices, especially of food, threat of inflation. The Administration proposes that America, by voluntary action, reduce consumption of food, expressed as a slogan, "Waste Less." This is sound, as a means of increasing the quantity of food we can spare for Europe. But few competent judges think that this will be enough to cure, or even seriously affect, the problem of rising prices and threat of inflation.

Politicians Not Surprised By Eisenhower's Popularity Poll

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 — The general public may be surprised, but politicians will not be by the Gallup Poll which shows a military hero more popular than a civilian who happens to be President at the time.

But this does not mean that, after a campaign in which all the customary factors of politics are thoroughly exposed to the likes and dislikes of the electorate, the military man would win.

The poll just announced merely asked voters whether they would prefer General Eisenhower or President Truman. It is really a question related more closely to popularity than to political fitness or capacity to hold office.

The fallacy of popularity tests is best illustrated by the various Gallup Polls which from time to time have shown President Truman to be running ahead of his party strength or below it. What this really means is that when the interviewer asks the question, "Do you think President Truman is handling his job well" The answer can be made in the affirmative or negative regardless of which party the person interviewed happens to favor.

Thus, many Republicans might say Mr. Truman was handling the job well at the time and many Democrats, dissatisfied with his bias in favor of the labor union bosses, might be irritated and answer a poll interviewer in the negative. But both these groups will contain "lifelong" Republicans or Democrats, who would vote the straight party ticket and hold their noses, no matter what the head of the party did.

Characteristic Of U. S. Politics

This has been one of the characteristics of American politics for a long, long time. The polls show it when the definite question is asked without regard to the names of candidates: "Which party would you vote for if the presidential election were held today?"

Examination of polls taken in the last two years shows that there have been times when Mr. Truman in personal popularity has been below the percentage attained by his own party and there have been times when he has been above it.

As between Truman and Eisenhower—both well-publicized names—the popularity comparison has no real political meaning, though it can cenceivably be significant of a trend. It could turn the thoughts of Republican leaders to a temporary consideration of the availability of General Eisenhower and away from Messrs. Taft, Dewey, Vandenberg and Stassen. But since nominating conventions are run by practical politicians, it cannot turn their minds away very long from the men experienced in public life and government affairs.

The practical side will assert itself as the Republican leaders weigh the chances of winning an election with a military man. Already there are murmurs against the Truman administration coming from many elements which are sincere and patriotic and peace-loving throughout our country. They are worried about the domination of our foreign policy by military minds and military conceptions of fear and preperation against hypothetical contingencies.

Diplomacy, with all its defects, has always assumed the equality of sovereign states, and when it loses faith in the integrity or trustworthiness of the other government or governments, it usually gives up the task of negotiation and turns the job over to the military forces to prepare a military defense and resist attack. For in that stage of affairs, anthing can happen.

Eisenhower's Views Are Not Known

Generad Eisenhower is not the ordinary military man. He is broad-gauged and objective. But where does he stand, for instance, on the matter of buying the labor union influence by urging the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law? Where does he stand with respect to taxation, bureaucratic expenditures, and a host of other questions that the Republicans in Congress want tackled by their national leader? Union labor does not like military men in power. Will this cost the Republicans any more votes than they would lose anyhow?

All these questions will have to be asked and answered and something more than is known now about General Eisenhower's views will have to be disclosed to the Republican voters of the country before they will be ready to put aside the other candidates—two leading Republican United States senators, a former governor of Minnesota and the governor of the state of New York, who has twice gone before the people and won a majority of the votes cast by the Republican and Democratic voters in the state which has 47 votes in the eletoral college.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

The Score at UN

Ostensibly it looks as though the United States is winning all the tactical victories at the United Nations. Actually, a position of neutrality is developing there which may be of tremendous importance to this country. The questions arise: Does the United States have any allies? Has our "diplomacy of the pay-off" left us realistically isolated? In the event of a war, who in Europe or Asia would support us as we have twice in this generation supported and saved nations in Europe and Asia?

Take, for instance, China. This country has been saving China from partition and destruction since John Hay was Secretary of State. Beginning with the "Open Door Policy" in 1899, through our protection of China during the Boxer Rebellion, through the imposition of the Twenty-One Demands by Japan in 1915, through our rejection of the Paris Peace Treaty because of the Shantung Clauses, through the Washington Conference and the Nine-Power Treaty, through the Stimson Doctrine in 1931 to our actual engagement in war with Japan, this country has consistently supported whatever government in China possessed authority. Besides, we spent huge sums for the welfare of the Chinese people in educational, health and religious missionary work. We have been consistent and loyal friends of China for a century.

In fact, I am sure that it can be substantiated that except for the racial issue on the Pacific Coast, this country never had a quarrel with Japan that did not originate over China.

So now there is talk among the Chinese about being neutral between the United States and Soviet Russia. Sun Fo, who is always a weathercock, publicly states that unless the United States comes across with money — more, more money—China might find it advisable to tie in with Soviet Russia. Sun Fo is not the brightest of men and he usually says what someone wants him to say. But who is the someone in this case?

For instance, why did China abstain from voting on the question of discussing the Italian Treaty? That is a fundamental question of American policy.

Now, what about the Arabs? They never would have amounted to anything were it not that Mr. Roosevelt supported the Arab League, made cash gifts to Ibn Saud, financed a vast oil enterprise with American dollars that made the Arabs richer than they were in the days of Haroun al-Raschid in the glamorous court at Baghdad. So the Arabs are neutral between the United States and Soviet Russia. They are, of course, bargaining over Palestine, or are we bargaining over oil?

The Arabs also abstained from voting on the basic issues in the United Nations.

It would be unsound to jump to conclusions from these abstentions and I am not jumping to conclusions. In fact, I am going slowly but suspiciously—very suspiciously. I would like to know—and every American should know—where we stand. Who are our friends? Do we have allies? What has been the value of the "Good Neighbor Policy?" What has been the value of Lend-Lease, of UNRRA, of all the help we have given nations in winning friendships? Do we only have friends as long as we pay for friendship?

These are questions that require analysis and understanding. Shall it come to be that the only people in all the world that will stand by America are the Japanese whom MacArthur won for us, and perhaps some of the countries of the American continent who are sentimental over the traditions of the Monroe Doctrine?

Is this too gloomy a picture of our diplomatic defeat? Perhaps. I do not claim for it more than an hypothesis but the decencies have disappeared and the proletarian statesmen who govern the world seem capable of unimaginable vulgarities, such as the Vishinsky speech, Tito's threats, or even Bevin's suggestion about distributing the "Fort Knox Gold." Too many of them have been reared in the street-fighting and back-stabbing of revolutionary movements.

We are not doing business with nice people—and eternal vigilance is the price of national existence.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Mind On The Wing

My friend Prof. Herbert Faulkner West of Dartmouth College has written a most interesting book, which he has called "The Mind On the Wing." A very good title, I would say, for when the mind is on the wing it sails over much, visits much, and learns much.

Professor West calls this new book of his "a book for readers and collectors." It's a fine book for anyone to own and read who is at all interested in books, for it gives a vast amount of information, introduces the reader to many a new or unknown writer, and one chapter is devoted to a brief description of one hundred books that are selected favorites of the author. When I got the book safely home, after purchase, I checked the books listed that are favorites of mine, most of which I have in my library, and I counted 42.

In this book is an interesting chapter on reading and collecting, one on the literature of mountaineering, one on travel and exploration, one on nature writers, and an excellent one on the finest books of the late war.

A beautiful bird in flight has always fascinated me. Especially the eagle, the sea gull, or one of the varieties of hawks. For long periods I have watched them soar and glide. With their sharp eyes centered upon the earth below, they sail and sail, undoubtedly in most cases watching for an opportunity to secure food. As I noted the title of my friend's book, I couldn't help but think of these birds, and how like their soaring is the mind on the wing, it, too, traveling to the farthermost parts of the earth, for information and new knowledge.

How important it is that we should keep this mind of ours always on the wing—never idle, never wasting its substance upon trivial things, but swiftly speeding here and there, like the rapid wings of the humming bird, tasting and hoarding the honey, wherever discovered, then to some new adventure, and new revelation. Ever and always, though—the mind on the wing!

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

After consulting stock market graphs, Dow-Jones averages and Gypsy Mary's Dream Book, I recently bought 100 shares of a stock I'll call Can-Opener Common — 2-c a share. During the preliminary stages of this purchase, I was introduced to the senior partner of the brokerage firm which handled the transaction.

Yesterday, my phone operator rang and said this broker was waiting to see me. I told the girl to send him right down. I naturally had brought this many-million-dollar guy to my office. When I saw the big yellow envelope under his arm I knew. I haven't been around Broadway for twenty-five years (La sy, is it that long?) without learning what a big yellow envelope means.

"Hello, Mr. ——," I said. "I see you've written a play."

"As a matter of fact, I have," he smiled. "I had a little free time this summer and—"

"Don't apologize," I said. "The right to write a play is guaranteed every citizen by the Bill of Rights. What do you call it?"

"Broad and Wall," he said. "I thought it best to write my first play about something I knew a lot about."

I read the play that night. The broker was on the phone early next morning. I asked him to come around and talk to me about it. He dropped in at two-thirty that afternoon—he didn't even wait for the market to close.

After we had the cigarettes going, I said, "You're a grown boy and I think I can give it to you with the gloves off. The play's not bad. That is, not embarrassingly bad. But I don't think it's good enough for Broadway."

"What's wrong with it?" asked the Wall Street man.

"This is only one man's opinion," I said, "but I think you haven't really gotten inside your characters. You know what makes the ticker tick, but not the men around it. They come through as papier mache, rather than people. The play reads as if you don't know very much about Wall Street."

"That's odd," he said. "I've been down there since 1923. Every character in the play is based on somebody I've known for years."

"Undoubtedly," I said. "But that doesn't mean you can put them on paper and make them breathe. Robert Sherwood didn't know Abe Lincoln, but in his play about Lincoln, I think he evidenced more understanding of the man than all the pencil pushers of that period. I doubt whether Maxwell Anderson knows a common stock from a wheat future, but it's my hunch that he could write a more penetrating play about Wall Street than anybody down there."

"Maybe so," said the broker, "but it seems to me that someone who's in the middle of something every day would understand it better than an outsider."

"Understanding is one thing," I said. "Expert playwriting is another. I know a little story which may convince you. Back in 1932, a play about Napoleon was presented in London. The drama critics next morning greeted it with a typographical yawn. They said the playwright apparently didn't know very much about the clockwork of a dictator like Napoleon. They said he had failed to project the motivations which make a crazy despot function. They predicted (correctly, as it turned out) a quick failure for the piece because the playwright had no real understanding of the subject."

"There have been a lot of bum plays," said the broker. "What has the play in London got to do with me and Wall Street?"

"The bum play about the dictator," I said, "was written by a fellow named Mussolini—Benito Mussolini."

"Oh," said the Wall Street man.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag everytime you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you may release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

LITTLE ILLS MAKE BIG BILLS!

● True, that "little illness" you've been mentioning in an offhand way, may not seem to amount to much—just a few faint symptoms. But, neglected, these "little ills" can lead to big bills for doctors, medicines, etc; not to mention needless suffering and loss of precious time. Consult a Doctor now—you'll save by it in the end. And, of course, we hope you'll bring his prescription to us for careful compounding.

LITTLE ILLS MAKE BIG BILLS!

● True, that "little illness" you've been mentioning in an offhand way, may not seem to amount to much—just a few faint symptoms. But, neglected, these "little ills" can lead to big bills for doctors, medicines, etc; not to mention needless suffering and loss of precious time. Consult a Doctor now—you'll save by it in the end. And, of course, we hope you'll bring his prescription to us for careful compounding.

Elks Inaugurate Monthly At Homes On Oct. 31

Informal Dance To Mark Halloween

The first of the series of informal "At Homes" to be inaugurated by Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks is to be held October 31, at the home.

The party is being given for members and their wives. It will be a Halloween dance, but not a masquerade party. Music will be by Marty Flynn and his Society Ramblers.

Time-honored traditional goblins and ghosts are to be used in the decorations with streamers of orange and black, and silhouettes of cats and pumpkins.

The next of the parties, planned for each month, will be held Thanksgiving eve.

Walter Fraley is chairman of the committee of arrangements and is being assisted by Russell Campbell, Al Burgeon, John Oliver and Harry S. Tracey.

Mark Silver Wedding

Mrs. Lavina Carr, Uniontown, Pa., entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dusic, 441 North Mechanic Street, Sunday in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary.

The former Miss Martha Hall and Michael Dusic were married in Oakland, September 17, 1922, and were residents of Uniontown prior to coming to Cumberland 11 years ago. The couple have one child, Michael Dusic. Mr. Dusic is owner and proprietor of Dusic's North End Produce Company.

Virginia Ave. P-TA Resumes Activities

Committees for the Virginia Avenue P-TA were named and a playground association organized and officers elected at a meeting of the association.

Mrs. Grace VanPelt named Mrs. John England, chairman of the Membership committee; Mrs. Kenneth Gray, Mrs. Clarence Henry, Mrs. Dailey Howdyshell, Health; Mrs. Richard Holler, Mrs. Guy Kline, Jr., Mrs. Carl Rinehart, Program; Clarence Henry, Kenneth Gray, Richard Holler, John Turley, Building and Grounds; Mrs. Gertrude Collins, Mrs. Jessie Brotemarkle, Mrs. Eloise Krapf, Mrs. Kenneth Gray and Mrs. Merle Shumaker, council representatives.

Officers for the playground organization are Mrs. Eloise Krapf, president; Mrs. VanPelt, secretary and Mrs. Ashenfelter, treasurer. Plans were formulated for giving $5 for the room which procures the most paid up members by the next meeting; and a Halloween party. Final plans for the latter will be made at 3:30 Wednesday. Mrs Stanley Buckley spoke of the council and Mrs. Gertrude Collins spoke on the health programs and introduced the teachers.

It will be led by Mrs. Howard Apple, James Morgan, William Powell and Joan Hyde, members of the official board of Junior Extension. The usual business session will be held preceding the program.

Mrs. Arthur Phillips Is Named RWSC President

Eleventh Anniversary Celebrated At Dinner

The Rural Women's Short Course Club celebrated it's 11th anniversary with a dinner at Central YMCA, last night. Election of officers highlighted the business meeting and Miss Helen Irene Smith, University of Maryland, home management specialist, was the principal speaker. Mrs. W. L. Maddocks presided and 83 members attended, each receiving a spiced orange and specially arranged hand made program as a favor.

Mrs. Arthur Phillips, Lonaconing, was elected president; Mrs. Arthur Happe, city, vice-president; Mrs. John S. Cook, Bowling Green, secretary; Mrs. R. J. Minke, Baltimore Pike, treasurer, and Miss Dora Lewis, Cresaptown, treasurer of the foot of pennies and dimes for the club house at College Park.

Opening with group singing, led by Mrs. Harry Barton, with Mrs. G. R. Golladay at the piano, the program included the recitation of the creed by the group in unison; an invocation by Mrs. A. E. Kesecker and the business session.

Miss Smith with "Our Challenge" as her topic, spoke on what has been accomplished by the course and what the members of the RWSC club may look forward to. She complimented the club and said that Allegany county has sent more women to College Park than any other county in the state. Of the 619 who have attended the RWSC there have been 159 graduates. She also complimented the women on applying what they had learned to every day life and stressed her points by quoting some poetry.

Mrs. Bertha Miller, the only woman in the county who has attended the RWSC for 21 years and one of the three in the state to have achieved the record, spoke on "A Score and One More." She reported that when she began the course in 1923, she set her goal to continue until she could graduate, but to her delight she managed to go until she has been to College Park for 21 sessions.

Mrs. Miller explained that the Short Course has been one of the most outstanding events in her life. That she has not had much time for play or recreation, and it gave her a better outlook on life, courses to remember and others to look forward to year by year. She touched lightly on the speakers, who covered subjects ranging from health, religion, topics of the day and political questions, as well as demonstrations in dress. Other things outstanding in her memory of the 21 years has been the growth of the college from a few buildings "until now the grounds are almost covered;" the president's reception and sightseeing trips concluding the visit.

Mrs. Phillips spoke of the 1947 meeting of the RWSC; a letter from Mrs. J. P. Horton, a member who is ill, was read; reports on their experiences during their term of office since 1936 were given by the past presidents of the club, Mrs. Irene MacDonald; Mrs. Joseph Wheeler, Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. Edward Lewis, Mrs. E. C. Kilroy and Mrs. Maddocks.

A humorous skit, "On the Way To Short Course," was presented by Mrs. MacDonald, Mrs. Theresa Coleman, Mrs. Kilroy, Mrs. Kesecker, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Ernest Screen, Mrs. Margaret McMurdo and Mrs. Charles Callis.

Ohr Lodge To Have Ladies Night

WIFE PRESERVERS

On fresh peach, pear, cherry or plum stains do not use boiling water. Cool water and glycerine or a soapless shampoo are best. Never use soap because it sets the stain. First sponge the stain of these fruits with water, then work in a little gylcerine or soapless shampoo, rubbing lightly between the hands. Let stand several hours, then apply a few drops of vinegar and allow to stand a minute or two before rinsing thoroughly with water. These methods may also be used for fruit stains on wool or silk.

WIFE PRESERVERS

On fresh peach, pear, cherry or plum stains do not use boiling water. Cool water and glycerine or a soapless shampoo are best. Never use soap because it sets the stain. First sponge the stain of these fruits with water, then work in a little gylcerine or soapless shampoo, rubbing lightly between the hands. Let stand several hours, then apply a few drops of vinegar and allow to stand a minute or two before rinsing thoroughly with water. These methods may also be used for fruit stains on wool or silk.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 29—(INS)—Mark Hellinger, who bought "Knock On Any Door," Willard Motley's powerful story of juvenile delinquency, told me that Humphrey Bogart will be starred.

"Not in the role of Nickie, whose environment turns him into a vicious public enemy," said Mark, "but as the lawyer, Morton. I intend to tell the whole story through the eyes of Morton."

"Knock On Any Door" will be one of the pictures to be made under the David Selznick agreement.

Joan Caulfield

I'm glad Arthur Lake isn't giving up "Dagwood" in those popular "Blondie" movies permanently. But he is giving up his sandwich inventing friend for his first fling as an independent producer.

Under the banner of Arthur Lake Productions, Inc—Arthur and Vice-President Irving Allen, and Secretary and Treasurer James Burkette are making "16 Fathoms Deep," a tall yarn about deep sea divers.

In fact, they have already shot many scenes at Tarpon Springs in Florida and returned to Hollywood just before the hurricane.

Through the dear, dear grapevine, I hear that "The Great Gus," the story of a man who yearned to own a circus, and finally does, has been bought by Universal-international.

The book by Thomas W. Douglas, has kept me from my sleep for the last few nights, because I couldn't put it down, and it's a long book.

There is $300,000 invested in Edna Ferber's novel, "Great Son," which Mike Todd was to make for Universal-International. After Mike left, it reverted back to the Goetz organization. It's a great story and has the potentialities for a screen hit.

'Tis whispered on the U-I lot that Chester Erskine will probably be given the producing job, and naturally, an important cast will be assembled. But, with this cutting down of budget, and the money already invested, naturally U-I is moving slowly.

Clark Gable is interested in starring in the life of the Mexican patriot, Zapata, which Metro will film next year. Clark has read the story and will probably do it with Mervyn Leroy directing.

Up jumps our friend, George Jessel with the first negotiations with the widow of Fred Fisher to bring Fisher's life story to the screen—which means the rights to the tunes "Peg O' My Heart" and "Dardenella."

If George closes the deal with Mrs. Fisher, he not only wants to produce it for 20th—he wants to play the Fisher role.

When Alice Faye and Phil Harris were in New York last month, they were greatly impressed with Christine Winsor, a beautiful 22-year-old model from Shreveport, La., whom they met at a party. They invited her to come to Hollywood and offered to help her with a career.

A few weeks ago, Christine arrived, and already her new "managers", Alice and Phil, have lined up a test for her at Eagle-Lion for "Mickey," which starts in October. That's action, wouldn't you say?

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Florence George, Everett Crosby's wife, bowed out of "Music In My Heart" after she was in only one night. Nobody understands why, because her notices were excellent.

Maxine Fife, former Copacabana girl, and Lazla, furniture designer, have made plans to marry very soon.

For the first time since their feud over politics started and Katie Hepburn lambasted Bob Taylor at the Henry Wallace rally, they were on a radio show together.

Gary Cooper is getting more serious about his oil paintings by the moments. He has just finished six canvasses.

Joan Caulfield has been seeing John McClain, the writer, very often of late.

The deal for Robert Montgomery to play the lead in "Act Of Violence" for Warners is very hot.

Kim Hunter goes to New York for one of the roles in "Streetcar Named Desire," Irene Selznick's stage play.

Prince Youka Troubetzkoy, Barbara Hutton's brother-in-law, arrives here next week from Paris and will be the house guest of the Mischa Auers.

Bob Crosby and his wife hosted a party at Peggy Cleary's Talk Of The Town.

That's all today.

Fifty thousand people are engaged in the radio industry in England.

Winner of the talent contest during Boy's Week at Constitution Park is an outstanding example of the training given children at the Moyer School.
JOHN MOYER has kept constantly abreast of the latest and best methods of dance instruction through unending study with the world's greatest teachers. An active member of Chapter 17, Dancing Masters of America, he attends each annual convention where he has an opportunity to meet and study with the masters. Each winter he takes special courses with Michael Nicheloff, one of the greatest dancers ever with the Ballet Russe De-Monte Carlo. Mr. Moyer's annual production of the Cumberland Follies is a fitting testimonial to his ability as a teacher and director. New classes are now being formed for children and adults in all types of dancing and stage training, using New York's latest methods. Mr. Aden Lewis will again this winter be in charge of music at the Moyer School.

JOHN MOYER has kept constantly abreast of the latest and best methods of dance instruction through unending study with the world's greatest teachers. An active member of Chapter 17, Dancing Masters of America, he attends each annual convention where he has an opportunity to meet and study with the masters. Each winter he takes special courses with Michael Nicheloff, one of the greatest dancers ever with the Ballet Russe De-Monte Carlo. Mr. Moyer's annual production of the Cumberland Follies is a fitting testimonial to his ability as a teacher and director. New classes are now being formed for children and adults in all types of dancing and stage training, using New York's latest methods. Mr. Aden Lewis will again this winter be in charge of music at the Moyer School.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Divorced Girl Wastes Time Letting Herself Dwell On The Past

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am nearly 18 years old and divorced from my husband who was no good. After I had separated from him and was waiting for my divorce, I met a man with whom I fell in love and who asked me to marry him. When I told him I had to wait for my divorce, he got mad and enlisted in the army for three years. At first, he wrote to me, but when he went overseas he stopped writing. He is 23.

My heart aches all the time for this boy, and I wrote him two weeks ago but he never answered it. But he keeps writing to his boy friend know if I had gotten married again yet and if I was still in love with him. This boy wrote him and said no. This boy says he is in love with me and he has tried to get me to go out with him, and he might have written to my friend and told him a lot of lies. I just don't know, but I am sure sick and asks about me, wanting to about it.

Do you think I am wasting my time by sitting here at home waiting for this boy and for his letters which I never get?

DORIS

Dear Doris:

Yes, I do think you are wasting your time letting yourself dwell on the past and refusing to turn your attention to the present. It is true that I can see there might be a possibility that this second chap, being in love with you, might have tried to doublecross you with your boy friend, but, since you have written him yourself, he must know that you are still interested in him, so that there is no reason why he couldn't get in touch with you himself if he cared to do so.

Why not be a wise girl and make up your mind that this thing is past and you won't think about it any more?

Penner Wins Two Player Awards In Interstate Loop

Nave And Rose Also Take League Honors

At the banquet climaxing the 1947 year of activities in the Interstate Baseball League, held last night in the Moose Home, Vern Penner and his teammate on the Cumberland Eagles nine, Ted Durbin, were presented three player awards.

$10 for leading the league in the total bases, and $10 for having the most home runs. Durbin, outfielder, was given $10 for having the most runs batted in.

In other awards presented by League Secretary Ray Lippold, David Rose, shortstop for the Centerville entry in the loop, was presented $10 for being the leading hitter, having played in all 28 games scheduled by his team.

Durbin, Penner and Elwood May, ace pitcher for Moorefield, who also was introduced, have signed contracts with the Brooklyn Dodgers. All of the evening's speakers lauded this year's efforts of the three members of the league who will go into higher class leagues next year.

Norman Goetz, Cumberland Legion tosser, won the $10 award for the leading pitcher of the season and Veryle Nave, Centerville, received the same amount for stealing the most bases in the loop competitions.

Police Commissioner William V. Keegan, the main speaker at the dinner, a former local athlete, emphasized that although most of the players in the league were young, each aggregation had an older, experienced head as a guide.

Frank J. Davis, who was referred to by John J. Long, president of the league, as the founder of the Interstate League which is two years old, stressed the need of Cumberland affording suitable fields for the six baseball teams who played in the city this season.

Davis, a former governor of the Moose Lodge here, urged the members present to campaign for a municipal stadium at the present location of Community Park. Davis also told how the league was formed when several teams were refused admittance into the former Pen-Mar League.

President Long praised the managers and members of the teams on having a league in which every team finished its schedule. He also commented on the amateur standing of the players and noted that no professionalism had entered into the ranks of the squads.

Ray Lippold announced that the pennant for the 1947 championship Moorefield team has not arrived but that it would be presented at a ceremony in the West Virginia town.

Mel Nee, who pitched for Centerville in 1945 and 1946 and has just returned from a season in a Florida league, was also present.

2 WOMEN AND CHILD IN LINEUP TO BUY BLEACHER SEATS

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—Thirty baseball fans, including two women, one of whom was accompanied by her six-year-old daughter, lined up for bleacher seats at Yankee Stadium at 6 o'clock tonight to wait through the night for the ticket sale which starts tomorrow morning, a few hours in advance of the World Series opener.

There was an autumn tang in the air as the fans scrambled into line at 6 o'clock, the hour at which the police had previously announced that bleacherites would be permitted to get in line for the $1.10 tickets to the approximately 13,000 unreserved seats in the bleachers.

The two "early birds," Joseph M. Prine, 57 years old, St. Louis, Mo., and Aurthur (Happy) Felsch, 45 who had been chased away by police this morning after waiting all night, were given favored positions at the head of the line.

A detail of 10 patrolmen had little to do in the early evening hours as the fans in the line joked and chatted in friendly fashion.

Officials To Meet

The Western Maryland and Eastern West Virginia Football Officials Association will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Allegany County Board of Education building, Washington Street, John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, president of the association, said yesterday. William Spangler will lead the discussion on rules.

ON THE LINE

by BOB CONSIDINE

International News Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (INS)—The World Series cliche expert, a cousin of Mr. Arthbutnot, who in turn is Frank Sullivan's son by Miss Delaware Watergap (1923), takes the stand to comment on the impending contests:

District Attorney—Mr. Doques, why are you in New York?

Doques—Because all roads led to the Yankee Stadium today to witness the blue ribbon classic of baseball.

D. A.—How would you refer to the rival managers, Messrs. Harris and Shotton?

Doques—The master-minds.

D. A.—Any other aliases?

Doques—Yes. Skippers, little Napoleons, intrepid leaders who overcame insurmountable handicaps, wily pilots and etc.

D. A.—What will the flags atop the Stadium and Ebbets Field do?

Doques—Flutter.

D. A.—How will you refer to Bobo Newsom?

D. A.—As a fan, what are you today?

Doques—Agog.

D. A.—What will the winning team know it has been in?

Doques—It will know it has been in a fight.

D. A.—What is the proper name of Dixie Walker?

Doques—The Peepul's Cherce.

D. A.—How do you refer to 50-year-old Bucky Harris?

Doques—The Boy Wonder.

D. A.—What will the grand stands resemble?

Doques—A riot of color.

D. A.—And if it rains, what will the field be?

Doques—A quagmire.

D. A.—How does the series shape up?

Doques—It will be a case of Yankee power versus Dodger speed.

D. A.—How would you refer to the rival shortstops?

Doques—Flashy.

D. A.—As Happy Chandler throws out the first ball, what will happen?

Doques—Cameras will click and flash-bulbs will pop.

D. A.—What is the proper name of outfielders?

Doques—Pickets, gardeners, flychasers.

D. A.—Who will be sitting in the bleachers?

Doques—Early arrivals and hardy souls who stood an all-night vigil.

D. A.—What is your name for the infield?

Doques—The inner cordon.

D. A.—Where will the telegraphers be sending the news stories?

Doques—To a waiting world.

D. A.—What will the opening day pitchers do?

Doques—Mount the hill and toe the slab.

D. A.—And before that?

Doques—Unlimber their salary wings.

D. A.—What kinds of tunes will the band play before the game?

Doques—Jaunty.

D. A.—What is the attitude of the players?

Doques—Keyed to a fever pitch as they enter the fall classic and seek the pot of gold at the end of the national pastime's hectic pennant race.

D. A.—What will settle over the losers' locker-room?

Doques—A pall.

D. A.—With what kind of determination will George McQuinn bat?

Doques—Grim.

D. A.—What is McQuinn's full name?

Doques—The Cinderella Man, snatched from the brink of oblivion.

D. A.—Who is the Yankee Clipper?

Doques—(Suddenly amnesic)—Larry MacPhail. He upped the price of box seats to eight skins.

D. A.—Have a care, my friend. Now, what is the series?

Doques—(Reverting to type)—A toss-up.

Game Is Sellout

GREEN BAY, Wis., Sept. 29 (AP)—The Green Bay Packers today announced a complete sellout for their National Football League game with the Chicago Cardinals in City Stadium here Oct. 12. The Stadium seats 25,000 fans, but an over-capacity crowd of 25,461 attended yesterday's league opener with the Chicago Bears.

Hank May Leave Pirates

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 29 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph today quoted Hank Greenberg as saying he "will not be with" the Pittsburgh Pirates next year—despite support from "at least one of the Pirate co-owners" for his installation as club manager.

Waiver Asked On Jim Gaffney By The Redskins

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29. (AP)—The Washington Redskins of the National Football League asked for waivers today on three of their players.

They are: Jim Gaffney, Cumberland, a 6 foot 1, 200-pound halfback from the University of Tennessee; Bob DeFruiter a 6-foot, 190 pound halfback from Nebraska, and Don Avery, a 6 foot 4, 255-pound tackle from Southern California.

Bruce Soccerites Play Beall Today

Flintstone To Meet Central At 'Coney

Coach John "Chip" Grindle's Bruce High School booters will open their W. M. I. Soccer League season today when they do battle with Beall High School, Frosturg, defending champions, in Westernport at 3:30 p. m.

It will be the second game of the league season for Beall, Coach Finzel's eleven having scored a 5-0 win over Central in the lid-lifter last Friday in Frostburg.

John H. Weil will make his debut as league referee.

Victorious over Barton last week by the score of 2-0, Flintstone High School, coached by William Saylor, will be angling for its second triumph today when it faces Central High in Lonaconing at 3:30 p. m.

Ed Thompson will officiate.

In games scheduled for Friday, Bruce plays at Barton and Flintstone is host to Beall.

The standings to date:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Beall	1	0	1.000
Flintstone	1	0	1.000
Central	0	1	.000
Barton	0	1	.000
Bruce	0	0	.000

Boston Yanks Tie N. Y. Giants 7-7

BOSTON, Sept. 29—(INS)—The Boston Yanks and the New York Giants fought to a 7 to 7 deadlock tonight at Fenway Park in the opening game of the season for both professional grid teams. All the scoring was done in the first quarter.

The Yanks went 62 yards on two pass plays to score their only touchdown. Paul Governali passed from his own 38 yard marker to Bill Chipley at midfield and Chipley made the Giants' 16 before being downed. On the second play Governali heaved a throw to Hal Crisler for the score. "Monk" Maznicki kicked the extra point.

One play after the next kickoff the New Yorkers—Eastern Division Champs—scored on a 65-yard pass play. Jerry Niles passed to George Franck who ran 40 yards to go over. Ken Strong got the extra point.

The Yanks lost a chance to win the contest when Nick Scollard missed a field goal from the Giants' 24 yard line two minutes before the end of the final quarter.

Score by periods:

Boston Yanks	7	0	0	0	—7
New York Giants	7	0	0	0	—7

Williams Outlasts Lacey At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29 (AP)—Roy (Cyclone) Williams, 160-pounder from New York, outlasted Frankie Lacey, 159, Baltimore, tonight to take a unanimous decision in the 12-round feature of the fight card at the Coliseum.

Williams had the better of the going in the early stages of the bout but Lacey came back strongly and was ahead on points at the end of the eighth round. From that point on, however, the New Yorker held the upper hand and had built up a comfortable margin by the time the final gong sounded.

Team To Practice

The Cumberland Blue Bolts will hold a practice session at Allegany Field today at 5 p. m. All members of the squad must be present with full equipment, the coach said last night, who added that there will be a reissue of uniforms.

THE DODGER FAN

Leather-throated, iron-lunged, with a heart of steel,
Vocal cords of matted wire—tough from head to heel,
Listen to him shake the stands, when the showdown comes,
Listen to him rock the world—rooting for his Bums.

Tougher than a hydrant's base, where the battles spin,
Bloody but unbowed his head, through the rolling din.
They may beat the Dodger team when the base hits hum,
Who can match the Dodger fan—rooting for his Bums?

Dodger Fans Undaunted

The Dodgers are still hunting for the Golden Fleece. They are still trying to locate the road that leads into the promised land, flowing with milk and world series honey.

Their opening gun with the Ynkees this afternoon will be their fourth shot at the big title, where the first three shots were fired with blanks. In these first three postseason forays against Boston, Cleveland and New York, they dropped 14 starts and wound up with only four victories.

They are facing today what looks to be a slightly better club, due to sounder pitching on the Yankee side, but the hottest colony of fans that ever followed a ball club are back of them to the last man, woman and child in Brooklyn.

In a ball park that can handle only 33,000, a season attendance of over 1,800,000 set a new National League record and, win or lose, about 99 per cent of these fanatics will ride straight through to the finish.

The Dodger fan is something different. "I'll tell you what the average Dodger fan is," Al Schacht, baseball's leading comedian told me. "He is a trifle fat—during the summer he carries a coat over his arm—his collar is open at the throat—he is just a little bald—and he is always in a hurry to get to his seat at the game."

If this isn't accurate description any Dodger can start throwing grenades in Schacht's direction.

An odd part of this series is that every fan that crosses the bridge into New York will be pulling for Brooklyn. So will a good slice of New York fans, which means that Brooklyn will get most of the vocal support, in New York and at home.

The Dodger fan has been rampant enough without a world series flag waving over Flatbush. Just what he would do with this proud emblem fluttering against the sky is something beyond any human imagination. The tree that grows in Brooklyn would be less than nothing compared to the staff that carried the emblem—"Champions of the World."

This is a young, hustling, hard-fighting Dodger outfit, and don't overlook the fact that the wild-eye support this Dodger bunch has received from Brooklyn's embattled array of backers has played a leading part. Whatever happens in the wrong direction, the Dodger can always turn to his ancient war cry: "waittill next year."

Stronger Pitching

The main problem Burt Shotton and his young hired men must face through this series concerns what looks to be superior Yankee pitching. There is little Brooklyn's fans can do about this. This is a job entirely up to Dodger bats.

Such pitchers as Branca, Hatten, Lombardi and Gregg have all the stuff any pitching staff needs. Their main trouble has been getting this stuff over the plate at the right spot or spots. Control isn't merely a matter of getting the ball over the plate where usually there is a bat waiting to belt it back. Control is a matter of pitching the right way to each different hitter.

Vic Lombardi is the Dodger pitcher with the best control, and he is likely to be the most effective member of Shotton's staff.

With the series getting under full steam, we can't visualize Brooklyn's hitter scoring many runs off such pitchers as Frank Shea, Allie Reynolds and one or two others, especially with Joe Page waiting for the call.

Shea is one of the best young pitchers baseball has known since a kid named Alexander came along in 1911. And Bucky Harris doesn't have to wait too long if something starts happening to his starting man.

Page is a strike-out workman, and this is the type you need when in trouble. He leads too many of his rivals to the guillotine when even a fly ball might score a run.

A year ago, Cat Brecheen was too much for the Red Sox. He was the best pitcher in the series, with Pollet's arm none too sound. In the same way, young Shea promises to be the star pitcher of this series, and he has plenty in the way of outside help.

Another high spot of the series will be Joe DiMaggio, whatever he does. Joe is rated the best all-around ballplayer in either league, conceding Ted Williams to be the leading hitter. A world series is nothing new to San Francisco Joe. In his day, and time, he has collected over $25,000 from world series, and the worst he can do is to pick up another $4,000 this week.

With the scrap, hustle and speed the Dodgers will throw into their play, it can be closer than it looks, especially if Peter Reiser and Dixie Walker hit as they should hit.

Once again, it is well enough to remember that the pressure is such a series is on the hitter—not the pitcher. At least not to the same extent.

Yes, Terry, Brooklyn Is Still In National League, Bugs Baer, Says

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(Written especially for International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (INS)—Back in 1661 the Schout and the Schepens of the court of Breuckelen never figured they would have a World Series in the old burg.

But in 1860 the Excelsiors of Brooklyn knocked off the Niagaras of Buffalo 50 to 19. And they haven't closed the doors on the monkey-house since.

It was the first recorded tour of any organized passe comitatus equipped with spiked feet, chest protector and slapstick.

The boys played the Brooklyn brand of baseball, claiming everything and conceding nothing. They painted their foul lines with vanishing cream ran trap-lines in the outfield and slid to first on a base on balls.

The Mutuals, the Atlantics and the Eckfords all claimed the Tidewater Championship. But they were all walloped by the Cincinnati Reds in 1869. It wasn't until 1883 that Charley Byrnes put the Brooklyns in the Interstate League. This circuit was hooked up with the American Association.

When the Brooklyns or Mutuals won the American Association flag in 1889, Byrnes took the winners into the National League. And, believe it or the marching Ripleys, they won the National League title in 1890.

All Brooklyn China is chipped. And nowhere do the pots crack louder than in the ballpark. Here are a couple of plays that occurred in the land of the screwball and the home of the crackaloo:

Like Victoria the Dodgers had to be awakened by a committee to be informed they were queen.

They won a game in the last of September they had started in August.

Completely inundated by the soft-boiled climate Beansy Reardon originated the play now known as the umpire's choice.

We all remember how Casey lost a series by striking out.

Another Casey, Yclept Stengel, who tipped his hat and a bird flew out. And who was fired for thumbing his nose instead of a ride.

Sure, they backed into the pennant. But they also backed into 94 games before that. They haven't got any Ty Cobbs, Babe Ruths, Walter Johnsons or Rube Waddells. But that old spider managed to get across the wash-tub. And tomorrow the Dodgers play the Yanks in Manhattan.

But the series doesn't start until they reach Brooklyn. Anything can happen where the tree that grew in Brooklyn was sawed up into extra bleacher seats.

Navy Will Make Trouble In Other Games, Coach Says

Team Returns Home From West Coast

By JOHN CHANDLER

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 28—(AP)—Navy's football team, conquered by California at Berkeley Saturday, flew in from the West Coast early today to give eight future opponents "a run for their money."

Far from disheartened by the 14-7 defeat at hands of the Golden Bears, Coach Tom Hamilton immediately made plans for the Middies' tilt with Columbia at Annapolis Saturday.

"We're no powerhouse," Captain Hamilton declared, "but Navy will play a lot of interesting football this fall with the best teams of the country and I think we'll give them a run for their money. That's not said in boastfulness, as we have nothing to boast about. Remember, we've already lost a game."

Hamilton refused to alibi the California game, although Pacific Coast odds-makers made the sailors 2-1 over the Bears.

"We ran into an excellent team at California—big, well balanced. That game was mid-season football."

Navy coaches were especially pleased with work of the reserves, which had been an unknown quantity during the month-long practice at Whidbey Island Naval Air Station, north of Seattle.

"I am encouraged by development of these reserves," Hamilton said. "I don't think we'll match the manpower of our opponents—excepting perhaps Columbia. Our kids are coming, though, and we feel a lot better after watching them in action against California."

Hamilton expressed belief Navy was much farther ahead than at this time last fall, when the Middies defeated Villanova then dropped the next eight straight games.

"We have a better passing attack, better kicking, tackling, and blocking. More polish, and a year' experience helped. Certainly we weren't up to our Army performance last fall, but for an opener it was a terrific game."

Hamilton set up a powerful linebacking duo in Dick Scott, Navy's candidate for All-America center, and Tex Lawrence, former tackle converted into a second string pivot. Lawrence went in at left halfback on defense.

"They did a great job, and our future opponents will see a lot of them when they try to come through the line."

Navy scouts reported that Columbia, a 40-28 victor over Rutgers, "looked like a million dollars" Saturday.

"When you score 40 points on Rutgers, you have a good team, for Rutgers has a strong outfit too."

Cashiered Boxers Banned In Illinois

CHICAGO, Sept. 29—(INS)—The Illinois State Athletic Commission today banned all promoters, managers, fighters and wrestlers who have been dishonorably discharged from military service from performing in Illinois.

A commission statement referred to Middleweight Champion Rocky Graziano by saying:

"This commission unanimously commends the War Department for giving publicity to Rocky Graziano's war record. It is regrettable, however, that the War Department did not disclose this information earlier."

Graziano won his middleweight crown by beating Tony Zale in Chicago July 17.

The commission ruling continued: "The Commission will not permit any promoter, manager, fighter or wrestler to perform in this state who has been dishonorably discharged from the Army, Navy or Coast Guard."

The War Department recently disclosed that a Rocco Barbella was court martialed and imprisoned on an A.W.O.L. charge while in the Army, then dishonorably discharged. Graziano wrote "Rocco Barbella" as his real name when applying for a license to fight in Illinois.

Assistant Commissioner Jack Elder said:

"If Graziano wishes to fight in Illinois again, it is my understanding that, in light of our ruling today, he will have to produce evidence that he was honorably discharged from service."

POLLACK PLANS BILL TO TAX BOOKMAKERS

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29. (AP)—A plan to levy taxes on Maryland bookmakers and thereby bring in $5,000,000 a year revenue was advanced today by Delegate Pete Pollack (D-Balto 4th), who has been an opponent of the state's sales tax.

Pollack said he would introduce a bill at the projected special session of the Legislature—expected in late October—to fix a $5,000 license fee for each bookmaker and tax all bets at one per cent.

Since the measure would be of an "emergency" classification, it would need a three-fifths vote for passage.

The Fourth District Democrat already had announced he would seek repeal of the sales tax at the special session.

He said today that if complete repeal could not be obtained, he would favor modification to start the sales levy at 50 cents, and use other taxation methods to make up any funds needed by the state.

Pollack said his estimate of $5,000,000 annually from the bookmakers' tax was based on an average $1,000,000 worth of off-track betting in Baltimore alone each day.

Branca Or Lombardi To Oppose Frank Shea In Opening Game Of Series

Shea Gets Telegram From Governor

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (INS)—Frank (Spec) Shea, Connecticut rookie who will pitch the World Series opener for the New York Yankees tomorrow, received the following telegram today from Gov. James L. McConaughty of Connecticut:

"Connecticut is proud of your great record and Bucky Harris' choice of his starting game pitcher. Mow 'em down Spec."

SPORTS TRAIL

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—Seriously speaking:

Dame fortune smiled out loud on four players who will be getting their cuts for taking their cuts in the World Series. They are Hank Behrman of the Dodgers and Bobo Newsom, Allie Reynolds and George McQuinn of the Yankees.

Behrman, was sent to Pittsburgh in the Kirby Higbe deal. He went on a look-see basis, and the Bucs looked but apparently couldn't see. So back he came to the Bums and a championship club.

Newsom has shifted around so often his permanent address is "Pullman" and he's been swapped by everybody but Trader Horn. He was signed last July by the Yanks when it seemed his World Series days are over.

Reynolds came to the Yanks in the deal which sent Joe Gordon to Cleveland last October, and McQuinn, apparently washed up and homeless, speaking from a baseball standpoint, asked for and was given a chance to see what he could do on first base, which was as vacant as a haunted house. He showed 'em.

Five members of the Dodger squad were active participants in the 1941 series with the Yankees, and four Yankees are veterans of that classic.

The Dodgers are Dixie Walker, Pete Reiser, Cookie Lavagetto, Peewee Reese and Hugh Casey. Tommy Henrich, Joe DiMaggio, Phil Rizzuto and Spud Chandler are the Yankee holdovers.

With the exception of Lavagetto, who is supernumerary in the Dodger infield, and Chandler, whose lame arm makes his participation problematical, all these players will play very active parts this year, their presence adding class as well as experience.

It's a lot easier to take a stab at who will be the series' hero than at who will be the series goat, as the goats crop up at the most unexpected times. A ball muffed at a crucial point, or a moment's hesitation such as made Johnny Pesky the goat of the 1946 series, or even a strikeout or hitting into a double play when it means the ball game, can provide a player with a goatee and horns.

Our first choice for the series hero of the Yankees is DiMaggio, who has the sheer class to come through in the tight spots. Our second Yankee choice would be husky Bill Johnson, who had quite a time for himself on Dodger pitching last spring.

From the Brooklyn angle, we'd name Jackie Robinson, who is liable to be the Pepper Martin of the classic with his base running and all-around flashy play. If Jackie is unawed by the importance of the event and plays his usual game, he could very well emerge as Mr. Big.

Something, though, an unheralded guy becomes the man of the hour. A light hitter goes on a batting rampage, a lightly-regarded pitcher handcuffs the opposing team, a substitute plays the game of his life in the field—there are many roads to glory.

It may or may not mean anything, but for the past eight years the series has been won by the team in whose park it opened. Since 1939 the leagues have alternated in winning, and on that basis it's the Yankees' turn now. Maybe somebody should tell them.

Yanks Favored 13-10 To Take First Game

By BOB CONSIDINE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—(INS)—The biggest crowd in World Series history will be in the stands when the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers collide loudly in the first game of the 1947 World Series tomorrow afternoon at Yankee Stadium. Game time is 1:30 p. m. (EST).

Frank Shea

Close to 75,000 fans will fill "the house that Ruth built" to its rafters to watch the favored Yankees, led by Bucky Harris, throw the kid battery of Frank Shea and Yogi Berra at a Dodger team whose confidence grows by the hour.

Here's how they'll line up:

YANKS

Stirnweiss, 2b (.256)
Henrich, rf (.289)
Berra, c (.280)
DiMaggio, cf (.315)
McQuinn, 1b (.304)
Johnson, 3b (.285)
Lindell, lf (.275)
Rizzuto, ss (.276)
Shea, p (14-5)

DODGERS

Stanky, 2b (.252)
Robinson, 1b (.297)
Reiser, cf (.306)
Walker, rf (.306)
Hermanski, lf (.275)
Edwards, c (.295)
Jorgensen, 3b (.274)
Reese, ss (.284)
Lombardi (12-11) or Branca (21-12)

UMPIRES: Rommell and Boyer (American League); Pinelli and Goetz (National League).

Ancient, placid Burt Shotton, who stepped into the Dodger management to replace Leo Durocher when the latter was barred for the 1947 season, will toss either Ralph Branca or little Vic Lombardi at the Yanks—who are content that they will give their organization its 11th world series title in 15 starts.

Despite the gamble Harris is taking by choosing as his opening battery the first rookie combination in World Series history, the Yanks ruled 13-10 choices to win the first game and 8-to-5 shots to win the series. Local bookmakers say it will be the bettingest series ever played.

Lombardi May Start

Branca, a 21-game winner, appeared to be Shotton's obvious choice until today, when the bespectacled manager told reporters that he would not name the Brooklyn pitcher until a half hour before tomorrow's game. He indicated that he favored Lombardi, a diminutive southpaw, because Vic's pitching is most effective in a spacious stadium. A lot of Dodgers, though, thought Branca would get the nod.

Ralph Branca

If Lombardi goes, he will be followed in the second game by Branca, a burly right hander with a very fast ball.

Allie Reynolds, acquired from the Indians this season, will pitch the second game for the Yankees, and garrulous, veteran Bobo Newsom will be on the hill for the American League Champions when the series shifts to Ebbets Field Thursday.

Vic Lombardi

Everybody appeared to be ready except the weather man. The gent predicted that there would be showers tomorrow morning but that the weather would clear up in time for the game.

McCarthy Signs Two Year Contract As Manager Of Boston Red Sox

Joe Cronin Made General Manager

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (INS)—Joe McCarthy, who piloted the New York Yankees to eight American League pennants and seven world's championships berore retiring to his Buffalo farm last year, today was appointed manager of the Boston Red Sox for the next two years.

McCarthy succeeds Joe E. Cronin, who was elevated to the post of general manager to replace the ailing Eddie Collins.

Collins will remain with the club as an advisory vice-president.

The terms of McCarthy's contract were not revealed, but it was estimated he will receive at least $40,000 a year.

That McCarthy would succeed Cronin had been rumored freely for

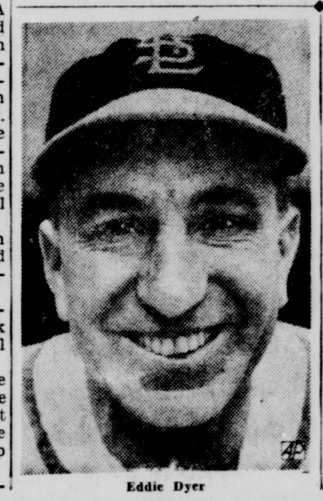
Breadon Retains Eddie Dyer As Manager Of Cardinals For 1948

Terms Of Contract Are Not Disclosed



Eddie Dyer

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 29—(AP)—Eddie Dyer, whose St. Louis Cardinals made a spirited but unsuccessful bid to repeat as National League Champions after a miserable start this season, signed a one-year contract today to continue as manager of the club.

Signing of the 46-year-old Texan was announced after a brief conference between Dyer and Owner Sam Breadon. They said the new agreement was "mutually satisfactory" bu adhered to custom in refusing to disclose terms.

Breadon smiled but was noncommital when asked whether he had given Dyer a boost in wages. He added he had known Dyer for a long time and felt sure he could

Penner Wins Two Player Awards In Interstate Loop

Nave And Rose Also Take League Honors

At the banquet climaxing the 1947 year of activities in the Interstate Baseball League, held last night in the Moose Home, Vern Penner and his teammate on the Cumberland Eagles nine, Ted Durbin, were presented three player awards.

$10 for leading the league in the total bases, and $10 for having the most home runs. Durbin, outfielder, was given $10 for having the most runs batted in.

In other awards presented by League Secretary Ray Lippold, David Rose, shortstop for the Centerville entry in the loop, was presented $10 for being the leading hitter, having played in all 28 games scheduled by his team.

Durbin, Penner and Elwood May, ace pitcher for Moorefield, who also was introduced, have signed contracts with the Brooklyn Dodgers. All of the evening's speakers lauded this year's efforts of the three members of the league who will go into higher class leagues next year.

Norman Goetz, Cumberland Legion tosser, won the $10 award for the leading pitcher of the season and Veryle Nave, Centerville, received the same amount for stealing the most bases in the loop competitions.

Police Commissioner William V. Keegan, the main speaker at the dinner, a former local athlete, emphasized that although most of the players in the league were young, each aggregation had an older, experienced head as a guide.

Frank J. Davis, who was referred to by John J. Long, president of the league, as the founder of the Interstate League which is two years old, stressed the need of Cumberland affording suitable fields for the six baseball teams who played in the city this season.

Davis, a former governor of the Moose Lodge here, urged the members present to campaign for a municipal stadium at the present location of Community Park. Davis also told how the league was formed when several teams were refused admittance into the former Penn-Mar League.

President Long praised the managers and members of the teams on having a league in which every team finished its schedule. He also commented on the amateur standing of the players and noted that no professionalism had entered into the ranks of the squads.

Ray Lippold announced that the pennant for the 1947 championship Moorefield team has not arrived but that it would be presented at a ceremony in the West Virginia town.

Mel Nee, who pitched for Centerville in 1945 and 1946 and has just returned from a season in a Florida league, was also present.

2 WOMEN AND CHILD IN LINEUP TO BUY BLEACHER SEATS

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—Thirty baseball fans, including two women, one of whom was accompanied by her six-year-old daughter, lined up for bleacher seats at Yankee Stadium at 6 o'clock tonight to wait through the night for the ticket sale which starts tomorrow morning, a few hours in advance of the World Series opener.

There was an autumn tang in the air as the fans scrambled into line at 6 o'clock, the hour at which the police had previously announced that bleacherites would be permitted to get in line for the $1.10 tickets to the approximately 13,000 unreserved seats in the bleachers.

The two "early birds," Joseph M. Prine, 57 years old, St. Louis, Mo., and Aurthur (Happy) Felsch, 45 who had been chased away by police this morning after waiting all night, were given favored positions at the head of the line.

A detail of 10 patrolmen had little to do in the early evening hours as the fans in the line joked and chatted in friendly fashion.

Officials To Meet

The Western Maryland and Eastern West Virginia Football Officials Association will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Allegany County Board of Education building, Washington Street, John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, president of the association, said yesterday. William Spangler will lead the discussion on rules.

ON THE LINE

International News Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 29. (INS)—The World Series cliche expert, a cousin of Mr. Arthbutnot, who in turn is Frank Sullivan's son by Miss Delaware Watergap (1923), takes the stand to comment on the impending contests:

District Attorney—Mr. Doques, why are you in New York?

Doques—Because all roads led to the Yankee Stadium today to witness the blue ribbon classic of baseball.

D. A.—How would you refer to the rival managers, Messrs. Harris and Shotton?

Doques—The master-minds.

D. A.—Any other aliases?

Doques—Yes. Skippers, little Napoleons, intrepid leaders who overcame insurmountable handicaps, wily pilots and etc.

D. A.—What will the flags atop the Stadium and Ebbets Field do?

Doques—Flutter.

D. A.—How will you refer to Bobo Newsom?

D. A.—As a fan, what are you today?

Doques—Agog.

D. A.—What will the winning team know it has been in?

Doques—It will know it has been in a fight.

D. A.—What is the proper name of Dixie Walker?

Doques—The Peepul's Cherce.

D. A.—How do you refer to 50-year-old Bucky Harris?

Doques—The Boy Wonder.

D. A.—What will the grand stands resemble?

Doques—A riot of color.

D. A.—And if it rains, what will the field be?

Doques—A quagmire.

D. A.—How does the series shape up?

Doques—It will be a case of Yankee power versus Dodger speed.

D. A.—How would you refer to the rival shortstops?

Doques—Flashy.

D. A.—As Happy Chandler throws out the first ball, what will happen?

Doques—Cameras will click and flash-bulbs will pop.

D. A.—What is the proper name of outfielders?

Doques—Pickets, gardeners, flychasers.

D. A.—Who will be sitting in the bleachers?

Doques—Early arrivals and hardy souls who stood an all-night vigil.

D. A.—What is your name for the infield?

Doques—The inner cordon.

D. A.—Where will the telegraphers be sending the news stories?

Doques—To a waiting world.

D. A.—What will the opening day pitchers do?

Doques—Mount the hill and toe the slab.

D. A.—And before that?

Doques — Unlimber their salary wings.

D. A.—What kinds of tunes will the band play before the game?

Doques—Jaunty.

D. A.—What is the attitude of the players?

Doques—Keyed to a fever pitch as they enter the fall classic and seek the pot of gold at the end of the national pastime's hectic pennant race.

D. A.—What will settle over the losers' locker-room?

Doques—A pall.

D. A.—With what kind of determination will George McQuinn bat?

Doques—Grim.

D. A.—What is McQuinn's full name?

Doques — The Cinderella Man, snatched from the brink of oblivion.

D. A.—Who is the Yankee Clipper?

Doques — (Suddenly amnesic) — Larry MacPhail. He upped the price of box seats to eight skins.

D. A.—Have a care, my friend. Now, what is the series?

Doques—(Reverting to type) — A toss-up.

Boston Yanks Tie N. Y. Giants 7-7

BOSTON, Sept. 29—(INS)—The Boston Yanks and the New York Giants fought to a 7 to 7 deadlock tonight at Fenway Park in the opening game of the season for both professional grid teams. All the scoring was done in the first quarter.

The Yanks went 62 yards on two pass plays to score their only touchdown. Paul Governali passed from his own 38 yard marker to Bill Chipley at midfield and Chipley made the Giants' 16 before being downed. On the second play Governali heaved a throw to Hal Crisler for the score. "Monk" Maznicki kicked the extra point.

One play after the next kickoff the New Yorkers—Eastern Division Champs—scored on a 65-yard pass play. Jerry Niles passed to George Franck who ran 40 yards to go over. Ken Strong got the extra point.

The Yanks lost a chance to win the contest when Nick Scollard missed a field goal from the Giants' 24 yard line two minutes before the end of the final quarter.

Score by periods:

Williams Outlasts Lacey At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29 (AP)—Roy (Cyclone) Williams, 160-pounder from New York, outlasted Frankie Lacey, 159, Baltimore, tonight to take a unanimous decision in the 12-round feature of the fight card at the Coliseum.

Williams had the better of the going in the early stages of the bout but Lacey came back strongly and was ahead on points at the end of the eighth round. From that point on, however, the New Yorker held the upper hand and had built up a comfortable margin by the time the final gong sounded.

Team To Practice

The Cumberland Blue Bolts will hold a practice session at Allegany Field today at 5 p. m. All members of the squad must be present with full equipment, the coach said last night, who added that there will be a reissue of uniforms.

THE DODGER FAN

Leather-throated, iron-lunged, with a heart of steel,
Vocal cords of matted wire—tough from head to heel,
Listen to him shake the stands, when the showdown comes,
Listen to him rock the world—rooting for his Bums.

Tougher than a hydrant's base, where the battles spin,
Bloody but unbowed his head, through the rolling din.
They may beat the Dodger team when the base hits hum.
Who can match the Dodger fan—rooting for his Bums?

Dodger Fans Undaunted

The Dodgers are still hunting for the Golden Fleece. They are still trying to locate the road that leads into the promised land, flowing with milk and world series honey.

Their opening gun with the Yankees this afternoon will be their fourth shot at the big title, where the first three shots were fired with blanks. In these first three post-season forays against Boston, Cleveland and New York, they dropped 14 starts and wound up with only four victories.

They are facing today what looks to be a slightly better club, due to sounder pitching on the Yankee side, but the hottest colony of fans that ever followed a ball club are back of them to the last man, woman and child in Brooklyn.

In a ball park that can handle only 33,000, a season attendance of over 1,800,000 set a new National League record and, win or lose, about 99 per cent of these fanatics will ride straight through to the finish.

The Dodger fan is something different. "I'll tell you what the average Dodger fan is," Al Schacht, baseball's leading comedian told me. "He is a trifle fat—during the summer he carries a coat over his arm—his collar is open at the throat—he is just a little bald—and he is always in a hurry to get to his seat at the game."

If this isn't accurate description any Dodger can start throwing grenades in Schacht's direction.

An odd part of this series is that every fan that crosses the bridge into New York will be pulling for Brooklyn. So will a good slice of New York fans, which means that Brooklyn will get most of the vocal support, in New York and at home.

The Dodger fan has been rampant enough without a world series flag waving over Flatbush. Just what he would do with this proud emblem fluttering against the sky is something beyond any human imagination. The tree that grows in Brooklyn would be less than nothing compared to the staff that carried the emblem—"Champions of the World."

This is a young, hustling, hard-fighting Dodger outfit, and don't overlook the fact that the wild-eye support this Dodger bunch has received from Brooklyn's embattled array of backers has played a leading part. Whatever happens in the wrong direction, the Dodger can always turn to his ancient war cry: "waittill next year."

Stronger Pitching

The main problem Burt Shotton and his young hired men must face through this series concerns what looks to be superior Yankee pitching. There is little Brooklyn's fans can do about this. This is a job entirely up to Dodger bats.

Such pitchers as Branca, Hatten, Lombardi and Gregg have all the stuff any pitching staff needs. Their main trouble has been getting this stuff over the plate at the right spot or spots. Control isn't merely a matter of getting the ball over the plate where usually there is a bat waiting to belt it back. Control is a matter of pitching the right way to each different hitter.

Vic Lombardi is the Dodger pitcher with the best control, and he is likely to be the most effective member of Shotton's staff.

With the series getting under full steam, we can't visualize Brooklyn's hitter scoring many runs off such pitchers as Frank Shea, Allie Reynolds and one or two others, especially with Joe Page waiting for the call.

Shea is one of the best young pitchers baseball has known since a kid named Alexander came along in 1911. And Bucky Harris doesn't have to wait too long if something starts happening to his starting man.

Page is a strike-out workman, and this is the type you need when in trouble. He leads too many of his rivals to the guillotine when even a fly ball might score a run.

A year ago, Cat Brecheen was too much for the Red Sox. He was the best pitcher in the series, with Pollet's arm none too sound. In the same way, young Shea promises to be the star pitcher of this series, and he has plenty in the way of outside help.

Another high spot of the series will be Joe DiMaggio, whatever he does. Joe is rated the best all-around ballplayer in either league, conceding Ted Williams to be the leading hitter. A world series is nothing new to San Francisco Joe. In his day, and time, he has collected over $25,000 from world series, and the worst he can do is to pick up another $4,000 this week.

With the scrap, hustle and speed the Dodgers will throw into their play, it can be closer than it looks, especially if Peter Reiser and Dixie Walker hit as they should hit.

Once again, it is well enough to remember that the pressure is such a series is on the hitter—not the pitcher. At least not to the same extent.

Yes, Terry, Brooklyn Is Still In National League, Bugs Baer, Says

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(Written especially for International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (INS)—Back in 1661 the Schout and the Schepens of the court of Breuckelen never figured they would have a World Series in the old burg.

But in 1860 the Excelsiors of Brooklyn knocked off the Niagaras of Buffalo 50 to 19. And they haven't closed the doors on the monkey-house since.

It was the first recorded tour of any organized passe comitatus equipped with spiked feet, chest protector and slapstick.

The boys played the Brooklyn brand of baseball, claiming everything and conceding nothing. They painted their foul lines with vanishing cream ran trap-lines in the outfield and slid to first on a base on balls.

The Mutuals, the Atlantics and the Eckfords all claimed the Tidewater Championship. But they were all walloped by the Cincinnati Reds in 1869. It wasn't until 1883 that Charley Byrnes put the Brooklyns in the Interstate League. This circuit was hooked up with the American Association.

When the Brooklyns or Mutuals won the American Association flag in 1889, Byrnes took the winners into the National League. And, believe it or the marching Ripleys, they won the National League title in 1890.

All Brooklyn China is chipped. And nowhere do the pots crack louder than in the ballpark. Here are a couple of plays that occurred in the land of the screwball and the home of the crackaloo:

Like Victoria the Dodgers had to be awakened by a committee to be informed they were queen.

They won a game in the last of September they had started in August.

Completely inundated by the soft-boiled climate Beansy Reardon originated the play now known as the umpire's choice.

We all remember how Casey lost a series by striking out.

Another Casey, Yclept Stengel, who tipped his hat and a bird flew out. And who was fired for thumbing his nose instead of a ride.

Sure, they backed into the pennant. But they also backed into 94 games before that. They haven't got any Ty Cobbs, Babe Ruths, Walter Johnsons or Rube Waddells. But that old spider managed to get across the wash-tub. And tomorrow the Dodgers play the Yanks in Manhattan.

But the series doesn't start until they reach Brooklyn. Anything can happen where the tree that grew in Brooklyn was sawed up into extra bleacher seats.

Navy Will Make Trouble In Other Games, Coach Says

Team Returns Home From West Coast

By JOHN CHANDLER

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 28—(AP)—Navy's football team, conquered by California at Berkeley Saturday, flew in from the West Coast early today to give eight future opponents "a run for their money."

Far from disheartened by the 14-7 defeat at hands of the Golden Bears, Coach Tom Hamilton immediately made plans for the Middies' tilt with Columbia at Annapolis Saturday.

"We're no powerhouse," Captain Hamilton declared, "but Navy will play a lot of interesting football this fall with the best teams of the country and I think we'll give them a run for their money. That's not said in boastfulness, as we have nothing to boast about. Remember, we've already lost a game."

Hamilton refused to alibi the California game, although Pacific Coast odds-makers made the sailors 2-1 over the Bears.

"We ran into an excellent team at California—big, well balanced. That game was mid-season football."

Navy coaches were especially pleased with work of the reserves, which had been an unknown quantity during the month-long practice at Whidbey Island Naval Air Station, north of Seattle.

"I am encouraged by development of these reserves," Hamilton said. "I don't think we'll match the manpower of our opponents—excepting perhaps Columbia. Our kids are coming, though, and we feel a lot better after watching them in action against California."

Hamilton expressed belief Navy was much farther ahead than at this time last fall, when the Middies defeated Villanova then dropped the next eight straight games.

"We have a better passing attack, better kicking, tackling, and blocking. More polish, and a year' experience helped. Certainly we weren't up to our Army performance last fall, but for an opener it was a terrific game."

Hamilton set up a powerful linebacking duo in Dick Scott, Navy's candidate for All-America center, and Tex Lawrence, former tackle converted into a second string pivot. Lawrence went in at left halfback on defense.

"They did a great job, and our future opponents will see a lot of them when they try to come through the line."

Navy scouts reported that Columbia, a 40-28 victor over Rutgers, "looked like a million dollars" Saturday.

"When you score 40 points on Rutgers, you have a good team, for Rutgers has a strong outfit too."

Most of the Columbia Lions, who defeated Navy 23-14 last year, will face the Middies again.

Cashiered Boxers Banned In Illinois

CHICAGO, Sept. 29—(INS)—The Illinois State Athletic Commission today banned all promoters, managers, fighters and wrestlers who have been dishonorably discharged from military service from performing in Illinois.

A commission statement referred to Middleweight Champion Rocky Graziano by saying:

"This commission unanimously commends the War Department for giving publicity to Rocky Graziano's war record. It is regrettable, however, that the War Department did not disclose this information earlier."

Graziano won his middleweight crown by beating Tony Zale in Chicago July 17.

"The Commission will not permit any promoter, manager, fighter or wrestler to perform in this state who has been dishonorably discharged from the Army, Navy or Coast Guard."

The War Department recently disclosed that a Rocco Barbella was court martialed and imprisoned on an A.W.O.L. charge while in the Army, then dishonorably discharged. Graziano wrote "Rocco Barbella" as his real name when applying for a license to fight in Illinois.

Assistant Commissioner Jack Elder said:

"If Graziano wishes to fight in Illinois again, it is my understanding that, in light of our ruling today, he will have to produce evidence that he was honorably discharged from service."

POLLACK PLANS BILL TO TAX BOOKMAKERS

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29. (AP) — A plan to levy taxes on Maryland bookmakers and thereby bring in $5,000,000 a year revenue was advanced today by Delegate Pete Pollack (D-Balto 4th), who has been an opponent of the state's sales tax.

Pollack said he would introduce a bill at the projected special session of the Legislature—expected in late October—to fix a $5,000 license fee for each bookmaker and tax all bets at one per cent.

Since the measure would be of an "emergency" classification, it would need a three-fifths vote for passage.

The Fourth District Democrat already had announced he would seek repeal of the sales tax at the special session.

He said today that if complete repeal could not be obtained, he would favor modification to start the sales levy at 50 cents, and use other taxation methods to make up any funds needed by the state.

Pollack said his estimate of $5,000,000 annually from the bookmakers' tax was based on an average $1,000,000 worth of off-track betting in Baltimore alone each day.

Shea Gets Telegram From Governor

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (INS)—Frank (Spec) Shea, Connecticut rookie who will pitch the World Series opener for the New York Yankees tomorrow, received the following telegram today from Gov. James L. McConaughty of Connecticut:

"Connecticut is proud of your great record and Bucky Harris' choice of his starting game pitcher. Mow 'em down Spec."

SPORTS TRAIL

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP) — Seriously speaking:

Dame fortune smiled out loud on four players who will be getting their cuts for taking their cuts in the World Series. They are Hank Behrman of the Dodgers and Bobo Newsom, Allie Reynolds and George McQuinn of the Yankees.

Behrman, was sent to Pittsburgh in the Kirby Higbe deal. He went on a look-see basis, and the Bucs looked but apparently couldn't see. So back he came to the Bums and a championship club.

Newsom has shifted around so often his permanent address is "Pullman" and he's been swapped by everybody but Trader Horn. He was signed last July by the Yanks when it seemed his World Series days are over.

Reynolds came to the Yanks in the deal which sent Joe Gordon to Clevelano last October, and McQuinn, apparently washed up and homeless, speaking from a baseball standpoint, asked for and was given a chance to see what he could do on first base, which was as vacant as a haunted house. He showed 'em.

Five members of the Dodger squad were active participants in the 1941 series with the Yankees, and four Yankees are veterans of that classic.

The Dodgers are Dixie Walker, Pete Reiser, Cookie Lavagetto, Peewee Reese and Hugh Casey. Tommy Henrich, Joe DiMaggio, Phil Rizzuto and Spud Chandler are the Yankee holdovers.

With the exception of Lavagetto, who is supernumerary in the Dodger infield, and Chandler, whose lame arm makes his participation problematical, all these players will play very active parts this year, their presence adding class as well as experience.

It's a lot easier to take a stab at who will be the series' hero than at who will be the series goat, as the goats crop up at the most unexpected times. A ball muffed at a crucial point, or a moment's hesitation such as made Johnny Pesky the goat of the 1946 series, or even a strikeout or hitting into a double play when it means the ball game, can provide a player with a goatee and horns.

Our first choice for the series hero of the Yankees is DiMaggio, who has the sheer class to come through in the tight spots. Our second Yankee choice would be husky Bill Johnson, who had quite a time for himself on Dodger pitching last spring.

From the Brooklyn angle, we'd name Jackie Robinson, who is liable to be the Pepper Martin of the classic with his base running and all-around flashy play. If Jackie is unawed by the importance of the event and plays his usual game, he could very well emerge as Mr. Big.

Something, though, an unheralded guy becomes the man of the hour. A light hitter goes on a batting rampage, a lightly-regarded pitcher handcuffs the opposing team, a substitute plays the game of his life in the field—there are many roads to glory.

It may or may not mean anything, but for the past eight years the series has been won by the team in whose park it opened. Since 1939 the leagues have alternated in winning, and on that basis it's the Yankees' turn now. Maybe somebody should tell them.

Yanks Favored 13-10 To Take First Game

By BOB CONSIDINE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—(INS)—The biggest crowd in World Series history will be in the stands when the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers collide loudly in the first game of the 1947 World Series tomorrow afternoon at Yankee Stadium. Game time is 1:30 p. m. (EST).

Frank Shea

Close to 75,000 fans will fill "the house that Ruth built" to its rafters to watch the favored Yankees, led by Bucky Harris, throw the kid battery of Frank Shea and Yogi Berra at a Dodger team whose confidence grows by the hour.

Here's how they'll line up:

UMPIRES: Rommell and Boyer (American League); Pinelli and Goetz (National League).

Ancient, placid Burt Shotton, who stepped into the Dodger management to replace Leo Durocher when the latter was barred for the 1947 season, will toss either Ralph Branca or little Vic Lombardi at the Yanks—who are content that they will give their organization its 11th world series title in 15 starts.

Despite the gamble Harris is taking by choosing as his opening battery the first rookie combination in World Series history, the Yanks ruled 13-10 choices to win the first game and 8-to-5 shots to win the series. Local bookmakers say it will be the bettingest series ever played.

Lombardi May Start

Branca, a 21-game winner, appeared to be Shotton's obvious choice until today, when the bespectacled manager told reporters that he would not name the Brooklyn pitcher until a half hour before tomorrow's game. He indicated that he favored Lombardi, a diminutive southpaw, because Vic's pitching is most effective in a spacious stadium. A lot of Dodgers, though, thought Branca would get the nod.

Ralph Branca

If Lombardi goes, he will be followed in the second game by Branca, a burly right hander with a very fast ball.

Allie Reynolds, acquired from the Indians this season, will pitch the second game for the Yankees, and garrulous, veteran Bobo Newsom will be on the hill for the American League Champions when the series shifts to Ebbets Field Thursday.

Vic Lombardi

Everybody appeared to be ready except the weather man. The gent predicted that there would be showers tomorrow morning but that the weather would clear up in time for the game.

McCarthy Signs Two Year Contract As Manager Of Boston Red Sox

Joe Cronin Made General Manager

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (INS)—Joe McCarthy, who piloted the New York Yankees to eight American League pennants and seven world's championships berore retiring to his Buffalo farm last year, today was appointed manager of the Boston Red Sox for the next two years.

McCarthy succeeds Joe E. Cronin, who was elevated to the post of general manager to replace the ailing Eddie Collins.

Collins will remain with the club as an advisory vice-president.

The terms of McCarthy's contract were not revealed, but it was estimated he will receive at least $40,000 a year.

Terms Of Contract Are Not Disclosed

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 29—(AP)—Eddie Dyer, whose St. Louis Cardinals made a spirited but unsuccessful bid to repeat as National League Champions after a miserable start this season, signed a one-year contract today to continue as manager of the club.

Signing of the 46-year-old Texan was announced after a brief conference between Dyer and Owner Sam Breadon. They said the new agreement was "mutually satisfactory" bu adhered to custom in refusing to disclose terms.

Breadon smiled but was noncommital when asked whether he had given Dyer a boost in wages. He added he had known Dyer for a long time and felt sure he could

Idaho Coach Gets Great Welcome After Team Turns Back Stanford

Dixie Howell Gets Off To Fine Start

MOSCOW, Idaho, Sept. 29—(AP)—Millard F. (Dixie) Howell, the man who knows what to do about the T-formation, returned today to one of the most fervent welcomes in the University of Idaho's football history.

The former Alabama passing genius set out this fall to cure a chronic defeatism at Idaho in persons five years.

But the "poor kids" who lost all their Pacific Coast Conference games last season caught the spark ahead of schedule and Saturday defeated the Stanford Indians 19-13 for the first time in history.

Telephoned congratulations poured in from every corner of a state which in the past has viewed Idaho's football program as something of a local civic project.

A crowd of 5,000 swarmed to the Vandals homecoming train carrying "Dixie For Governor" banners. University classwork was abandoned for the celebration and even Moscow city schools closed.

Suddenly the Vandals were rated at least even with their traditional rivals, the Washington State Cougars, in this week's homecoming game. The first sellout in the history of Idaho's stadium was in prospect for the Vandals' attempt to beat the Cougars for the first time since 1925.

As an awed Idaho greeted their new coach, Howell calmly drawled that "a team that has a terrific will to win usually can win."

Branca

ball and order the drama underway, while more than 400 visiting and local newspapermen go to work and the Mutual Radio Broadcast (by Red Barber and Mel Allen) and television 'casts begin.

In the stands tomorrow, weaving and bobbing with every pitch, will be the greatest galaxy of old time stars ever gathered to watch a game. They were brought to the series as guests of Larry MacPhail, president of the Yankees. Among them are the ailing Babe Ruth, and Ty Cobb, Cy Young, Home Run Baker, Stan Coveleski, Lefty Grove, Mickey Cochrane, Tris Speaker, Duffy Lewis, Harry Hooper, Wally Pipp, Bob Meusel, Waite Hoyt, Wally Schang, Big Ed Walsh and Earle Combs.

Jackie Robinson

An attempt was made today, in some quarters, to turn a brief misunderstanding between Bucky Harris and Burt Shotton into a "feud."

Seems that the Dodgers were supposed to work out in the Stadium today but exercised, instead, at Ebbets Field. Shotton hastily squared things by saying there was no significance behind the decision to operate today on his home grounds.

Earlier reports led some to believe that Shotton had been turned down by Harris when the Brooklyn manager sought permission to use the Stadium.

The clubs are in good shape, physically. Bruce Edwards, the Dodger catcher, has a few sore fingers, but they are not expected to handicap him greatly or deprive the Dodgers of the superiority they enjoy in the receiving department.

Spud Chandler's arm, bad since early in the season, is right again and the veteran probably will start the fourth game. There is a sprinkling of common colds through both clubs.

Robinson Is Drawing Card

Demands for tickets continued to swamp both the Yankee and Dodger offices today, though the clubs announced two weeks ago that they not only were sold out completely but were in the process of returning about $5,000,000 in checks and money orders.

Scalpers easily got $100 for a $24 strip of Yankee tickets tonight, but there were, as a matter of fact, few tickets of any kind available. Even the scalpers want to see this first "Subway Series" since 1941.

Tremendous interest surrounds the appearance on the field tomorrow of Jackie Robinson, the first Negro ever to play in a World Series.

Robinson is the best bunter and base-runner in the series. His 28 stolen bases this year compares sharply with the record of his first-base rival, George McQuinn, who did not steal a base during the entire year. In fact, Robinson stole two more bases this year than the whole Yankee team.

The inter-borough rivalry will look familiar to such veterans of the hectic 1941 Yankee-Dodger series as Joe DiMaggio, Tommy Henrich, Spud Chandler, Scooter Rizzuto, Hugh Casey, Dixie Walker, Pete Reiser, Peewee Reese and Cookie Lavagetto.

Charley Keller, a big gun in the Yankees 4-1 triumph over the 1941 Dodgers, will sit on the Yankee bench in uniform, but will be unable to play. He recently underwent a difficult operation on his spine.

The Dodgers appear to be better fixed for utility men than the Yankees, but that's not worrying the Yanks—whose regulars have proved more than durable during the season.

The Yanks don't think they're the best team ever to wear the famed uniform, but they believe they've got enough of the traditional Yankee punch to take this one as easily as they took the Dodgers of 1941.

McCarthy Signs

months, although Marse Joe said only yesterday that he expected to be "on the farm" next year.

McCarthy is an old hand at winning pennants. He piloted the Chicago Cubs to the National League flag in 1929 before beginning his career with the Yankees as "American League pennant monopolist."

His only World Series defeat as manager of the Yankees was inflicted by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1942. Marse Joe squared accounts for that setback a year later.

McCarthy's relations with the New York Club became strained last year under the changed ownership headed by Larry MacPhail, and he retired with the greatest record in managerial history.

To further embellish that record, Marse Joe now will have to beat his former charges those same Yankees. The Red Sox were heavily favored this spring to repeat their triumph of last year, but wound up in third place.

McCarthy, who came to New York to manage the Yankee "Alumni" against the American League oldtimers in yesterday's exhibition at Yankee Stadium, looks fit, although a trifle thinner than he was a year ago.

Marse Joe was said to be in failing health when he stepped out as Yankee leader in mid-season last year, to be succeeded by Bill Dickey. The latter lasted until September when he was released by Jonnny Neun, now managing the Circinnati Reds.

Bucky Harris, former manager in Washington, Detroit, Boston and Philadelphia, took charge of the Yankees this year and won the pennant by 12 games.

Breadon Retains

get along with him for a third season.

Several of the older Cardinal players, including team Captain Terry Moore, were in an ante room and nodded approval when Breadon came out of his office with the announcement.

Both Breadon and Dyer said they were expecting the club to do well next year. "We have a good ball club," Breadon said, "and although some people in the East think the Cardinals are dead and buried, we expect them to be looking up to us next season."

The Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE SPORTS WRITER

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—(INS)—Some sagebrush sage once said that nothing succeeds like success.

And the lad who said that must have had Jackie Robinson, the negro star of the Dodgers, in mind.

I saw Jackie the first day he hit New York last spring. He was somewhat shy, unsure of himself and dubious about how the Dodgers and fans would receive him. He didn't know he would make out as a first baseman.

But you should have seen and heard the young man in the Dodger dressing room just before a workout at noon today.

Cocky and Confident

He was just as cocky and confident as the other Dodgers that they would beat the Yanks' brains out. He was laughing and kidding about the Yankee pitchers.

"Tell me," he chuckled, "how these Yankee pitchers are as fielders? Believe me, they better be good because I'm going to give them lots of chances."

Jackie meant, of course, that he was going to bunt early and often and in his case this was no idle threat because he is without doubt the best bunter in baseball. Any pitcher who can't field fast and accurately will be just out of luck against him.

"They tell me," he continued as he pulled on a sweat shirt, "that those Yankee catchers don't throw so good. That could be just too bad because we intend to run a lot.

"It's no secret that we will go for that extra base whenever we get half a chance. And we'll steal when we can. That's going to keep the pressure on them."

All the Dodgers think Ralph Branca, pitching into the shadows at the Yankee Stadium tomorrow, will be slightly terrific if he has his control.

"The Yanks will have to be loose as a goose up at that dish," said Coach Clyde Sukeforth. "That overhand fast ball of Branca's is nothing anybody can take a toehold against. Nobody is going to dig in on him."

The Dodgers all were eager to learn something about Frank Shea who will oppose them in the opener.

Dodgers Have Colds

"We hear," said Hugh Casey, "that he's sneaky fast but hasn't got overpowering stuff. And that he's got a good curve and a changeup. That could make him pretty tough."

Peewee Reese figures the Dodgers should win because this is a far better Dodger team than the one the Yanks beat six years ago. "And," he added, "nobody can tell me that this Yankee outfit is half as good as they were there when they had Charley Keller, Joe Gordon and Bill Dickey."

The only thing worrying the Dodgers at the moment is a series of head colds distributed among Stanky, Reese, Dixie Walker and Reiser, but the club director promised to dose them all with penicillin.

As Babe Ruth said today: "Figures mean nothing. You can toss the averages in the ash can. Breaks and pitching decide any short series."

Lady luck may or may not give the Dodgers the breaks. They can't do much about that. But they think they have the pitching to beat the Yanks. They may have, at that.

Idaho Coach Gets Great Welcome After Team Turns Back Stanford

Dixie Howell Gets Off To Fine Start

MOSCOW, Idaho, Sept. 29—(AP)—Dillard F. (Dixie) Howell, the man who knows what to do about the T-formation, returned today to one of the most fervent welcomes in the University of Idaho's football history.

The former Alabama passing genius set out this fall to cure a chronic defeatism at Idaho in perhaps five years.

But the "poor kids" who lost all their Pacific Coast Conference games last season caught the spark ahead of schedule and Saturday defeated the Stanford Indians 19-13 for the first time in history.

Telephoned congratulations poured in from every corner of a state which in the past has viewed Idaho's football program as something of a local civic project.

A crowd of 5,000 swarmed to the Vandals homecoming train carrying Dixie For Governor" banners. University classwork was abandoned for the celebration and even Moscow city schools closed.

Suddenly the Vandals were rated at least even with their traditional rivals, the Washington State Cougars, in this week's homecoming game. The first sellout in the history of Idaho's stadium was in prospect for the Vandals' attempt to beat the Cougars for the first time since 1925.

As an awed Idaho greeted their new coach, Howell calmly drawled that "a team that has a terrific will to win usually can win."

ball and order the drama underway, while more than 400 visiting and local newspapermen go to work and the Mutual Radio Broadcast (by Red Barber and Mel Allen) and television 'casts begin.

In the stands tomorrow, weaving and bobbing with every pitch, will be the greatest galaxy of old time stars ever gathered to watch a game. They were brought to the series as guests of Larry MacPhail, president of the Yankees. Among them are the ailing Babe Ruth, and Ty Cobb, Cy Young, Home Run Baker, Stan Coveleski, Lefty Grove, Mickey Cochrane, Tris Speaker, Duffy Lewis, Harry Hooper, Wally Pipp, Bob Meusel, Waite Hoyt, Wally Schang, Big Ed Walsh and Earle Combs.

Jackie Robinson

An attempt was made today, in some quarters, to turn a brief misunderstanding between Bucky Harris and Burt Shotton into a "feud."

Seems that the Dodgers were supposed to work out in the Stadium today but exercised, instead, at Ebbets Field. Shotton hastily squared things by saying there was no significance behind the decision to operate today on his home grounds.

Earlier reports led some to believe that Shotton had been turned down by Harris when the Brooklyn manager sought permission to use the Stadium.

The clubs are in good shape, physically. Bruce Edwards, the Dodger catcher, has a few sore fingers, but they are not expected to handicap him greatly or deprive the Dodgers of the superiority they enjoy in the receiving department.

Spud Chandler's arm, bad since early in the season, is right again and the veteran probably will start the fourth game. There is a sprinkling of common colds through both clubs.

Robinson Is Drawing Card

Demands for tickets continued to swamp both the Yankee and Dodger offices today, though the clubs announced two weeks ago that they not only were sold out completely but were in the process of returning about $5,000,000 in checks and money orders.

Scalpers easily got $100 for a $24 strip of Yankee tickets tonight, but there were, as a matter of fact, few tickets of any kind available. Even the scalpers want to see this first "Subway Series" since 1941.

Tremendous interest surrounds the appearance on the field tomorrow of Jackie Robinson, the first Negro ever to play in a World Series.

Robinson is the best bunter and base-runner in the series. His 28 stolen bases this year compares sharply with the record of his first-base rival, George McQuinn, who did not steal a base during the entire year. In fact, Robinson stole two more bases this year than the whole Yankee team.

The inter-borough rivalry will look familiar to such veterans of the hectic 1941 Yankee-Dodger series as Joe DiMaggio, Tommy Henrich, Spud Chandler, Scooter Rizzuto, Hugh Casey, Dixie Walker, Pete Reiser, Peewee Reese and Cookie Lavagetto.

Charley Keller, a big gun in the Yankees 4-1 triumph over the 1941 Dodgers, will sit on the Yankee bench in uniform, but will be unable to play. He recently underwent a difficult operation on his spine.

The Dodgers appear to be better fixed for utility men than the Yankees, but that's not worrying the Yanks—whose regulars have proved more than durable during the season.

The Yanks don't think they're the best team ever to wear the famed uniform, but they believe they've got enough of the traditional Yankee punch to take this one as easily as they took the Dodgers of 1941.

McCarthy Signs

months, although Marse Joe said only yesterday that he expected to be "on the farm" next year.

McCarthy is an old hand at winning pennants. He piloted the Chicago Cubs to the National League flag in 1929 before beginning his career with the Yankees as "American League pennant monopolist."

His only World Series defeat as manager of the Yankees was inflicted by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1942. Marse Joe squared accounts for that setback a year later.

McCarthy's relations with the New York Club became strained last year under the changed ownership headed by Larry MacPhail, and he retired with the greatest record in managerial history.

To further embellish that record, Marse Joe now will have to beat his former charges those same Yankees. The Red Sox were heavily favored this spring to repeat their triumph of last year, but wound up in third place.

McCarthy, who came to New York to manage the Yankee "Alumni" against the American League oldtimers in yesterday's exhibition at Yankee Stadium, looks fit, although a trifle thinner than he was a year ago.

Marse Joe was said to be in failing health when he stepped out as Yankee leader in mid-season last year, to be succeeded by Bill Dickey. The latter lasted until September when he was released by Jonnny Neun, now managing the Cincinnati Reds.

Bucky Harris, former manager in Washington, Detroit, Boston and Philadelphia, took charge of the Yankees this year and won the pennant by 12 games.

get along with him for a third season.

Several of the older Cardinal players, including team Captain Terry Moore, were in an ante room and nodded approval when Breadon came out of his office with the announcement.

Both Breadon and Dyer said they were expecting the club to do well next year. "We have a good ball club," Breadon said, "and although some people in the East think the Cardinals are dead and buried, we expect them to be looking up to us next season."

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE SPORTS WRITER

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—(INS)—Some sagebrush sage once said that nothing succeeds like success.

And the lad who said that must have had Jackie Robinson, the negro star of the Dodgers, in mind.

I saw Jackie the first day he hit New York last spring. He was somewhat shy, unsure of himself and dubious about how the Dodgers and fans would receive him. He didn't know he would make out as a first baseman.

But you should have seen and heard the young man in the Dodger dressing room just before a workout at noon today.

Cocky and Confident

He was just as cocky and confident as the other Dodgers that they would beat the Yanks' brains out. He was laughing and kidding about the Yankee pitchers.

"Tell me," he chuckled, "how these Yankee pitchers are as fielders? Believe me, they better be good because I'm going to give them lots of chances."

Jackie meant, of course, that he was going to bunt early and often and in his case this was no idle threat because he is without doubt the best bunter in baseball. Any pitcher who can't field fast and accurately will be just out of luck against him.

"They tell me," he continued as he pulled on a sweat shirt, "that those Yankee catchers don't throw so good. That could be just too bad because we intend to run a lot.

"It's no secret that we will go for that extra base whenever we get half a chance. And we'll steal when we can. That's going to keep the pressure on them."

All the Dodgers think Ralph Branca, pitching into the shadows at the Yankee Stadium tomorrow, will be slightly terrific if he has his control.

"The Yanks will have to be loose as a goose up at that dish," said Coach Clyde Sukeforth. "That overhand fast ball of Branca's is nothing anybody can take a toehold against. Nobody is going to dig in on him."

The Dodgers all were eager to learn something about Frank Shea who will oppose them in the opener.

Dodgers Have Colds

"We hear," said Hugh Casey, "that he's sneaky fast but hasn't got overpowering stuff. And that he's got a good curve and a changeup. That could make him pretty tough."

Peewee Reese figures the Dodgers should win because this is a far better Dodger team than the one the Yanks beat six years ago. "And," he added, "nobody can tell me that this Yankee outfit is half as good as they were there when they had Charley Keller, Joe Gordon and Bill Dickey."

The only thing worrying the Dodgers at the moment is a series of head colds distributed among Stanky, Reese, Dixie Walker and Reiser, but the club director promised to dose them all with penicillin.

As Babe Ruth said today: "Figures mean nothing. You can toss the averages in the ash can. Breaks and pitching decide any short series."

Lady luck may or may not give the Dodgers the breaks. They can't do much about that. But they think they have the pitching to beat the Yanks. They may have, at that.

Keyser Groups Approve Plans For Fire Hall

Bids Must Be In By October 27

MRS. JOSEPH TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va. — Architectural plans for the new fire hall were approved and accepted tonight at a meeting of the citizen's committee, councilmen, firemen and the mayor held in the City Council Office.

The plans, which were originally submitted to the group two weeks ago, contained the five revisions suggested at the earlier meeting. These revisions include a maple hardwood floor on the ballroom; a sliding pole between the first and second floors; the hose rack placed at the rear instead of the side of the building; the back steps five feet wide instead of the proposed two and a half feet, and a tower on top of the building for a siren.

William Grant, Clarksburg architect, who drew up the plans, was unable to attend the meeting but sent a letter to the group suggesting that bidders be given three or four weeks before returning bids. Bids will be advertised for today and it was agreed they should be in by October 27. All persons submitting bids must make a $15 deposit before receiving plans and specifications. The deposit will be returned when the bids are submitted.

It was announced the fire company now has a balance of $38,137.80, from which an architect's fee of $750 will be deducted. It was decided that an estimated $25,000 be raised in addition to the sum on hand to complete the structure. The group also decided to contact Grant and Frank Snyder, Keyser architects, and try to secure the services of one of them to supervise the construction work.

Marriage Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mary Virginia Amtower, R. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Earle Amtower, 624 West Piedmont Street, to John A. Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Porter, C Street.

The double ring ceremony was performed August 20, at White Sulphur Springs by Rev. James O. Fisher, of the Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Carter, White Sulphur Springs, were the only attendants.

Mrs. Porter wore a light beige gabardine suit with dark brown accessories, and a corsage of white rosebuds.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Porter are well known here, being graduates of Keyser High School. Mrs. Porter was graduated with the class of '43, and also was graduated with the class of '46 from Louisville General Hospital School of Nursing in Louisville, Ky. She is now on the nursing staff at Potomac Valley Hospital. Mr. Porter was graduated with the class of '42 from Keyser High School. He served three years in the Army, two-and-one-half years being spent overseas. He attended Potomac State College and is now a junior at West Virginia University, Morgantown, where he is majoring in forestry.

Ludwicks Buy Property

C. A. and C. D. Ludwick, Keyser, have purchased three-quarters undivided interest in a 30-acre tract of land at the south end of Keyser from three of the four heirs of the late T. R. Carskadon for an undisclosed sum.

The land was owned by four of the T. R. Carskadon heirs: Neil Reynolds, Chicago; Dr. Orlando Reynolds, Franklin; Mrs. James A. Newcome, Keyser and Ray C. Coffman, guardian for his two infant children. Coffman retained one-quarter interest in the land. The land was sold to the Ludkick brothers, owners of the Keyser Airport, which is adjacent to the property. They expect to enlarge the runways at their airport.

The tract has been the subject of negotiations for some months. Potomac State School sought to purchase it, and a week ago the Board of Governors of West Virginia University, which also administers Potomac State, approved its purchase for $16,000.

Mrs. Jeffries Hurt

Mrs. S. B. Jeffries, Keyser, is resting comfortably today in Miners' Hospital, Frostburg, suffering from a severe scalp wound received in a fall in Frostburg Saturday night. Mrs. Jeffries had gone to visit her sister-in-law, and when she arrived there, her sister-in-law was not at home. She started down the apartment steps and somehow lost her footing and fell to the bottom of the steps. Several stitches were required to sew up the wound.

Mrs. Daniels Dies

Mrs. Margaret Frances Daniels, 78, widow of the late Henry Thomas Daniels, died Sunday evening at the Evangelical United Brethren Church Home at Quincy, Pa. She was born at Fountain, Mineral County, the daughter of John William and Sarah Ann Cunningham Taylor. She resided in Mineral County all her life until she went to the Church home at Quincy seven years ago. She was the youngest of six children, all preceding her in death, she being the last of her family. Her husband died in 1933.

The body will be brought to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Parrill, at Fountain, the old homeplace, this afternoon. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Mt. Zion Church, with Rev. L. G. Bridgers, pastor of the Keyser Evangelical United Brethren Church, officiating. Interment will be in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Three Churches Youth Faces Hearing Today

By THOMAS WILLIAMS

ROMNEY, W. Va., Calvin Raines, 16-year-old grandson of Albert Raines, Three Churches, W. Va., will be given a hearing this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Harlan Calhoun in Romney on a charge of breaking and entering.

The youth was lodged in the Hampshire County jail Monday after signing a confession that he broke glass out of the front windows of Meyers Grocery Store, owned by Harley Meyers, in Three Churches, Sunday afternoon.

He told authorities he went to the store "to get a pipe", accompanied b his cousin, Kenneth Corbin, 13, who authorities said was only a bystander and not implicated.

The boy told authorities he picked up a piece of wire from a trash heap and broke more glass out of an already broken window, but added he could not make an entry and became frightened and went home.

Trooper F. H. Tribett and Sheriff Heber Parsons investigated.

Bible Classes Plan Halloween Party

Mrs. Olive Nicodemus and her staff of officers were re-elected for another year at the meeting of the Ladies Bible Class and Fellowship Class of Potomac Park Church, held earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Eula Cain.

Plans were formulated for a Halloween party for the October meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Lee Roy.

Members attending were Mrs. Dolly Sherman, Mrs. Velma Haines, Miss Lucy Sherman, Miss Eula Cain, Mrs. Clive Nicodemus, Mrs. Alice Mills, Miss Lena Grove, Miss Louise Harr, Mrs. June Zink, Mrs. Hazel Roy, and Mrs. Lloyd Huffman.

A social hour concluded the meeting and refreshments were served.

Celebrate Anniversary

An informal "at home" was held by Mr. and Mrs. William M. Judy, yesterday at their home, 736 Greene Street, in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary.

The former Miss Violet M. Perkins, daughter of Mrs. Mary Perkins, city, and the late George Perkins was married to Mr. Judy September 25, 1922 by the late Rev. Ambrose H. Beavin, in the parsonage of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Judy have two children, Mary Lee Judy and Donald Judy. Mr. Judy is employed by the Potomac Edison Company and owns the Judy Meat Market.

Beer Licenses Revoked

Revocation of licenses of two Mineral County establishments, Airways Restaurant, Burlington, and Lawrence's Place, Elk Garden, has been announced by the West Virginia State Beer Commission.

Work Starts On New Home For Barton Firemen

By DAVID E. KIRK

BARTON—Work was started yesterday on building a modern fire house for Barton Hose Company No. 1 by the George F. Hazelwood Company.

Tearing down of the fountain which was located on the lot at the corner of Water and Broadway streets was finished yesterday and form was set for the foundation.

The building which is to cost $54,880 will replace the present engine house located in the garage of John and David E. Kirk. The present building is only large enough for one piece of equipment and the new house will provide space for three pieces of equipment, a lounge, locker room, storage compartments, hose dryer, storage, bedroom, furnace room, chief's office and quarters for the town council meetings, company's meeting room and kitchen. The council chamber at present is in the same building as the engine house.

Overall dimensions of the building will be 44 by 60 feet.

Will Give Show

A radio show, Patsy Jean and her hillbilly pals, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the firemen's armory, South Eutah street, being sponsored by Ladies Auxiliary to the Barton Hose Co. No. 1.

Mrs. Adela Kimble is chairman of the committee in charge.

A bake sale will be held preceding the radio show, Mrs. Kimble stated.

Legion To Meet

Barton Post No. 189, American Legion, will meet at their headquarters, Hall street, Wednesday evening, 7:45 p. m., for their regular meeting. Plans will be made for the celebration of their first anniversary to be held Wednesday, October 8.

Personals

Mrs. Agnes Albright and daughter, Pittsburgh, Pa., are visiting at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Alice Russell.

Watson Mowbray, Washington, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Mowbray.

Bruce Beal returned to his home in Akron, Ohio, last evening after spending a few days with his brother, Ellis Boal.

Mrs. Mary Meek, Piedmont, formerly of Barton, remains in a serious condition. She is an aunt of J. Donald Wilson.

Keyser Groups Approve Plans For Fire Hall

Bids Must Be In By October 27

MRS. JOSEPH TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va. — Architectural plans for the new fire hall were approved and accepted tonight at a meeting of the citizen's committee, councilmen, firemen and the mayor held in the City Council Office.

The plans, which were originally submitted to the group two weeks ago, contained the five revisions suggested at the earlier meeting. These revisions include a maple hardwood floor on the ballroom; a sliding pole between the first and second floors; the hose rack placed at the rear instead of the side of the building; the back steps five feet wide instead of the proposed two and a half feet, and a tower on top of the building for a siren.

William Grant, Clarksburg architect, who drew up the plans, was unable to attend the meeting but sent a letter to the group suggesting that bidders be given three or four weeks before returning bids. Bids will be advertised for today and it was agreed they should be in by October 27. All persons submitting bids must make a $15 deposit before receiving plans and specifications. The deposit will be returned when the bids are submitted.

It was announced the fire company now has a balance of $38,137.80, from which an architect's fee of $750 will be deducted. It was decided that an estimated $25,000 be raised in addition to the sum on hand to complete the structure. The group also decided to contact Grant and Frank Snyder, Keyser architects, and try to secure the services of one of them to supervise the construction work.

Marriage Announced

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mary Virginia Amtower, R. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Earle Amtower, 624 West Piedmont Street, to John A. Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Porter, C Street.

The double ring ceremony was performed August 20, at White Sulphur Springs by Rev. James O. Fisher, of the Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Carter, White Sulphur Springs, were the only attendants.

Mrs. Porter wore a light beige gabardine suit with dark brown accessories, and a corsage of white rosebuds.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Porter are well known here, being graduates of Keyser High School. Mrs. Porter was graduated with the class of '43, and also was graduated with the class of '46 from Louisville General Hospital School of Nursing in Louisville, Ky. She is now on the nursing staff at Potomac Valley Hospital. Mr. Porter was graduated with the class of '42 from Keyser High School. He served three years in the Army, two-and-one-half years being spent overseas. He attended Potomac State College and is now a junior at West Virginia University, Morgantown, where he is majoring in forestry.

Ludwicks Buy Property

C. A. and C. D. Ludwick, Keyser, have purchased three-quarters undivided interest in a 30-acre tract of land at the south end of Keyser from three of the four heirs of the late T. R. Carskadon for an undisclosed sum.

The land was owned by four of the T. R. Carskadon heirs: Neil Reynolds, Chicago; Dr. Orlando Reynolds, Franklin; Mrs. James A. Newcome, Keyser and Ray C. Coffman, guardian for his two infant children. Coffman retained one-quarter interest in the land. The land was sold to the Ludkick brothers, owners of the Keyser Airport, which is adjacent to the property. They expect to enlarge the runways at their airport.

The tract has been the subject of negotiations for some months. Potomac State School sought to purchase it, and a week ago the Board of Governors of West Virginia University, which also administers Potomac State, approved its purchase for $16,000.

Mrs. Jeffries Hurt

Mrs. S. B. Jeffries, Keyser, is resting comfortably today in Miners' Hospital, Frostburg, suffering from a severe scalp wound received in a fall in Frostburg Saturday night. Mrs. Jeffries had gone to visit her sister-in-law, and when she arrived there, her sister-in-law was not at home. She started down the apartment steps and somehow lost her footing and fell to the bottom of the steps. Several stitches were required to sew up the wound.

Mrs. Daniels Dies

Mrs. Margaret Frances Daniels, 78, widow of the late Henry Thomas Daniels, died Sunday evening at the Evangelical United Brethren Church Home at Quincy, Pa. She was born at Fountain, Mineral County, the daughter of John William and Sarah Ann Cunningham Taylor. She resided in Mineral County all her life until she went to the Church home at Quincy seven years ago. She was the youngest of six children, all preceding her in death, she being the last of her family. Her husband died in 1933.

The body will be brought to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Parrill, at Fountain, the old homeplace, this afternoon. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Mt. Zion Church, with Rev. L. G. Bridgers, pastor of the Keyser Evangelical United Brethren Church, officiating. Interment will be in Mt. Zion cemetery.

Three Churches Youth Faces Hearing Today

By THOMAS WILLIAMS

ROMNEY, W. Va., Calvin Raines, 16-year-old grandson of Albert Raines, Three Churches, W. Va., will be given a hearing this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Harlan Calhoun in Romney on a charge of breaking and entering.

The youth was lodged in the Hampshire County jail Monday after signing a confession that he broke glass out of the front windows of Meyers Grocery Store, owned by Harley Meyers, in Three Churches, Sunday afternoon.

He told authorities he went to the store "to get a pipe", accompanied b his cousin, Kenneth Corbin, 13, who authorities said was only a bystander and not implicated.

The boy told authorities he picked up a piece of wire from a trash heap and broke more glass out of an already broken window, but added he could not make an entry and became frightened and went home.

Trooper F. H. Tribett and Sheriff Heber Parsons investigated.

Bible Classes Plan Halloween Party

Mrs. Olive Nicodemus and her staff of officers were re-elected for another year at the meeting of the Ladies Bible Class and Fellowship Class of Potomac Park Church, held earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Eula Cain.

Plans were formulated for a Halloween party for the October meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Lee Roy.

Members attending were Mrs. Dolly Sherman, Mrs. Velma Haines, Miss Lucy Sherman, Miss Eula Cain, Mrs. Clive Nicodemus, Mrs. Alice Mills, Miss Lena Grove, Miss Louise Harr, Mrs. June Zink, Mrs. Hazel Roy, and Mrs. Lloyd Huffman.

A social hour concluded the meeting and refreshments were served.

Celebrate Anniversary

An informal "at home" was held by Mr. and Mrs. William M. Judy, yesterday at their home, 736 Greene Street, in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary.

The former Miss Violet M. Perkins, daughter of Mrs. Mary Perkins, city, and the late George Perkins was married to Mr. Judy September 25, 1922 by the late Rev. Ambrose H. Beavin, in the parsonage of Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Judy have two children, Mary Lee Judy and Donald Judy. Mr. Judy is employed by the Potomac Edison Company and owns the Judy Meat Market.

Work Starts On New Home For Barton Firemen

By DAVID E. KIRK

BARTON—Work was started yesterday on building a modern fire house for Barton Hose Company No. 1 by the George F. Hazelwood Company.

Tearing down of the fountain which was located on the lot at the corner of Water and Broadway streets was finished yesterday and form was set for the foundation.

The building which is to cost $54,880 will replace the present engine house located in the garage of John and David E. Kirk. The present building is only large enough for one piece of equipment and the new house will provide space for three pieces of equipment, a lounge, locker room, storage compartments, hose dryer, storage, bedroom, furnace room, chief's office and quarters for the town council meetings, company's meeting room and kitchen. The council chamber at present is in the same building as the engine house.

Overall dimensions of the building will be 44 by 60 feet.

Will Give Show

A radio show, Patsy Jean and her hillbilly pals, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the firemen's armory, South Eutah street, being sponsored by Ladies Auxiliary to the Barton Hose Co. No. 1.

Mrs. Adele Kimble is chairman of the committee in charge.

A bake sale will be held preceding the radio show, Mrs. Kimble stated.

Legion To Meet

Barton Post No. 189, American Legion, will meet at their headquarters, Hall street, Wednesday evening, 7:45 p. m., for their regular meeting. Plans will be made for the celebration of their first anniversary to be held Wednesday, October 8.

Personals

Mrs. Agnes Albright and daughter, Pittsburgh, Pa., are visiting at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Alice Russell.

Watson Mowbray, Washington, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Mowbray.

Bruce Beal returned to his home in Akron, Ohio, last evening after spending a few days with his brother, Ellis Boal.

World Series To Be "Aired;" Amos And Andy Return

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 29—If it doesn't rain, World Series for 1947 starts on Tuesday, and MBS will be there with its microphones for the annual broadcast. Time on the air is set for 1:15 p. m., with Red Barber and Mel Allen, both noted for their through season broadcasts of the games of the contenders—Barber for the Dodgers and Allen for the Yankees—handling the microphone stuff.

Amos and Andy, all finished with vacation, will do the returning to the kilocycles for Tuesday. They're still on NBC at 9, their summer series have been a mystery drama, Call the Police.

Otherwise some more of that all-too-frequent program changing is due. ABC is moving its Saturday afternoon series, Youth Asks the Government, to 8 and cutting it from a 30-minute to a 15-minute series. MBS has a couple to offer in the way of new times, the Mysterious Traveler to land at 8 and Official Detective at 8:30, where it will be 30 minutes instead of its former 15.

The Tuesday night forum are to argue these questions: "On What Basis Can Our Differences With Russia Be Resolved?" by America's Town Meeting on ABC at 8:30 from Kansas City and "Cost Of Living—Clothing" by American Forum on MBS at its 10 o'clock changed time, where it has only 30 minutes.

Selected as the acting piece for Studio One on CBS at 9:30, the network produced hour show, will be "Wuthering Heights."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Fitzpatrick and Father Coughlin

Leo Fitzpatrick, who until recently operated station WJR in Detroit, has always believed a radio station has a community responsibility. In its early years, WJR aligned itself closely with the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor and broadcast many educational programs. The station was always in the forefront of any civic campaigns, of which has more than its share, for better streets or new hospitals.

Father Coughlin

Soon after he arrived in Detroit, Fitzpatrick put a line direct to the Mayor's office so that worthy could speak directly to the citizens of Detroit at any time he felt a bit of oratory welling up in him.

When WJR went to 50,000 watts in 1936, Fitzpatrick decided his station's responsibility was to the state rather than to Detroit alone, and the Michigan Governor was wired for sound too. When it wasn't beating the drum either for the city or the state, WJR was usually wrapped up in some form of patriotic campaign. During the depression, the station absorbed a $4,000-a-week bill to broadcast a program called "F.O.B. Detroit," on which James A. Farley, Eddie Rickenbaker, Walt Disney and other national notables tried valiantly to prove that things weren't as bad as they seemed.

During the war, WJR claims to have been the first station to eliminate the middle commercial from newscasts. Another of Fitzpatrick's campaigns, which never quite succeeded, was directed against the swinging of the old songs like "Loch Lomond" which he considered a desecration.

Crusades, while satisfying to the individual, don't bring in any revenue. However, WJR has always been profitable (it has grossed as much as $600,000 a year) and Fitzpatrick feels that its financial success is because of, rather than in spite of, its civic and patriotic campaigns. Listeners, he feels, will support a station which services and acts as the conscience of the community. It's a theory which deserves wider circulation.

Fitzpatrick was always a daring innovator and his boldest innovation came close to overwhelming him. In the late '20's he was visited by a young priest, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin. Fitzpatrick was struck by the unquestioned magnetism of the young priest and conceived a plan for broadcasting a religious program which would put the tenets of religion into human and understandable terms. The first Coughlin broadcasts were a sort of question-and-answer program from the pulpit of Coughlin's little church at Royal Oak. Fitzpatrick would ask the priest, let us say, what constituted the church's objections to divorce. And in that rolling, vibrant voice which later became familiar to millions, Father Coughlin would deliver the dogma of the church on the subject. Detroiters who heard those early broadcasts devoted entirely to ecclesiastical matters will tell you they were the most compelling religious programs ever broadcast.

Originally Father Coughlin was heard on Sundays over WJR alone. Soon, however, other Midwest station heard of the priest's vivid personality and Fitzpatrick strung together a tiny independent network consisting of WJR; WLW, the powerful station in Cincinnati, and WMAQ, the N.B.C. outlet in Chicago. Other stations soon clamored for the priest and at the height of Coughlin's popularity he was heard over a network of eighty-one stations from coast to coast.

As Father Coughlin's audience expanded, his subject matter expanded accordingly. When the depression closed the Detroit banks, which occurred prior to the national bank holiday proclaimed by President Roosevelt, Coughlin began excoriating "the international bankers." Fitzpatrick, who is decidedly conservative, was torn between his political convictions and his sense of showmanship. However, by this time, Father Coughlin had become a national figure who could not have been silenced by a manager of a radio station in any case.

From economics, Coughlin proceeded to his curious racial theories which succeeded in inflaming the racial and religious prejudices which have always been a problem in Detroit. Fitzpatrick, who doesn't by any means share Coughlin's opinions, began to feel like Frankenstein. Father Coughlin was now big business. He paid $8,000 a week line charges on his broadcasts, which is exactly what Proctor and Gamble would be forced to pay for a similar network. Though he never appealed directly for funds, contributions flowed like water and the vast 3,500-seat, $1,500,000 Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak was built by them.

In 1937, Edward Cardinal Mooney became Archbishop of Detroit and Father Coughlin abruptly departed from the air, presumable for good. Fitzpatrick heaved a mighty sigh of relief. To this day, Fitzpatrick thinks Coughlin is one of the three greatest radio speakers of all time. (The other two are President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.) Coughlin, incidentally, may still be heard at Royal Oak and those who have heard him recently say he still can't resist an occasional poke at those old devils—the international bankers.

(This is the second of two articles on WJR in Detroit).

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Fitzpatrick and Father Coughlin

Father Coughlin

Leo Fitzpatrick, who until recently operated station WJR in Detroit, has always believed a radio station has a community responsibility. In its early years, WJR aligned itself closely with the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor and broadcast many educational programs. The station was always in the forefront of any civic campaigns, of which has more than its share, for better streets or new hospitals. Soon after he arrived in Detroit, Fitzpatrick put a line direct to the Mayor's office so that worthy could speak directly to the citizens of Detroit at any time he felt a bit of oratory welling up in him.

When WJR went to 50,000 watts in 1936, Fitzpatrick decided his station's responsibility was to the state rather than to Detroit alone, and the Michigan Governor was wired for sound too. When it wasn't beating the drum either for the city or the state, WJR was usually wrapped up in some form of patriotic campaign. During the depression, the station absorbed a $4,000-a-week bill to broadcast a program called "F.O.B. Detroit," on which James A. Farley, Eddie Rickenbaker, Walt Disney and other national notables tried valiantly to prove that things weren't as bad as they seemed.

During the war, WJR claims to have been the first station to eliminate the middle commercial from newscasts. Another of Fitzpatrick's campaigns, which never quite succeeded, was directed against the swinging of the old songs like "Loch Lomond" which he considered a desecration.

Crusades, while satisfying to the individual, don't bring in any revenue. However, WJR has always been profitable (it has grossed as much as $600,000 a year) and Fitzpatrick feels that its financial success is because of, rather than in spite of, its civic and patriotic campaigns. Listeners, he feels, will support a station which services and acts as the conscience of the community. It's a theory which deserves wider circulation.

Fitzpatrick was always a daring innovator and his boldest innovation came close to overwhelming him. In the late '30's he was visited by a young priest, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin. Fitzpatrick was struck by the unquestioned magnetism of the young priest and conceived a plan for broadcasting a religious program which would put the tenets of religion into human and understandable terms. The first Coughlin broadcasts were a sort of question-and-answer program from the pulpit of Coughlin's little church at Royal Oak. Fitzpatrick would ask the priest, let us say, what constituted the church's objections to divorce. And in that rolling, vibrant voice which later became familiar to millions, Father Coughlin would deliver the dogma of the church on the subject. Detroiters who heard those early broadcasts devoted entirely to ecclesiastical matters will tell you they were the most compelling religious programs ever broadcast.

Originally Father Coughlin was heard on Sundays over WJR alone. Soon, however, other Midwest station heard of the priest's vivid personality and Fitzpatrick strung together a tiny independent network consisting of WJR; WLW, the powerful station in Cincinnati, and WMAQ, the N.B.C. outlet in Chicago. Other stations soon clamored for the priest and at the height of Coughlin's popularity he was heard over a network of eighty-one stations from coast to coast.

As Father Coughlin's audience expanded, his subject matter expanded accordingly. When the depression closed the Detroit banks, which occurred prior to the national bank holiday proclaimed by President Roosevelt, Coughlin began excoriating "the international bankers." Fitzpatrick, who is decidedly conservative, was torn between his political convictions and his sense of showmanship. However, by this time, Father Coughlin had become a national figure who could not have been silenced by a manager of a radio station in any case.

From economics, Coughlin proceeded to his curious racial theories which succeeded in inflaming the racial and religious prejudices which have always been a problem in Detroit. Fitzpatrick, who doesn't by any means share Coughlin's opinions, began to feel like Frankenstein. Father Coughlin was now big business. He paid $8,000 a week line charges on his broadcasts, which is exactly what Proctor and Gamble would be forced to pay for a similar network. Though he never appealed directly for funds, contributions flowed like water and the vast 3,500-seat, $1,500,000 Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak was built by them.

In 1937, Edward Cardinal Mooney became Archbishop of Detroit and Father Coughlin abruptly departed from the air, presumable for good. Fitzpatrick heaved a mightly sigh of relief. To this day, Fitzpatrick thinks Coughlin is one of the three greatest radio speakers of all time. (The other two are President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.) Coughlin, incidentally, may still be heard at Royal Oak and those who have heard him recently say he still can't resist an occasional poke at those old devils—the international bankers.

(This is the second of two articles on WJR in Detroit).

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

John C. McGaughey vs. Anna E. McGaughey, No. 20327 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the Plaintiff A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant.

The bill states that they were married on the 27th day of March, 1936, and that the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Plaintiff on the 4th of March, 1938, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months last past prior to the bringing of this suit and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that there were no children born unto the marriage; that the Plaintiff has been a resident of the State of Maryland for more than one year prior to the bringing of this suit and the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and the Plaintiff asks for an Order of Publication against the Defendant and for general relief.

It is thereupon this 29th day of September, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, sitting in equity, ordered that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once in each of four successive weeks on or before the 31st day of October, 1947, giving notice to said absent Defendant of the object and substance of this bill and warning her to appear in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 17th day of November, 1947, to show cause, if any she might have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

NOTICE OF LETTING

Sealed Proposals addressed to the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, and endorsed, "Proposal for the Construction of the Auxiliary Water Main from Lake Gordon to Cumberland," will be received at the office of the City Clerk, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland, on or before at which time they will be publicly opened and read.

10:00 A. M., Nov. 3, 1947

Plans and Specifications may be obtained at the office of the City Engineer, City Hall, Cumberland, Maryland, upon the deposit of Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars, which deposit will be refunded upon the return of said plans and specifications in good condition.

This work will include the furnishing and constructing of approximately 41,293 feet of 36" Steel Cylinder Reinforced Concrete Pressure Pipe, and other work contingent thereto.

A bond in the amount of Five Hundred Thousand ($500,000) Dollars will be required for the faithful performance of this contract.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check drawn to the order of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, and the Evitts Creek Water Company, in the sum of Twenty Five Thousand ($25,000.00) Dollars, which check will be forfeited as liquidated damages in case an award is made and the contract and bond are not promptly and properly executed.

The Mayor and City Council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Flavorsome Autumn Sandwich

EGGPLANT AND TOMATO SANDWICH

12 half-inch eggplant slices, peeled
Salt
1 egg
1 tablespoon milk
Fine crumbs
Butter or margarine
Tomatoes peeled
½ lb. American cheese, shredded
Green and ripe olives
Parsley

Sprinkle eggplant slices with salt and stack in a bowl. Place a weight on top and let stand for an hour. Rinse well.

Beat the egg with the milk. Dip each eggplant slice in this mixture, then in the crumbs. Saute in butter or margarine.

Arrange six of the eggplant slices on an oven proof chop plate. Top each with a slice of tomato then with another eggplant slice. Cover each sandwich with a generous amount of cheese. Place in a moderate oven, 350°, until cheese melts. Garnish with olives and parsley.

Market, Led By Steels, Breaks Its Lengthy String Of Losing Mondays

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—The stock market today broke its lengthy string of losing Mondays with a modest average advance led by steels and selected industrials.

Activity picked up at intervals after the opening but slowdowns were frequent.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up 3 of a point at 64, its first Monday gain since last July 14. Of 973 issues registering, 454 rose and 279 fell.

Ahead a point or better were United States Steel at 70, Bethlehem 87¼, Youngstown Sheet 70¾, Goodrich 55, J. I. Case 38½, Allied Chemical 186, Santa Fe, 82½, Schenley 4⅜ and Hiram Walker 21¼. At 1947 peaks were Pacific Western Oil, up 1¾ at 46, and International Paper 1¼ at 53⅞.

Railroad liens eased in today's bond market, although there were many issues advancing against the trend.

Trading picked up after a slow start but was never more than leisurely. Sales totalled $3,780,000 Friday.

There was a flurry of trading in Australian bonds, the 5s of '55 gained one-fourth over Friday, but the 3¼s lost three-fourths.

Rails whicch closed lower included: Southern Pacific 4½; Pennsylvania general 4¼s of '81, down 1½ at 99; C. and O. 3½s of '96 off 1¼.

Trading in United States Treasuries over-the-counter was light but a number of issues were off from 1-32 to 3-32. The 2½s of September '67-72 were off 3-52, and the 2s of '52-54 lost 2-32.

Pimlico Harness Track Is Planned

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29 (AP)—Baltimore Trotting races, Inc., whose application for a permit to conduct harness racing with pari-mutuel betting is before the Racing Commission, plans a $1,000,000 plant at Pimlico Airport, it was disclosed today.

The Racing Commission will meet tomorrow to consider the application of the Baltimore group, along with requests from an Anne Arundel County organization to operate the Severn Downs Raceway about a mile north of Laurel, and Howard Raceway, Inc., which would have a track near United States Route 1 in Howard County.

Frank and Howard Knipp owners of the Pimlico land, previously confirmed that an option had been taken.

In the application for a Pimlico harness track, the Baltimore group, headed by Eugene H. Beer, Jr., announpnced plans for a grandstand seating 11,000 persons and barns for 200 horses.

They would make use of two large hangars on the field as part of the plant. All racing would be done under lights at night.

The Baltimore group has asked for a schedule of eight trotting and pacing races on 20 consecutive nights, excluding Sun

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

John C. McGaughey vs. Anna E. McGaughey, No. 20327 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the Plaintiff A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant.

The bill states that they were married on the 27th day of March, 1936, and that the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Plaintiff on the 4th of March, 1938, and has declared her intention to live with him no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months last past prior to the bringing of this suit and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that there were no children born unto the marriage; that the Plaintiff has been a resident of the State of Maryland for more than one year prior to the bringing of this suit, and the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and the Plaintiff asks for an Order of Publication against the Defendant and for general relief.

It is thereupon this 29th day of September, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, sitting in equity, ordered that the Plaintiff, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once in each of four successive weeks on or before the 31st day of October, 1947, giving notice to said absent Defendant of the object and substance of this bill and warning her to appear in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 17th day of November, 1947, to show cause, if any she might have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

Flaversome Autumn Sandwich

EGGPLANT AND TOMATO SANDWICH

12 half-inch eggplant slices, peeled
Salt
1 egg
1 tablespoon milk
Fine crumbs
Butter or margarine
Tomatoes peeled
½ lb. American cheese, shredded
Green and ripe olives
Parsley

Sprinkle eggplant slices with salt and stack in a bowl. Place a weight on top and let stand for an hour. Rinse well.

Beat the egg with the milk. Dip each eggplant slice in this mixture, then in the crumbs. Saute in butter or margarine.

Arrange six of the eggplant slices on an oven proof chop plate. Top each with a slice of tomato then with another eggplant slice. Cover each sandwich with a generous amount of cheese. Place in a moderate oven, 350°, until cheese melts. Garnish with olives and parsley.

Market, Led By Steels, Breaks Its Lengthy String Of Losing Mondays

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP)—The stock market today broke its lengthy string of losing Mondays with a modest average advance led by steels and selected industrials.

Activity picked up at intervals after the opening but slowdowns were frequent.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .3 of a point at 64, its first Monday gain since last July 14. Of 973 issues registering, 454 rose and 279 fell.

Ahead a point or better were United States Steel at 70, Bethlehem 87¼, Youngstown Sheet 70¾, Goodrich 55, J. I. Case 38½, Allied Chemical 186, Santa Fe, 82½, Schenley 4¾ and Hiram Walker 21¼. At 1947 peaks were Pacific Western Oil, up 1¾ at 46, and International Paper 1¼ at 53⅞.

Railroad liens eased in today's bond market, although there were many issues advancing against the trend.

Trading picked up after a slow start but was never more than leisurely. Sales totalled $3,780,000 Friday.

There was a flurry of trading in Australian bonds, the 5s of '55 gained one-fourth over Friday, but the 3¼s lost three-fourths.

Rails whicch closed lower included: Southern Pacific 4½; Pennsylvania general 4¼s of '81, down 1½ at 99; C. and O. 3½s of '96 off 1¼.

Trading in United States Treasuries over-the-counter was light but a number of issues were off from 1-32 to 3-32. The 2¼s of September '67-72 were off 3-52, and the 2s of '52-54 lost 2-32.

Pimlico Harness Track Is Planned

BALTIMORE, Sept. 29 (AP)—Baltimore Trotting races, Inc., whose application for a permit to conduct harness racing with pari-mutuel betting is before the Racing Commission, plans a $1,000,000 plant at Pimlico Airport, it was disclosed today.

The Racing Commission will meet tomorrow to consider the application of the Baltimore group, along with requests from an Anne Arundel County organization to operate the Severn Downs Raceway about a mile north of Laurel, and Howard Raceway, Inc., which would have a track near United States Route 1 in Howard County.

Frank and Howard Knipp owners of the Pimlico land, previously confirmed that an option had been taken.

In the application for a Pimlico harness track, the Baltimore group, headed by Eugene H. Beer, Jr., announpced plans for a grandstand seating 11,000 persons and barns for 200 horses.

They would make use of two large hangars on the field as part of the plant. All racing would be done under lights at night.

The Baltimore group has asked for a schedule of eight trotting and pacing races on 20 consecutive nights, excluding Sunday. The legislature last winter approved a total of 100 days harness racing with pari-mutuel betting per year.

The deadline for applications for harness racing was last Friday. No date has been set for a hearing on a request by Edward S. Digges, representing the Charles County Raceway, which proposed a track at Waldorf.

Ky. Troopers To Assist In "Swamp Fever" Fight

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 29 (AP)—In an effort to keep the deadly "swamp fever" from Kentucky race tracks, Gov. Simeon Willis ordered state highway patrolmen on duty at all bridges and principal highways entering Kentucky today.

The Chief Executive acted after being informed that one or two running horses possibly infected by the outbreak of the disease at the Rockingham track in New England were reported to have been shipped into the state recently.

The patrolmen were instructed to prevent entry of any horse or mule unless its handler has a veterinarian's certificate showing it is free of the disease and has not been exposed to it within the past 90 days.

Here's Series Odds

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 29—(AP)—Frank Shea and Ralph Branca are starting pitchers in tomorrow's opening World Series game, the New York Yankees will be 3 to 5 favorites, Betting Commissioner James J. Carroll said today.

Bettors on the Yankees would put up $5 for a return of $3. On the Brooklyn Dodgers bettors would have to risk $5 to win $7. The Yankees are favorites to win the series, 9 to 20. Carroll holds the Dodgers at 9 to 5.

Fight Card Cancelled

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (AP) — The 20th Century S. C. cancelled tonight's fight card at the St. Nicholas Arena when one of the main bout contestants, Joey Agosta of Brooklyn, complained of a cold today and said he could not fight.

Agosta complained of his illness an hour after both he and his scheduled opponent, Rocky Castellani, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., middleweight, had been examined and pronounced fit by Dr. Vincent Nardiello, physician for the New York State Athletic Commission.

The commission immediately suspended Agosta.

Cosmic Bomb Wins

NEW YORK, Sept. 29 (INS)—Cosmic Bomb, owned by William Helis, beat Phalanx by a head in the $25,000-added Lawrence Realization Stakes at Belmont Park today. Snow Goose was third.

Phalanx was a slight favorite over Cosmic Bomb, which paid $5.50.

Williams K.O.'s Rafferty

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29 (AP)—Ike Williams, the Trenton, N. J., jolter making his first appearance since winning undisputed claim to the lightweight boxing championship, racked up his seventh straight victory tonight as he knocked out Doll Rafferty, Milwaukee, in 1:53 of the fourth round of a scheduled ten rounder at Convention Hall. Each fighter weighed 140 pounds.

Giosa To Meet Collins

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29. (AP)—Eddie Giosa and Jimmy Collins, two of Philadelphia's promising young lightweights, today were signed for a 10-round fight at the Arena next Monday night. It will be the first meeting between the two 135-pounders and Giosa will be out to snap Collins' six-bout winning streak.

Little World Series

Wins His Plea To Go To Prison

STOCKHOLM — (AP) — "Two wonderful months in a Swedish prison. Thank you, Mr. Prosecutor. Let me shake your hand." Finnish citizen Goesta Rosenstroem exclaimed after hearing the verdict in magistrate's court at Karlstad in southwest Sweden

The defendant had protested most energetically when the court said it was prepared to release him on probation, saying he preferred Swedish prison to liberty in Finland.

His offence was accepting 50 crowns of stolen money as a gift.

Explosion Follows Earlier Altercation

Accused of blowing up with four arges of dynamite the Wagon l mine 25 feet across the Alle- ny County Line in Garrett Coun- a mile west of Barton, Leo Rig- man, Barton, was fined $50 and ts by Magistrate H. A. Loraditch Oakland Friday on a charge of licious destruction of property.

State Police said the explosions sed considerable damage to the e and added that while they e able to pass the scene of the t explosion, they could not pene- te the mine past the point of the nd blast, about 150 feet from mine opening.

imbers had been blown out and mine roof caved in by the force he explosion, officers reported.

hey also disclosed that the mine le had been hacked at the base, that blocks to stop mine cars he tipple had been removed.

tate Police said dynamiting of mine took place a short time r Riggleman, James Magruder Joseph Clay Broadwater, all of ton, were involved in an alter- on in which Magruder and adwater were fined by Magis- e John Laughlin at Western- .

roadwater, owner of the Wagon e, had leased it to Riggleman, ording to State Trooper A. M. och who, with Trooper Jack wning, investigated, and was sit- at home on September 19 when heard an explosion at the mine e 300 feet away.

turrying from his home, Broad- ter followed a direct path to the e and saw Riggleman running , police reported, when, sudden- he heard four dynamite reports d felt the ground shake beneath n from the blasts. Four witnesses w Riggleman leaving the mine, ficers added.

They said that after Riggleman ased the mine from Broadwater ere seemed to be some dispute th Magruder about Riggleman sing his property to reach the ine.

Earlier on the morning of Septem- er 19, Riggleman was blocked from eaching the mine, one word led to nother, and charges were filed gainst Magruder and Broadwater, ccording to Trooper Spioch.

He said Magruder was charged with assaulting Riggleman and was fined $12 and costs by Magistrate Laughlin and that Broadwater was charged with illegal parking and blocking a road and was fined $10 and costs. Both cases were heard September 19. Trooper Spioch said he was not advised of the explosion until the following day.

State's Attorney Walter Dawson of Garrett County prosecuted when Riggleman was tried in Oakland on the charge of malicious destruction of property.

Wilson Is Named Head Of W & L Alumni Committee

William L. Wilson, Jr., 207 Washington Street, local attorney, has been appointed regional chairman of the Washington and Lee University's bicentennial program in Cumberland, according to Francis P. Gaines, university president.

As a prelude to the University's plan of year-long celebration in 1948-49, a bicentennial financial program to raise $3,000,000 for presentation to the University on its 200th anniversary was started early this year. This campaign will reach its climax with a series of local drives in every part of the country this fall.

Wilson, assisted by a committee of Washington and Lee alumni in Cumberland and vicinity, will be in charge of the financial program in this area, and a national network of such committees will promote the celebration.

The bicentennial fund, Wilson explained last night, is to be used to finance scholarships, endowments and plant development as Washington and Lee progresses into its third century.

Wilson, who is a member of the Class of 1938 of the university, said his committee will include, Paul D. Pickens, Alex Sloan, J. Goodloe Jackson, L. Leslie Helmer, John W. McClure, Jr., all of this city, and John W. Barger, Keyser, W. Va.

The national bicentennial fund is headed by John W. Dav' Class of 1892, New York attorney, former U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain and Democratic presidential nominee in 1924.

Accident Victim Still Unconscious

Pennsylvania State Police said last night that Frances Pittman, 17, Clearville, Pa., sister of Ruth Pittman, Clearville, who was killed in an automobile accident on Route 220 about 10 miles north of Bedford, Pa., Sunday, remained unconscious and in critical condition in Timmons Hospital, Bedford, last night from injuries suffered in the crash.

Donald Lindberg Robinette, 20, 607 Ielper Street, this city, said by State Police to be the driver of the car in which the Pittman girls were riding, is charged with manslaughter nd is expected to be given a hearing today.

Seven persons were injured in addition to the dead woman when the automobile and a truck collided.

Temperature Reading

The mercury got back into the summer classification yesterday with a maximum of 74 degrees, but the weather man says cooler weather is due again today. Yesterday's minimum was 34 degrees and at 9:30 last night the mercury had descended to 57. A light rain last night brought only .02 of an inch rainfall and clearing weather was forecast for today.

Romney Painter Is Hurt In Fall From Scaffold

B. And O.-Celanese Workers Are Treated

James Wirgman, 55-year-old Romney, W. Va., painter, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon for treatment of back and right wrist injuries suffered when he fell from a scaffold while painting yesterday.

His condition was reported rather good last night. X-Rays were taken to determine the extent of injuries but results are not yet known.

Donald McKenzie, 38, 39 Somerville Avenue, a B. and O. worker, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday morning after a coupler dropped upon his left thumb as he was working in the east yards here. X-rays were taken and he was allowed to return home after the mashed finger was dressed.

Is Injured In Fall

Donald Broome, 2½-year-old son of Lawrence Broome, Patterson's Creek, W. Va., Celanese worker, was treated in Memorial yesterday for a laceration over the right eye suffered in a fall at his home. Also treated in Memorial yesterday morning were:

Treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon were:

Mary Allen, 10-year-old son of Rodney Allen, Green Spring, W. Va., Celanese worker, for a severe laceration on the left arm after she was bitten by a dog.

Celanese Worker Hurt

Earl Porter, 34, Mt. Savage, for a mashed ring finger on his left hand. He said he was injured in the Celanese dye house laboratory yesterday at 10 a. m. when a face plate fell from a press and struck his hand. He was admitted last night for further treatment of the injury.

James Kennell, 40, a Hyndman Pa., Celanese worker, was treated yesterday afternoon for a right hand injury. He said he was cranking an oil machine in the traffic department at the Celanese plant when the crank slipped.

Information Received Regarding Mrs. Kuhne

A relative of Mrs. Therese Kuhne, a native of Germany whose whereabouts had been sought by a niece living in Hannover, Germany, has been located here, according to Mrs. Louise Dean, home service secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

The relative is Henry Bosenberg, 517 City View Terrace, a nephew, who said Mrs. Kuhne came to Cumberland when she was a young woman and resided here until her death in 1940. He said he would contact the niece in Hannover, Mrs. Minna Jeske.

District Deputy To Visit Elks Lodge

Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks, is planning to initiate a class of candidates October 15, at which time Richard C. Munson, Hagerstown, district deputy, will make an official visit and give a report from the Grand Exalted Ruler.

Following the meeting and program an old fashioned ox roast and all the trimmings will be served.

Midland Fracas Costs Brothers Total Of $150

One Found Guilty On Weapons Charge

A disturbance at a Midland Bowling Alley Saturday night while they admittedly were intoxicated cost two Cumberland brothers a total of $150 in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday.

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., fined Alfred Jeffries, 36, 218 Glenn Street, $100 and costs on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon with which he allegedly threatened John Yeager, 74 Greene Street, Cumberland, the proprietor of the bowling alley.

Jeffries and his brother, William, 22, also of 218 Glenn Street, were fined $15 and costs each on a charge of assaulting Yeager, and each received a suspended fine of $5 on a charge of malicious destruction of property on condition they pay Yeager a total of $20 to cover cost of repairing six broken windows.

The possibility that the pistol Alfred Yeager allegedly brandished might have been a combination of nickel-plated pipe fittings, which were displayed in court, was denied by Yeager and Joseph Harrison, Boulevard apartments, this city, an employe of Yeager.

They said the pipe fittings were thrown through a window of the establishment and were found on the floor. They declared there was no doubt in their minds that Alfred Jeffries was brandishing a pistol. Harrison said he could not be mistaken because he tried to disarm him with the help of James Alexander, Midland.

State Trooper A. M. Spioch who, with Trooper Jack Browning, investigated, was permitted by agreement of Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, who prosecuted, and Edward J. Ryan, Jeffries' attorney, to testify as to what he was told by three witnesses, Alexander, John Halloran and Donald Muir, Midland, who were not present at the hearing.

Spioch said all three informed him that Albert Jeffries had a gun.

Alfred Jeffries and his brother both denied having a gun and each said neither ever owned one.

The weapon has not been found.

The assault and destruction of property charges came after Yeager ordered the brothers to leave his establishment Saturday night. The pair drove away once but returned within five minutes and were arrested by State Police.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURER TALKS HERE

"Christian Science, the Religion of Friendship and Healing," was discussed by Robert S. Van Atta, Rochester, N. Y., a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass., last night in First Methodist Church.

"God is Spirit, the source and creator of all that is real," said Van Atta. "He is the life-giving Principle of the universe including man. This fact must be seen and accepted as the only foundation for all right conclusions.

"The sons and daughters of God, Spirit, are spiritual and well together in harmony as one family. Theirs is the only lasting brotherhood. There is in truth no relationship possible between men than spiritual brotherhood. . .

"Christ is the idea or manifestation of God. It is always present and is realized through earnest prayer, through spiritualization of thought, and through consecrated service of God in daily affairs. The Christ, or divine idea of God, comes to the receptive individual human consciousness, and through its purifying, correcting, and uplifting influence destroys the errors and diseases of the human mind and body. . .

"The demonstration of present salvation is real and satisfying; the belief that salvation is for the future only is visionary and impractical."

AAA Official Will Address Motor Club

C. T. Matthews, Washington, D. C., manager of the Club Promotion Department of the American Automobile Association, will be guest speaker Thursday evening at the dinner meeting of the officers and directors of Western Maryland Motor Club.

The meeting will be held at Ali Ghan Country Club, and Hugo Keller, president, will preside.

Will Question Miller

William Miller, LaVale, father of David Gene Miller, 6, who was killed Sunday afternoon when he fell from the automobile operated by his father on the Vale Summit Road, will be questioned Thursday morning in the office of the State's Attorney, State Police said last night.

State Troopers Nab 40 Violators In Safety Campaign On Route 220

State Police reported last night that 40 arrests for violations of traffic regulations have been made on Route 40 from Dingle Hill to the Celanese Plant since the start of a campaign Friday, after complaints were filed against numerous highway accidents occurring in the vicinity.

In the five-day period there has been but a slight decline in the daily average of arrests, officers reported, with violators being stopped at different locations along the road—Dingle Hill, Roberts Place, Bowling Green, Fairgo and the Celanese plant.

Meanwhile, drivers of three automobiles involved in two accidents on Route 220 were fined last night when they were tried on reckless driving charges before Magistrate Roy S. Bowman at Cresaptown.

John W. Stewart, 947 Bedford Street, and Frank V. Perry, Frostburg, were arrested at 1:15 a. m. Sunday following a collision at Bowling Green, and each was fined $6.45 last night after being found guilty of recklessness.

Trooper Thomas G. Barton, who investigated, said both cars were traveling toward Cresaptown when Stewart attempted to make a left turn, resulting in the collision. No one was injured.

William C. Davis, Oldtown, was fined $10.75 after he pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge filed against him after a near-headon collision on Route 220 about 20 yards south of the Cresaptown limits Saturday night.

Driver of the other car was identified as Charles S. Harvey, Route 1, Frostburg, but no charges were filed against him.

Trooper Barton said Davis was headed toward Cumberland and Harvey toward Keyser, W. Va.,

WILL SING HERE—Shown here is the American Male Chorus, composed of 24 former servicemen, which will present a concert at Fort Hill High School Auditorium, Monday night, October 27, at 8:15 o'clock. The Chorus is being brought here by the Cumberland Lions Club. The chorus has already chalked up a colorful history and a spectacular travel record in its brief career as first and official army and now a civilian choral group. Its current schedule, which calls for visits to 60 or more American cities during the 1947-48 winter season, promises to add another chapter full of interesting highlights to the one already recorded during its nine months of overseas service.

State Jaycees Endorse Uniform Property Laws

Plan To Sponsor Americanism Contest

Seven members of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce participated in the meeting of state officers, directors and committee chairmen of the Maryland Jaycees over the weekend in Hagerstown, at which several statewide projects were considered, according to John M. Robb, local president.

The state group went on record as favoring universal adoption of a uniform community property law, and directed that letters be sent to Governor Lane and Maryland Congressmen, urging their support in such action.

Uniformity of traffic and motor regulations was also endorsed, with the idea that all states' traffic and motor laws should be uniform to help decrease accidents and as an aid to tourists and motorists.

The Jaycees plan to participate in Americanism Week, with a public speaking-essay contest in high schools on the subject "I Speak for Democracy". The purpose is to promote a serious study of democratic principles. Local contests will end November 1, state contests will end November 15, and the national finals will close December 5. First prize is $1,000 and the United States Jaycees are supporting the program, Robb explained.

Hagerstown manufacturers and business houses presented the visitors with a number of gifts showing the type of merchandise made and sold in that city.

The local group included besides Robb, Chauncey Sanner, David Moreland, Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., James R. Wilkinson, William C. Gilchrist and David Kauffman.

Federal Probe Of Air Crash Starts

SALISBURY, Md., Sept. 29 (AP)—A period of two and a half hours—between takeoff and crash—occupied the attention of investigators today as they inquired into an air accident which killed three men.

Sgt. C. C. Serman of the State Police reported that federal aviation authorities were looking into the wreck which occurred at Wetipquin, Md., Saturday.

Found beside the wrecked four-seater ship were the bodies of William Michael Duncan, 23, Cumberland, and Prestoon Stanley Sterling, 19, Crisfield.

A searching party later discovered the body of 42-year-old Richard Nelson, Crisfield oyster packer, several hundred feet from the wreckage.

Serman said police learned the plane took off from Crisfield at 9 a. m. Saturday but there had been nothing learned about it from that hour until it plunged into the woods.

First reports were that engine trouble was the cause of the crash.

Celanese Union Plans Compensation Conference

Members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, who have questions concerning compensation cases, including dermatitis or accident cases, whether on or off the job, are invited to come to the union hall Friday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., William Boyd Coleman, president, said yesterday.

A member of the union's health and working conditions committee will be on hand, he said, to answer questions concerning any case workers may wish to ask.

Workers who have any questions concerning insurance are also invited to be present, he said.

The union was informed recently by Emmanuel Gorfine, chairman of the State Industrial Accident Commission, that transcripts are being prepared for a review of union charges that occupational disease claims b the local have been ignored by members of the commission, the union said.

BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herrell, Route 5, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rice, 219 Maple Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Smith, Little Orleans, a daughter.

Eagles To Induct Class Of 93 To Honor McKnight

State Officers To Attend Ceremony

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will initiate a class of 93 candidates at 7:30 o'clock tonight, with the class named in honor of Frank C. McKnight, worthy secretary.

As an additional tribute to the man who has served the aerie as secretary for 20 years and has been a member of the order for nearly 30 years, all state officers have indicated they will attend the induction ceremony.

The visiting staff will include Howard J. Dressel, Baltimore, worthy president; John F. Miller, Frederick, vice-president; C. J. W. Renner, Hagerstown, state chaplain; Dr. Wright S. Sudler, Baltimore, state secretary; C. Bernard Smith, Frederick, treasurer; Charles F. Bell, Frederick, conductor; J. H. O'Connor, Brunswick, inside guard; Kenneth Pollock, Frostburg, outside guard; E. L. Main, Frederick, Benjamin Mattingly, Baltimore, and Hampton P. Driver, this city, state trustees. The party will arrive about 6 p. m.

John T. Corrigan, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., deputy grand auditor, will also be an official visitor.

McKnight succeeded Henry J. Koelker as worthy secretary of the Cumberland Eagles, June 1, 1928. At that time the lodge had 696 members in good standing, and last night the roster showed a total of 3,256. The class of 93, to be instituted tonight makes the total membership 3,349, McKnight said.

McKnight, who lives at 517 Henderson Avenue, is a native and lifelong resident of this city. Prior to becoming full-time secretary of the Eagles, he was employed by the Western Maryland Railway Company, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

He recalled last night that the Eagles lodge was instituted here July 30, 1902 and met in the Schwarzenbach Building, Baltimore Street, until 1907 when they moved to the present address. In 1909 the order bought the building and constructed the present modern home in 1940-41, officially dedicating and opening it on March 31, 1941.

Bruce House Farm Sold For $12,000

The Bruce House Farm near Mt. Savage, has been sold by Leslie B. Gordon and his wife, Edith H. Gordon, to Robert T. Armstrong and his wife, Janet L. Armstrong, for a consideration of $12,000 according to a deed filed in the land records of Allegany County yesterday. The farm contains 54 acres. Armstrong is employed at the Celanese and the couple now reside at 401 Washington Street.

Other deeds recorded include:

County Commissioners of Allegany County to Mervin E. Inge, Jr., lot No. 29 Holland Street, $875.

Edgar T. and Emma G. Kidwell, to Joseph C. and Wilma B. Neil, lot in District No. 7, near Pinto, for $300.

Clement J. and Alice M. Festerman, to Steven J. and Mary C. Adams, lot in Consolidation Village, District 26, for $500.

Ralph G. and Ethel M. Cover, to Charles B. and Joyce B. Crawford, dwelling on Poplar Street, Bowling Green for $7,000.

Nullie Jackson, to Frederick E. and Helen E. Dayton, property on Queens Street, McCoole, $5,000.

William E. and Mary Glick, to Dora W. Swach, 63.9 acres on Wills Mountain. No. consideration.

Wallace Declines Bid For October Speech

An official of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference reported yesterday that Henry A. Wallace, former vice president, will not be able to speak here under the auspices of the labor group in October.

William Boyd Coleman, vice president, said the group had hoped to get Wallace here while he was in this area to present a speech scheduled in Baltimore October 15.

He said the conference will request that Wallace, now editor of the New Republic and the possible leader of a third party movement, come to Cumberland whenever a date can be arranged. Wallace, he said, is slated to speak in Pittsburgh late in November.

Bittinger Boy Raises Garrett Hog Champions

Donald Glotfelty Sells Two Winners

Donald Glotfelty, 15-year-old vocational agricultural student at Grantsville High School, who lives at Bittinger in Garrett County, took two top honors with his Berkshire hogs in the Garrett County 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America third annual county hog show at Accident yesterday.

The champion hog of the show, was a 245-pound Berkshire and the reserve champion, the winner's twin, weighing 235 pounds, were both raised and fed by Glotfelty, who had several other class money winners.

There were 103 hogs entered in the show by a score of boys from various sections of the county, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent, this city. Hogs ranged in weights from 150 pounds to 275 pounds, and Ural G. Bee, University of Maryland Animal Husbandry expert who judged the show, said a marked improvement was shown by all entries over last year's show, so far as weight and care are concerned. Marvin Callis, teacher at Accident and Charles Miller, teacher at Friendsville, assisted with the show.

The winning hog brought 35 cents a pound at auction and the reserve champion brought its young owner 33 cents a pound. Both were purchased by Daniel Rees, Frostburg. Walter Hay, Johnstown, Pa. meat buyer, bought most of the hogs, and prices averaged around the current market quotation of 28 cents.

Three Weight Classes

Judging was divided into three weight classes: 150 to 175 pounds; 175 to 225 pounds; and over 225 pounds. In each weight class, division was made into first, second and third place groups, with prize money going to first and second places. First place winners in each weight group, competed for the championship. First place was designated as Blues; second place as Reds and third place as Whites. Steger said there were fewer Whites this year than last, indicating progress on the part of the club boys in feeding and caring for their pigs.

Winners included:

Heavy Blues—Donald Glotfelty, Bittinger; Glen Schlosnagle, and Robert Fratz, Accident; James L. Fitzwater, and Melvin Custer, Swanton; and Floyd Friend, Friendsville.

Medium Blues — Robert Harvey, Wiliam Fitzwater, Jr., William Brenneman, Earl Harvey, Jr., Dale Custer, Melvin Custer, Arthur Harvey and Guy Harvey, all of Swanton; Donald Ryland, Jack Terney, John Goehinger, William Lee, Jr., Donald Fratz, and Robert Kolb, all of Accident; Playford Friend, Friendsville; and Donald Glotfelty, Bittinger.

Light Blues — Harland Beechie, Guy Harvey and Robert Harvey, Swanton; William Lee, Jr., and Donald Fratz, Accident; Luther DeWitt, Friendsville; and Marvin Miller, Grantsville.

Many In Red Group

Heavy Reds — Carrol Sisler, Red House; Donald Glotfelty and Hamilton Glotfelty, Bittinger; Glenn Frazee, and Reed Friend both of Friendsville; Melvin Custer, Swanton; and Wayne Harmon, Accident.

Medium Reds — Marvin Miller, Grantsville; Robert Brobst, Donald Fratz, Herbert Bowser, Donald Ryland, Herbert Beitzel, George Lee, William Lee, Jr., Glenn Schlosnagle, Elwood Glass, and Kenneth Gearhart, all of Accident; James H. Glotfelty and Donald Glotfelty, Bittinger; Dale Custer, Ernest Harvey, William Fitzwater, Jr., and William Brenneman, all of Swanton.

Light Reds — Marvin Miller, Grantsville; Donald Fratz and Darius Georg, of Accident; and Harlan Beechie and John N. Beechie, both of Swanton.

The Maryland State Fair Association offers cash awards for winners in shows of this kind Steger said but he has not been informed as to amounts of premiums.

The Alegany County Hog Show, for 4-H Club boys will be held Tuesday at the Cumberland Stockyards, Triple Lakes.

Muir And Wilson Judge Beauty Contest

Sheriff Edward R. Muir, and William Wilson, deputy clerk of court here, have returned from attending the silver jubilee convention of Montgomery County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Kensington, where they served as judges of a beauty contest, along with Howard Travers, fire chief of Baltimore City.

Muir is a past president of the Allegany Garrett County Firemen's Association, and Wilson is treasurer of the Maryland State Association.

In judging the beauty contest, eight girls competed for the honor of being chosen "Miss Montgomery Fire Service of 1947." The judges selected pretty black-haired Mary Ellen Harmon, 16-year-old beauty from Hyattstown. She was presented with $25 cash and a silver trophy.

Arbitration Cases To Be Heard Today

Arbitration hearings will begin this morning at the Allegany County court house on six cases in dispute between the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America.

Testimony on the cases will be presented before Sidney A. Wolff, New York City, arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association. The cases involve:

The discharge of Floyd A. Boyer and Joseph J. Gaughan from the filtration department at the Celanese plant.

A one-week suspension of Oliver G. Lewis.

Discharge of Howard F. Tremum from the CA engineering department.

Discharge of George Knippenberg from A shift, spinning department.

Case S-20, involving crossing of seniority lines by the company when, the union asserts, men were already available in the department.

Reduction in pay rates of Stevanus, Athey and Broadwater, workers in the extermination department, who have been paid a specialist's rate of pay. The company, it is reported, reduced the rate of pay by 10 cents an hour, asserting the workers were not entitled to the specialist's rating.

Hearings on six other disputes, mostly discharge cases, will be heard here October 14.

Council Makes Plans To Attend Flood Meeting

A group of at least nine local men, as well as a delegation from Ridgeley, W. Va., are planning to confer with Army Engineers in Washington, D. C., Thursday morning, regarding Cumberland's flood control project.

Commissioners William J. Edwards, Clifton E. Fuller, William V. Keegan and Myers G. Light discussed final plans yesterday for attending the session. Other local representatives will be City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer, James Alfred Avirett, chairman of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, and Fred T. Small, manager of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation.

In the conference with engineers, the group will attempt to get more exact information as to costs and data on the possibility of recovering part of the cost through resale of property acquired, it was said.

Prior to the flood control discussion, Mayor and Council ordered a bill of $90.63 paid the Bennett Transfer and Storage Company for transportation of clothing collected during the recent drive for European relief. Council ordered the bill paid with the stipulation that sponsoring organizations hereafter investigate the possibilities of expense and arrange to pay them.

Four deeds were ordered filed at the Court House as follows:

William M. Somerville and Ethel B. Somerville, wife, to City of Cumberland, lot on First Street, extended.

John Francis Wempe and Marian E. Wempe, wife, to City of Cumberland, property on westerly side of Wempe Drive, with limits of First Street extended.

Michael J. Malone and Ethel H. Malone, wife, to City of Cumberland, lot on Wempe Drive within limits of First Street extended.

Bert A. Browning and Alma M. Browning, wife, parcel of ground lying on westerly side of Wempe Drive, with limits of First Street extended.

The Mayor and Council also agreed to place a full-page advertisement, at a cost of $75, on the back cover of a souvenir program being prepared by Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, for the Mooseheart-LaSalle football game scheduled October 25. The cost will be charged to the contingent account.

Retail Sales Tax Meeting Planned

Progress of the retail sales tax program will be discussed at a meeting next Tuesday, October 7, at 8 p. m., in City Hall, attended by State Comptroller James J. Lacy, Walter E. Kennedy, chief of the retail sales tax division, and James McDermott, chief investigator.

Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday that merchants collecting retail sales tax in Allegany and adjoining counties have been invited to attend. The meeting will be the first of its kind held here since the tax went into effect July 1.

Another Chamber of Commerce group, the mercantile committee, will meet the same day at 10 a. m. in the Liberty Trust Building to nominate officers, select chairmen and hold a discussion regarding Christmas decorations for the city, Smith said.

"Y" Membership Program To Be Held In October

Jackson Appoints Main Committees

Committees have been appointed for Central YMCA's "Membership Emphasis Program," which will be held in October with a goal of 500 new or renewed memberships, J. Goodloe Jackson, general chairman and head of the "Y's" membership committee, said yesterday.

The program's theme will be carried out by using a chart to denote "YMCA flood control construction," with each of the four divisions to be credited with building a certain number of "dikes" according to the number of memberships they report.

The first meeting of the complete organization will be held Friday, Oct. 10, with a dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. at the "Y". On the following Friday the first report will be given at a dinner meeting, with the victory dinner scheduled for Friday, October 24.

Jackson will head the steering committee, which includes James W. Bishop, Miles G. Thompson, Simon Rosenbaum, Kenneth Hopwood, Mrs. John J. Robinson and Mrs. Porter D. Collins.

O. J. Hale, assistant managing editor of the Cumberland News, has been appointed chairman of the publicity committee, to be assisted by Eugene T. Gunning, city editor of the Evening Times, and J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times.

Mrs. Marshall C. Twigg will be in charge of arrangements for the dinners, with A. Florian Wilson in charge of musical entertainment.

Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School, will prepare a list of speakers who will visit local service clubs and other organizations, explaining the purpose of the program.

Co-chairmen assisting Jackson will be Thompson, for Divisions 1 and 2, and Mrs. Robinson, for Divisions 3 and 4. There will be eight workers on the three teams in each of the divisions.

Those named to the general supervision committee are Robert L. Sisson, general secretary of Central YMCA, and Winfield H. Adam, program and boys' secretary.

The steering committee, chairmen and co-chairmen will meet Saturday, October 4, at 2:30 p. m. to select division leaders.

Two Are Injured In Head-On Crash On Frankfort Road

Two persons were treated in Memorial Hospital last night for injuries suffered when cars in which they were riding collided on the Frankfort Road, near Ridgeley, shortly before 8 p. m.

Blair Haines, 39, Ridgeley, a Western Maryland Railway employe, driver of one of the vehicles, was treated for contusions of both knees and a left forearm injury. X-rays were taken to determine the extent of injuries.

At the scene of the accident, Haines complained of pain in the chest and authorities said he probably was thrown against the steering wheel of the car which was bent in the accident.

Mrs. Eva Peer, 54, wife of Harper Peer, Ridgeley said she was injured when the car driven by her son, Curtis Peer, Route 28, Frankfort Road, collided with the Haines car. Mrs. Peer was treated for abrasions of the face.

Collide Head-On

Constable Robert Green, Wiley Ford, W. Va., who investigated, said the cars driven by Haines and Peer collided head-on on Route 28, near Old Furnace Road, about 7 p. m.

He said he was told the car Haines was driving toward Ridgeley started to go around a parked truck and swerved into the Peer car after Haines applied the brakes on the road which was slippery from the rain.

He termed the accident unavoidable and said no charges were preferred against the drives of either vehicle.

Four drivers will be given hearings this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock before Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewel on charges of reckless driving preferred after two automobile crashes in that area. They are:

Will Receive Hearings

Jack Harold Weaver, 921 Glenmore Street, this city, who posted bond of $35, and Robert Stonebraker, Route 1, Ridgeley. They were arrested Sunday by Constable C. V. Barncord after the car Weaver was driving crashed against the rear of Stonebraker's car. Nobody was injured, but Weaver's car was damaged considerably, authorities said.

Similar charges were preferred by Constable Barncord against John H. Wagner, Jr., of the Fort Ashby area, and Richard J. Hare, Wiley Ford, W. Va., following a two-car crash on Route 28 Sunday.

National Guard Recruiting Drive Will Be Outlined Here On Friday

The problems and aims of the current National Guard recruiting drive which started September 15 will be outlined to members of area civic clubs and personnel of local service units at a banquet to be held by Company C, 115th Infantry, Maryland National Guard, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club Friday night at 7 o'clock.

Among those to be present from the Second Army Headquarters and from the Maryland Military District will be Brig. Gen. William C. Purnell, Col. L. F. Smith, Col. James M. Hamilton, who is senior National Guard instructor for the state, and Maj. Grat B. Hankins, instructor for 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard.

The drive currently being sponsored throughout the nation calls for 8,888 enlisted men to be recruited from the Second Army Area. In outlining the problems facing this task, before the members of the several organizations present, the group plans to secure aid for this enlistment quota.

Those who have been extended invitations include Mayor Thomas Post of Cumberland, Mayor Marshall Skidmore of Frostburg, Associate Judge George Henderson, Thomas R. Farrell, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion; George W. Sellers, Lions Club; Adolf Blunk, Rotary Club; W. Earle Cobey, Kiwanis Club; John M. Robb, Junior Association of Commerce; E. A. Dashiel, Allegany County Board of Education;

Raymond Reynolds, Henry Hart Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars; C. E. Stutzman, Allegany County Board of Trade; Major Howard H. Dickey, battalion commander of First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment; Darrell B. Zellers, Lions Club, Frostburg; and Lt. Col. Randolph Milholland, executive officer of 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard.

Dolan Gets Permit To Build House

Henry Dolan, 120 Columbia Street, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a five-room house on Lots 19 and 20, Sheridan Place, at an estimated cost of $4,500. The one-story structure, 40 by 30 feet, will have concrete block foundation and walls and a built-up roof. Work will be done by the owner.

A permit was granted to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, to build a one-room addition to the rear third floor of a residence at 116 Bedford Street. The one-story addition, to be 10 by 20 feet, will have brick walls and a tin roof. D. B. McGill is the contractor and cost is estimated at $800.

Mrs. Maude Hendrickson, 5 Ridgeway Terrace, secured a permit to use the second floor of a recently reconstructed building at 18 South Liberty Street as a beauty shop. Owner of the two-story brick building was listed as George Parsenios, 137 Bedford Street.

Wilson Is Named Head Of W & L Alumni Committee

William L. Wilson, Jr., 207 Washington Street, local attorney, has been appointed regional chairman of the Washington and Lee University's bicentennial program in Cumberland, according to Francis P. Gaines, university president.

As a prelude to the University's plan of year-long celebration in 1948-49, a bicentennial financial program to raise $3,000,000 for presentation to the University on its 200th anniversary was started early this year. This campaign will reach its climax with a series of local drives in every part of the country this fall.

Wilson, assisted by a committee of Washington and Lee alumni in Cumberland and vicinity, will be in charge of the financial program in this area, and a national network of such committees will promote the celebration.

The bicentennial fund, Wilson explained last night, is to be used to finance scholarships, endowments and plant development as Washington and Lee progresses into its third century.

Wilson, who is a member of the class of 1938 of the university, said his committee will include, Paul D. Pickens, Alex Sloan, J. Goodloe Jackson, L. Leslie Helmer, John W. McClure, Jr., all of this city, and John W. Barger, Keyser, W. Va.

The national bicentennial fund is headed by John W. Davis, Class of 1892, New York attorney, former U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain and Democratic presidential nominee in 1924.

Accident Victim Still Unconscious

Pennsylvania State Police said last night that Frances Pittman, 17, Clearville, Pa., sister of Ruth Pittman, Clearville, who was killed in an automobile accident on Route 220 about 10 miles north of Bedford, Pa., Sunday, remained unconscious and in critical condition in Timmons Hospital, Bedford, last night from injuries suffered in the crash.

Donald Lindberg Robinette, 20, 907 Leiper Street, this city, said by State Police to be the driver of the car in which the Pittman girls were riding, is charged with manslaughter and is expected to be given a hearing today.

Seven persons were injured in addition to the dead woman when the automobile and a truck collided.

Temperature Reading

The mercury got back into the summer classification yesterday with a maximum of 74 degrees, but the weather man says cooler weather is due again today. Yesterday's minimum was 34 degrees and at 9:30 last night the mercury had descended to 57. A light rain last night brought only .02 of an inch rainfall and clearing weather was forecast for today.

Following the meeting and program an old fashioned ox roast and all the trimmings will be served.

The Elks Glee Club is seeking eight more singers, and members interested are urged to contact E. M. Nonnenmann, director.

Midland Fracas Costs Brothers Total Of $150

One Found Guilty On Weapons Charge

A disturbance at a Midland Bowling Alley Saturday night while they admittedly were intoxicated cost two Cumberland brothers a total of $150 in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday.

Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., fined Alfred Jeffries, 36, 218 Glenn Street, $100 and costs on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon with which he allegedly threatened John Yeager, 74 Greene Street, Cumberland, the proprietor of the bowling alley.

Jeffries and his brother, William, 22, also of 218 Glenn Street, were fined $15 and costs each on a charge of assaulting Yeager, and each received a suspended fine of $5 on a charge of malicious destruction of property on condition they pay Yeager a total of $20 to cover cost of repairing six broken windows.

The possibility that the pistol Alfred Yeager allegedly brandished might have been a combination of nickel-plated pipe fittings, which were displayed in court, was denied by Yeager and Joseph Harrison, Boulevard apartments, this city, an employe of Yeager.

They said the pipe fittings were thrown through a window of the establishment and were found on the floor. They declared there was no doubt in their minds that Alfred Jeffries was brandishing a pistol. Harrison said he could not be mistaken because he tried to disarm him with the help of James Alexander, Midland.

State Trooper A. M. Spioch who, with Trooper Jack Browning, investigated, was permitted by agreement of Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, who prosecuted, and Edward J. Ryan, Jeffries' attorney, to testify as to what he was told by three witnesses, Alexander, John Halloran and Donald Muir, Midland, who were not present at the hearing.

Spioch said all three informed him that Albert Jeffries had a gun.

Alfred Jeffries and his brother both denied having a gun and each said neither ever owned one.

The weapon has not been found.

The assault and destruction of property charges came after Yeager ordered the brothers to leave his establishment Saturday night. The pair drove away once but returned within five minutes and were arrested by State Police.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURER TALKS HERE

"Christian Science, the Religion of Friendship and Healing," was discussed by Robert S. Van Atta, Rochester, N. Y., a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass., last night in First Methodist Church.

"God is Spirit, the source and creator of all that is real," said Van Atta. "He is the life-giving Principle of the universe including man. This fact must be seen and accepted as the only foundation for all right conclusions.

"The sons and daughters of God, Spirit, are spiritual and well together in harmony as one family. Theirs is the only lasting brotherhood. There is in truth no relationship possible between men than spiritual brotherhood. . .

"Christ is the idea or manifestation of God. It is always present and is realized through earnest prayer, through spiritualization of thought, and through consecrated service of God in daily affairs. The Christ, or divine idea of God, comes to the receptive individual human consciousness, and through its purifying, correcting, and uplifting influence destroys the errors and diseases of the human mind and body. . .

"The demonstration of present salvation is real and satisfying; the belief that salvation is for the future only is visionary and impractical."

AAA Official Will Address Motor Club

C. T. Matthews, Washington, D. C., manager of the Club Promotion Department of the American Automobile Association, will be guest speaker Thursday evening at the dinner meeting of the officers and directors of Western Maryland Motor Club.

The meeting will be held at All Ghan Country Club, and Hugo Keller, president, will preside.

Will Question Miller

William Miller, LaVale, father of David Gene Miller, 6, who was killed Sunday afternoon when he fell from the automobile operated by his father on the Vale Summit Road, will be questioned Thursday morning in the office of the State's Attorney, State Police said last night.

State Troopers Nab 40 Violators In Safety Campaign On Route 220

State Police reported last night that 40 arrests for violations of traffic regulations have been made on Route 40 from Dingle Hill to the Celanese Plant since the start of a campaign Friday, after complaints were filed against numerous highway accidents occurring in the vicinity.

In the five-day period there has been but a slight decline in the daily average of arrests, officers reported, with violators being stopped at different locations along the road—Dingle Hill, Roberts Place, Bowling Green, Fairgo and the Celanese plant.

Meanwhile, drivers of three automobiles involved in two accidents on Route 220 were fined last night when they were tried on reckless driving charges before Magistrate Roy S. Bowman at Cresaptown.

John W. Stewart, 947 Bedford Street, and Frank V. Perry, Frostburg, were arrested at 1:15 a. m. Sunday following a collision at Bowling Green, and each was fined $6.45 last night after being found guilty of recklessness.

Trooper Thomas G. Barton, who investigated, said both cars were traveling toward Cresaptown when Stewart attempted to make a left turn, resulting in the collision. No one was injured.

William C. Davis, Oldtown, was fined $10.75 after he pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge filed against him after a near-headon collision on Route 220 about 20 yards south of the Cresaptown limits Saturday night.

Driver of the other car was identified as Charles S. Harvey, Route 1, Frostburg, but no charges were filed against him.

Trooper Barton said Davis was headed toward Cumberland and Harvey toward Keyser, W. Va.

WILL SING HERE—Shown here is the American Male Chorus, composed of 24 former servicemen, which will present a concert at Fort Hill High School Auditorium, Monday night, October 27, at 8:15 o'clock. The Chorus is being brought here by the Cumberland Lions Club. The chorus has already chalked up a colorful history and a spectacular travel record in its brief career as first and official army and now a civilian choral group. Its current schedule, which calls for visits to 60 or more American cities during the 1947-48 winter season, promises to add another chapter full of interesting highlights to the one already recorded during its nine months of overseas service.

State Jaycees Endorse Uniform Property Laws

Plan To Sponsor Americanism Contest

Seven members of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce participated in the meeting of state officers, directors and committee chairmen of the Maryland Jaycees over the weekend in Hagerstown, at which several statewide projects were considered, according to John M. Robb, local president.

The state group went on record as favoring universal adoption of a uniform community property law, and directed that letters be sent to Governor Lane and Maryland Congressmen, urging their support in such action.

Uniformity of traffic and motor regulations was also endorsed, with the idea that all states' traffic and motor laws should be uniform to help decrease accidents and as an aid to tourists and motorists.

The Jaycees plan to participate in Americanism Week, with a public speaking-essay contest in high schools on the subject "I Speak for Democracy". The purpose is to promote a serious study of democratic principles. Local contests will end November 1, state contests will end November 15, and the national finals will close December 5. First prize is $1,000 and the United States Jaycees are supporting the program, Robb explained.

Robb said guests at the meeting included Robert Richards, St. Louis, Mo., vice-president of the U. S. Jaycees; George Baird, Washington, national vice-president; Phil Sifert, West Virginia vice-president; and John Ebert, Pennsylvania vice-president.

Hagerstown manufacturers and business houses presented the visitors with a number of gifts showing the type of merchandise made and sold in that city.

The local group included besides Robb, Chauncey Sanner, David Moreland, Thomas F. Conlon, Jr., James R. Wilkinson, William C. Gilchrist and David Kauffman.

Federal Probe Of Air Crash Starts

SALISBURY, Md., Sept. 29 (AP)—A period of two and a half hours—between takeoff and crash—occupied the attention of investigators today as they inquired into an air accident which killed three men.

Sgt. C. C. Serman of the State Police reported that federal aviation authorities were looking into the wreck which occurred at Wetipquin, Md., Saturday.

Found beside the wrecked four-seater ship were the bodies of William Michael Duncan, 23, Cumberland, and Prestoon Stanley Sterling, 19, Crisfield.

A searching party later discovered the body of 42-year-old Richard Nelson, Crisfield oyster packer, several hundred feet from the wreckage.

Serman said police learned the plane took off from Crisfield at 9 a. m. Saturday but there had been nothing learned about it from that hour until it plunged into the woods.

First reports were that engine trouble was the cause of the crash.

Celanese Union Plans Compensation Conference

Members of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, who have questions concerning compensation cases, including dermatitis or accident cases, whether on or off the job, are invited to come to the union hall Friday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., William Boyd Coleman, president, said yesterday.

A member of the union's health and working conditions committee will be on hand, he said, to answer questions concerning any case workers may wish to ask.

Workers who have any questions concerning insurance are also invited to be present, he said.

The union was informed recently by Emmanuel Gorfine, chairman of the State Industrial Accident Commission, that transcripts are being prepared for a review of union charges that occupational disease claims b the local have been ignored by members of the commission, the union said.

BIRTHS

Memorial Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herrell, Route 5, a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rice, 219 Maple Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Smith, Little Orleans, a daughter.

Eagles To Induct Class Of 93 To Honor McKnight

State Officers To Attend Ceremony

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will initiate a class of 93 candidates at 7:30 o'clock tonight, with the class named in honor of Frank C. McKnight, worthy secretary.

As an additional tribute to the man who has served the aerie as secretary for 20 years and has been a member of the order for nearly 30 years, all state officers have indicated they will attend the induction ceremony.

The visiting staff will include Howard J. Dressel, Baltimore, worthy president; John F. Miller, Frederick, vice-president; C. J. W. Renner, Hagerstown, state chaplain; Dr. Wright S. Sudler, Baltimore, state secretary; C. Bernard Smith, Frederick, treasurer; Charles F. Bell, Frederick, conductor; J. H. O'Connor, Brunswick, inside guard; Kenneth Pollock, Frostburg, outside guard; E. L. Main, Frederick, Benjamin Mattingly, Baltimore, and Hampton P. Driver, this city, state trustees. The party will arrive about 6 p. m.

John T. Corrigan, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., deputy grand auditor, will also be an official visitor.

McKnight succeeded Henry J. Koelker as worthy secretary of the Cumberland Eagles, June 1, 1928. At that time the lodge had 696 members in good standing, and last night the roster showed a total of 3,256. The class of 93, to be instituted tonight makes the total membership 3,349, McKnight said.

McKnight, who lives at 517 Henderson Avenue, is a native and lifelong resident of this city. Prior to becoming full-time secretary of the Eagles, he was employed by the Western Maryland Railway Company, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

He recalled last night that the Eagles lodge was instituted here July 30, 1902 and met in the Schwarzenbach Building, Baltimore Street, until 1907 when they moved to the present address. In 1909 the order bought the building and constructed the present modern home in 1940-41, officially dedicating and opening it on March 31, 1941.

Bruce House Farm Sold For $12,000

The Bruce House Farm near Mt. Savage, has been sold by Leslie B. Gordon and his wife, Edith H. Gordon, to Robert T. Armstrong and his wife, Janet L. Armstrong, for a consideration of $12,000 according to a deed filed in the land records of Allegany County yesterday. The farm contains 54 acres. Armstrong is employed at the Celanese and the couple now reside at 401 Washington Street.

Other deeds recorded include:

County Commissioners of Allegany County to Mervin E. Inge, Jr., lot No. 29 Holland Street, $875.

Edgar T. and Emma G. Kidwell, to Joseph C. and Wilma B. Neil, lot in District No. 7, near Pinto, for $300.

Clement J. and Alice M. Festerman, to Steven J. and Mary C. Adams, lot in Consolidation Village, District 26, for $500.

Ralph G. and Ethel M. Cover, to Charles B. and Joyce B. Crawford, dwelling on Poplar Street, Bowling Green for $7,000.

Nullie Jackson, to Frederick E. and Helen E. Dayton, property on Queens Street, McCoole, $5,000.

Margaret Goldsworthy, to William E. and Anne E. Duckworth, property on National Highway near Allegany Grove, $7,000.

William E. and Mary Glick, to Dora W. Swach, 63.9 acres on Wills Mountain. No. consideration.

Wallace Declines Bid For October Speech

An official of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference reported yesterday that Henry A. Wallace, former vice president, will not be able to speak here under the auspices of the labor group in October.

William Boyd Coleman, vice president, said the group had hoped to get Wallace here while he was in this area to present a speech scheduled in Baltimore October 15.

He said the conference will request that Wallace, now editor of the New Republic and the possible leader of a third party movement, come to Cumberland whenever a date can be arranged. Wallace, he said, is slated to speak in Pittsburgh late in November.

Bittinger Boy Raises Garrett Hog Champions

Donald Glotfelty Sells Two Winners

Donald Glotfelty, 15-year-old vocational agricultural student at Grantsville High School, who lives at Bittinger in Garrett County, took two top honors with his Berkshire hogs in the Garrett County 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America third annual county hog show at Accident yesterday.

The champion hog of the show, was a 245-pound Berkshire and the reserve champion, the winner's twin, weighing 235 pounds, were both raised and fed by Glotfelty, who had several other class money winners.

There were 103 hogs entered in the show by a score of boys from various sections of the county, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent, this city. Hogs ranged in weights from 150 pounds to 275 pounds, and Ural G. Bee, University of Maryland Animal Husbandry expert who judged the show, said a marked improvement was shown by all entries over last year's show, so far as weight and care are concerned. Marvin Callis, teacher at Accident and Charles Miller, teacher at Friendsville, assisted with the show.

The winning hog brought 35 cents a pound at auction and the reserve champion brought its young owner 33 cents a pound. Both were purchased by Daniel Rees, Frostburg. Walter Hay, Johnstown, Pa. meat buyer, bought most of the hogs, and prices averaged around the current market quotation of 28 cents.

Three Weight Classes

Judging was divided into three weight classes: 150 to 175 pounds; 175 to 225 pounds; and over 225 pounds. In each weight class, division was made into first, second and third place groups, with prize money going to first and second places. First place winners in each weight group, competed for the championship. First place was designated as Blues; second place as Reds and third place as Whites. Steger said there were fewer Whites this year than last, indicating progress on the part of the club boys in feeding and caring for their pigs.

Winners included:

Heavy Blues — Donald Glotfelty, Bittinger; Glen Schlosnagle, and Robert Fratz, Accident; James L. Fitzwater, and Melvin Custer, Swanton; and Floyd Friend, Friendsville.

Medium Blues — Robert Harvey, William Fitzwater, Jr., William Brenneman, Earl Harvey, Jr., Dale Custer, Melvin Custer, Arthur Harvey and Guy Harvey, all of Swanton; Donald Ryland, Jack Terney, John Goehinger, William Lee, Jr., Donald Fratz, and Robert Kolb, all of Accident; Playford Friend, Friendsville; and Donald Glotfelty, Bittinger.

Light Blues — Harland Beechie, Guy Harvey and Robert Harvey, Swanton; William Lee, Jr., and Donald Fratz, Accident; Luther DeWitt, Friendsville; and Marvin Miller, Grantsville.

Many In Red Group

Heavy Reds — Carrol Sisler, Red House; Donald Glotfelty and Hamilton Glotfelty, Bittinger; Glenn Frazee, and Reed Friend both of Friendsville; Melvin Custer, Swanton; and Wayne Harmon, Accident.

Medium Reds — Marvin Miller, Grantsville; Robert Brobst, Donald Fratz, Herbert Bowser, Donald Ryland, Herbert Beitzel, George Lee, William Lee, Jr., Glenn Schlosnagle, Elwood Glass, and Kenneth Gearhart, all of Accident; James H. Glotfelty and Donald Glotfelty, Bittinger; Dale Custer, Ernest Harvey, William Fitzwater, Jr., and William Brenneman, all of Swanton.

Light Reds — Marvin Miller, Grantsville; Donald Fratz and Darius Georg, of Accident; and Harlan Beechie and John N. Beechie, both of Swanton.

The Maryland State Fair Association offers cash awards for winners in shows of this kind Steger said but he has not been informed as to amounts of premiums.

The Alegany County Hog Show, for 4-H Club boys will be held Tuesday at the Cumberland Stockyards, Triple Lakes.

Muir And Wilson Judge Beauty Contest

Sheriff Edward R. Muir, and William Wilson, deputy clerk of court here, have returned from attending the silver jubilee convention of Montgomery County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Kensington, where they served as judges of a beauty contest, along with Howard Travers, fire chief of Baltimore City.

Muir is a past president of the Allegany Garrett County Firemen's Association, and Wilson is treasurer of the Maryland State Association.

In judging the beauty contest, eight girls competed for the honor of being chosen "Miss Montgomery Fire Service of 1947." The judges selected pretty black-haired Mary Ellen Harmon, 16-year-old beauty from Hyattstown. She was presented with $25 cash and a silver trophy.

Arbitration Cases To Be Heard Today

Arbitration hearings will begin this morning at the Allegany County court house on six cases in dispute between the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America.

Testimony on the cases will be presented before Sidney A. Wolff, New York City, arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association. The cases involve:

The discharge of Floyd A. Boyer and Joseph J. Gaughan from the filtration department at the Celanese plant.

A one-week suspension of Oliver G. Lewis.

Discharge of Howard P. Tremum from the CA engineering department.

Discharge of George Knippenberg from A shift, spinning department.

Case S-20, involving crossing of seniority lines by the company when, the union asserts, men were already available in the department.

Reduction in pay rates of Stevanus, Athey and Broadwater, workers in the extermination department, who have been paid a specialist's rate of pay. The company, it is reported, reduced the rate of pay by 10 cents an hour, asserting the workers were not entitled to the specialist's rating.

Hearings on six other disputes, mostly discharge cases, will be heard here October 14.

Council Makes Plans To Attend Flood Meeting

A group of at least nine local men, as well as a delegation from Ridgeley, W. Va., are planning to confer with Army Engineers in Washington, D. C., Thursday morning, regarding Cumberland's flood control project.

Commissioners William J. Edwards, Clifton E. Fuller, William V. Keegan and Myers G. Light discussed final plans yesterday for attending the session. Other local representatives will be City Attorney Charles Z. Heskett, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer, James Alfred Avirett, chairman of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, and Fred T. Small, manager of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation.

In the conference with engineers, the group will attempt to get more exact information as to costs and data on the possibility of recovering part of the cost through resale of property acquired, it was said.

Prior to the flood control discussion, Mayor and Council ordered a bill of $90.63 paid the Bennett Transfer and Storage Company for transportation of clothing collected during the recent drive for European relief. Council ordered the bill paid with the stipulation that sponsoring organizations hereafter investigate the possibilities of expense and arrange to pay them.

Four deeds were ordered filed at the Court House as follows:

William M. Somerville and Ethel B. Somerville, wife, to City of Cumberland, lot on First Street, extended.

John Francis Wempe and Marian E. Wempe, wife, to City of Cumberland, property on westerly side of Wempe Drive, with limits of First Street extended.

Michael J. Malone and Ethel H. Malone, wife, to City of Cumberland, lot on Wempe Drive within limits of First Street extended.

Bert A. Browning and Alma M. Browning, wife, parcel of ground lying on westerly side of Wempe Drive, with limits of First Street extended.

The Mayor and Council also agreed to place a full-page advertisement, at a cost of $75, on the back cover of a souvenir program being prepared by Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, for the Mooseheart-LaSalle football game scheduled October 25. The cost will be charged to the contingent account.

Retail Sales Tax Meeting Planned

Progress of the retail sales tax program will be discussed at a meeting next Tuesday, October 7, at 8 p. m., in City Hall, attended by State Comptroller James J. Lacy, Walter E. Kennedy, chief of the retail sales tax division, and James McDermott, chief investigator.

Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday that merchants collecting retail sales tax in Allegany and adjoining counties have been invited to attend. The meeting will be the first of its kind held here since the tax went into effect July 1.

Another Chamber of Commerce group, the mercantile committee, will meet the same day at 10 a. m. in the Liberty Trust Building to nominate officers, select chairmen and hold a discussion regarding Christmas decorations for the city, Smith said.

"Y" Membership Program To Be Held In October

Jackson Appoints Main Committees

Committees have been appointed for Central YMCA's "Membership Emphasis Program," which will be held in October with a goal of 500 new or renewed memberships, J. Goodloe Jackson, general chairman and head of the "Y's" membership committee, said yesterday.

The program's theme will be carried out by using a chart to denote "YMCA flood control construction," with each of the four divisions to be credited with building a certain number of "dikes" according to the number of membership they report.

The first meeting of the complete organization will be held Friday, Oct. 10, with a dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. at the "Y". On the following Friday the first report will be given at a dinner meeting, with the victory dinner scheduled for Friday, October 24.

Jackson will head the steering committee, which includes James W. Bishop, Miles G. Thompson, Simon Rosenbaum, Kenneth Hopwood, Mrs. John J. Robinson and Mrs. Porter D. Collins.

O. J. Hale, assistant managing editor of the Cumberland News, has been appointed chairman of the publicity committee, to be assisted by Eugene T. Gunning, city editor of the Evening Times, and J. William Hunt, editor of the Sunday Times.

Mrs. Marshall C. Twigg will be in charge of arrangements for the dinners, with A. Florian Wilson in charge of musical entertainment.

Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill High School, will prepare a list of speakers who will visit local service clubs and other organizations, explaining the purpose of the program.

Co-chairmen assisting Jackson will be Thompson, for Divisions 1 and 2, and Mrs. Robinson, for Divisions 3 and 4. There will be eight workers on the three teams in each of the divisions.

Those named to the general supervision committee are Robert L. Sisson, general secretary of Central YMCA, and Winfield H. Adam, program and boys' secretary.

The steering committee, chairmen and co-chairmen will meet Saturday, October 4, at 2:30 p. m. to select division leaders.

Two Are Injured In Head-On Crash On Frankfort Road

Two persons were treated in Memorial Hospital last night for injuries suffered when cars in which they were riding collided on the Frankfort Road, near Ridgeley, shortly before 8 p. m.

Blair Haines, 39, Ridgeley, a Western Maryland Railway employe, driver of one of the vehicles, was treated for contusions of both knees and a left forearm injury. X-rays were taken to determine the extent of injuries.

At the scene of the accident, Haines complained of pain in the chest and authorities said he probably was thrown against the steering wheel of the car which was bent in the accident.

Mrs. Eva Peer, 54, wife of Harper Peer, Ridgeley said she was injured when the car driven by her son, Curtis Peer, Route 28, Frankfort Road, collided with the Haines car. Mrs. Peer was treated for abrasions of the face.

Collide Head-On

Constable Robert Green, Wiley Ford, W. Va., who investigated, said the cars driven by Haines and Peer collided head-on on Route 28, near Old Furnace Road, about 7 p. m.

He said he was told the car Haines was driving toward Ridgeley started to go around a parked truck and swerved into the Peer car after Haines applied the brakes on the road which was slippery from the rain.

He termed the accident unavoidable and said no charges were preferred against the drives of either vehicle.

Four drivers will be given hearings this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock before Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewel on charges of reckless driving preferred after two automobile crashes in that area. They are:

Will Receive Hearings

Jack Harold Weaver, 921 Glenmore Street, this city, who posted bond of $35, and Robert Stonebraker, Route 1, Ridgeley. They were arrested Sunday by Constable C. V. Barncord after the car Weaver was driving crashed against the rear of Stonebraker's car. Nobody was injured, but Weaver's car was damaged considerably, authorities said.

Similar charges were preferred by Constable Barncord against John H. Wagner, Jr., of the Fort Ashby area, and Richard J. Hare, Wiley Ford, W. Va., following a two-car crash on Route 28 Sunday.

Dolan Gets Permit To Build House

Henry Dolan, 120 Columbia Street, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a five-room house on Lots 19 and 20, Sheridan Place, at an estimated cost of $4,500. The one-story structure, 40 by 30 feet, will have concrete block foundation and walls and a built-up roof. Work will be done by the owner.

A permit was granted to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, to build a one-room addition to the rear third floor of a residence at 116 Bedford Street. The one-story addition, to be 10 by 20 feet, will have brick walls and a tin roof. D. B. McGill is the contractor and cost is estimated at $800.

Mrs. Maude Hendrickson, 5 Ridgeway Terrace, secured a permit to use the second floor of a recently reconstructed building at 18 South Liberty Street as a beauty shop. Owner of the two-story brick building was listed as George Parsenios, 137 Bedford Street.

National Guard Recruiting Drive Will Be Outlined Here On Friday

The problems and aims of the current National Guard recruiting drive which started September 15 will be outlined to members of area civic clubs and personnel of local service units at a banquet to be held by Company C, 115th Infantry, Maryland National Guard, at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club Friday night at 7 o'clock.

Among those to be present from the Second Army Headquarters and from the Maryland Military District will be Brig. Gen. William C. Purnell, Col. L. F. Smith, Col. James M. Hamilton, who is senior National Guard instructor for the state, and Maj. Grat B. Hankins, instructor for 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard.

The drive currently being sponsored throughout the nation calls for 8,888 enlisted men to be recruited from the Second Army Area. In outlining the problems facing this task, before the members of the several organizations present, the group plans to secure aid for this enlistment quota.

Those who have been extended invitations include Mayor Thomas Post of Cumberland, Mayor Marshall Skidmore of Frostburg, Associate Judge George Henderson, Thomas R. Farrell, commander of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion; George W. Sellers, Lions Club; Adolf Blunk, Rotary Club; W. Earle Cobey, Kiwanis Club; John M. Robb, Junior Association of Commerce; E. A. Dashiel, Allegany County Board of Education;

Raymond Reynolds, Henry Hart Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars; C. E. Stutzman, Allegany County Board of Trade; Major Howard H. Dickey, battalion commander of First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment; Darrell B. Zellers, Lions Club, Frostburg; and Lt. Col. Randolph Milholland, executive officer of 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard.
